Rawlings' Nephew Killed When 'Copter Cable Snaps

—RCN Photo

NAVY JOINS SEARCH TEAM

Naval helicopter from VU-33 Utility Squadron at Patricia Bay airport left this morning to join the search for Cecil Rawlings, possibly to assist removal of the body of the missing man's nephew as its first mission. The big Piasecki 'chopper was called into the search by RCAF rescue co-ordination centre. Another RCN helicopter was held on standby in case the centre requested reinforcements for ferry and search work.

'Haven't Given Up' Say RCMP

Small ground parties supported by aircraft continued a fast-moving hunt today for missing Cecil Rawlings on the assumption he is still alive.

No men have been diverted yet for an inch-by-inch type of combing operations that would be needed to find a body hidden in the thick underbrush or 200-foot treetops around the wrecked Seabee amphibian in which Cecil Rhodes died May 29.

"A lot of effort has been put in by the men in the crash area in searches for both a live man or a body but it is not beyond the realm of possibility that if there is a body there, it has been missed," said RCMP Insp. William Gerrie, who visited the scene Wednesday.

Meanwhile, film processors in Toronto were working rapidly to develop some Kodachrome color film taken from Rawlings' camera — still the only solid clue that indicates he may have survived the accident.

DONE BY TONIGHT

RCMP officials were informed that the film would be processed by tonight and a description of the 13 exposures would be sent here immediately by teletype.

If any of the frames shows a picture of the wrecked Seabee, that could be proof that Rawlings lived through the aircraft's fatal plunge and left the camera hanging on a windfall 1,200 feet away from the wreck while trying to walk out.

A cairn of stones, with a directional stick, was found by a Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry team near Hitchie Lake Tuesday but it turned out to be a timber-cruiser's reference point, RCMP said.

Today's search concentrated on the shores and western end of Hobiton Lake where soft-soled shoe prints were found earlier that might have been made by Rawlings if he survived the crash on a heavily-forested slope about 1½ miles west of Nitinat Lake.

The co-owners of C & C Transportation Ltd. flew to Nitinat Lake May 29 for a one-day fishing trip. Rhodes' body was found near the wreck June 4.

POINT BOTH WAYS

Mystery surrounds his fate with conflicting clues pointing at both his survival and his death.

"We are working on the conjecture that he is still alive,"

CLAUDE JAMES (JIMMY) CREED
. . . 70-foot plunge to death

Tragedy Mars Island Search

BY JOHN MIKA

The wild Nitinat Valley claimed its second known victim Tuesday night when a nephew of missing Cecil Rawlings was killed accidentally after exhausting himself in the search.

Dead is Claude James (Jimmy) Creed, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Creed, 7054 Beach Drive, Brentwood.

Married a year ago, he celebrated his 23rd birthday only a week ago.

70 FEET

He died in a 70-foot plunge when the cable of an RCAF helicopter snapped while he was being lifted to the hovering aircraft.

Creed and his father, a famed Brentwood fishing guide who operates Creed's Landing boathouse, both had been participating in the search since Sunday as handlers of Mr. Rawlings' hunting dog.

But father and son were in separate areas when the accident happened.

The younger Creed, who was very attached to his sportsman uncle, apparently drove himself relentlessly during the search through the mountainous rain forest.

EXHAUSTED

He was spotted by an RCAF helicopter, piloted by Flt. Lt. P. T. Mathews, near dusk on Tuesday with a small search party. Creed apparently was lying down, exhausted, but the others waved the helicopter away.

Later, passing over the area again, the helicopter crew saw Creed lying alone apparently unconscious.

The helicopter hovered over the spot while a first-aid man was lowered by winch and cable. The first-aid man strapped the fishing guide onto the cable.

The cable snapped during the lifting operation and Creed fell about 70 feet.

Unable to use the cable equipment, the helicopter was forced by darkness to leave the area with the first-aid man remaining on the ground.

DIED QUICKLY

Creed was believed to have died almost immediately after the fall because the first-aid man apparently walked away from the scene during the night to make contact with a search party in the general vicinity.

A ground party set off from Tuck Lake, near Nitinat Lake, early this morning for the three-hour hike to the scene of the accident to bring out the body. Lake Cowichan coroner Dr. Edgar Gee authorized removal of the body. It was to be brought to Victoria later today.

McCall Brothers are making funeral arrangements.

INQUIRIES

An inquest will be held. Officials said the RCAF also will hold an inquiry.

Mr. Creed became well-known as a fishing guide when

PRINCE PHILIP
. . . flying visit

'Business Not Pomp' For Philip

TORONTO (UPI) — Prince Philip arrived at Malton Airport today for a whirlwind business trip to Toronto.

Philip arrived aboard a BOAC Comet jetliner from Ottawa, where he spent an informal evening Tuesday with Governor-General George Vanier at Government House.

Sunny skies greeted the Prince who was met by Ontario Premier Leslie Frost and Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay. There was none of the pomp and ceremony usually associated with royal visits.

After a brief welcome at the airport, Philip was driven to the Royal York Hotel in downtown Toronto. He rode in one of the open cars he and the Queen used last summer on their royal tour of Canada.

The half-hour ride to the city was about the only chance the public will have to catch a glimpse of the royal visitor.

The prince is here to confer with industrial and labor leaders on the problem of the individual in a changing industrial environment.

Vancouver Safe; 'Not Worth Bomb'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver's new co-ordinator of civil defence said Tuesday he didn't think the city would be hit by a nuclear weapon in a future war because "it wasn't worth it."

Group Captain Alexander Lewis, who took over from Air Vice-Marshal F. V. Heakes, said evacuation plans here were being scrapped for this reason.

He said plans for $300 survival shelters would be made available within a few weeks.

Two Jets Collide

CARROLLTON, Ill. (AP)—Two F-101B Voodoo jet fighters collided in mid-air, exploded and crashed in flames today, killing two of the four test pilots aboard.

Peace R. 'Propaganda' Condemned by Fulton

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton today described as "unfortunate and inaccurate propaganda" a statement by the Peace River Power Development Company that there is unlikely to be power from the Columbia River before 1970.

He said in a Commons reply to H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West) that the "propaganda" against power development on the Columbia has been issued by those primarily interested in development of the Peace River in B.C.

Mr. Fulton said Canada and the United States now are close to agreement on Columbia power development. If there was a determination to reach an agreement, there was no reason one could not be arrived at in the near future.

Given that fact, Mr. Fulton added, power would be available from the Columbia an appreciable length of time before 1970.

FIRST "baby bonus" cheque as Canadian resident has been received by Gina Lollobrigida, who told reporters in Toronto today she will give the money to son Milko, Jr., 33 months, to buy "whatever he wants."

Negroes Killed In S. Africa Clash

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Nine African Negroes were killed and 12 wounded Monday in a clash with police in the Flagstaff district, about 100 miles from Durban, officials said today.

Natives in the area put the number of dead at 15 and estimated 24 others were wounded. They said some bodies may have been carried into the hills with more wounded.

The clash came after a mob of natives armed with jungle knives looted a European trading station at Hlabati, officials said.

A large party of heavily-armed police, assisted by dogs and a spotter helicopter moved into the area. Police said the clash, including some hand-to-hand fighting, followed.

They added that after an exchange of shots, the natives raised a white flag and surrendered. There was no information on the number of arrests made.

New Quakes Jolt Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Two strong earth tremors shook quake-devastated southern Chile today.

The interior ministry said the tremors, grade 5 on the Richter scale, jarred the cities of Valdivia, Temuco, Osorno and Rio Negro and the surrounding area this morning.

No casualties were reported, the ministry said, but some buildings damaged in a previous 18-day series of quakes and tidal waves collapsed.

SAILOR SOUGHT IN SLAYING

(See Page 6)

TORONTO (CP) — Police here said a United States sailor who once lived in Toronto is being sought for questioning in connection with the slaying of a young woman whose body was found in a trunk Tuesday at Argentia, Nfld.

They said the RCMP in Newfoundland has tentatively identified the woman as Mrs. Francis Njegovan, 28, of St. John's, Nfld., who was married to a sailor at the U.S. naval base near Argentia 10 years ago.

The couple left Argentia in 1953 and lived in Toronto before they split up some years ago, investigators said.

Wheat Seeding Ended

OTTAWA (CP) — Wheat seeding is practically finished on the Prairies and growth generally is satisfactory, the bureau of statistics reported today.

B.C.'S QUAINT GEOGRAPHY

Nfld? That's Outer Space

OTTAWA (CP) — British Columbia certainly seems to have some odd ideas about geography.

The Pacific coast province—about as far west as you can go — Tuesday told the royal commission on transportation that Eastern Canada starts just east of the Rockies in Alberta.

Now, a B.C. spokesman says the United States is an overseas country.

These odd points of view arise out of a statistical table and a footnote in the B.C. brief to the six-man commission. One table grouped all of the country from Alberta to the Atlantic as Eastern Canada.

As a result, Arthur Mauro, counsel for Manitoba, redefined Canada's geography Tuesday for the commission. He said in B.C. eyes, Alberta is the Near East, Manitoba and Saskatchewan are the Middle East, Central Canada is the Far East.

And the Maritimes? That's the Orient, says Mr. Mauro.

Then he got onto a footnote that talked about lumber exports to overseas countries.

After some vocal skirmishing with Professor William Hughes, B.C. transportation economist, it turned out the chief overseas country was the United States.

BOMARC FUNDS RESTORED

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Senate subcommittee of defence appropriations today restored all of the funds requested by the U.S. Air Force for Bomarc-B missile production including the two squadrons destined for Canada.

TRADITION BROKEN

Big Tory Win In Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (UPI)—The Conservative forces of Premier Robert L. Stanfield won a tradition-breaking victory at the polls Tuesday night by capturing 27 of the 43 seats in the Nova Scotia house in their return to power.

In winning a second straight mandate, Stanfield accomplished what no other Tory leader had been able to do in the history of the province. The Conservatives won two elections in 1925 and 1930, but under two different leaders.

The Conservatives increased their holding in the legislature by three seats, while the Liberal strength dropped from 18 to 15 and the CCF hung on to their lone riding.

In a post election statement, Stanfield pledged his government to "work for all the people of Nova Scotia."

The 46-year-old leader expressed his pleasure at the fact that the people had returned all the members of his cabinet.

For Henry Hicks, 51, the former Liberal premier, it was a dual defeat. Hicks lost his constituency of Annapolis West to Hanson T. Dowell by the slim margin of 14 votes. It was likely that a recount would be held. Hicks had represented the riding since 1945.

RECORD VOTE PREDICTED IN SASK.

REGINA (UPI)—Saskatchewan residents went to the poll today in almost ideal weather that was expected to bring out a record vote.

Sunny skies and 65 to 75 degree weather, plus a steady stream to the polls indicated the turnout would be greater than in 1956 when 86 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots. Polls close at 7 p.m. local time (7 p.m. PDT).

At dissolution, the CCF held 36 seats, the Liberals 14 and the Social Credit three, for a total of 53.

CCF Quits Quebec Campaign

OTTAWA (UPI)—The CCF party, its bid to crack Nova Scotia smashed in Monday night's provincial election, has decided to withdraw entirely from the current Quebec election campaign, it was learned today.

The party, known as the Social Democrats in Quebec, had about six prospective candidates nominated for the June 22 election. It has had as many as 25 in the field in previous election, but has never won a seat.

A part spokesman said the decision to leave the contest to the Union Nationale and Liberal parties was taken "because we didn't feel the Quebec campaign would do our efforts to form the new party any good."

Principal Killed, PTA Leader Held

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A suburban school principal was shot and killed with two blasts from a shotgun as he sat at his desk today.

Within an hour police arrested Lester Betts, about 40, a mail carrier and former president of the Parent-Teacher Association.

'Bump' Hits Springhill

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—A ground tremor, known to coal miners as a "bump," shook this northern Nova Scotia town this afternon. There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage, although buildings were shaken.

'ATOM KNOW-HOW LEFT AFTER WEAPONS GONE'

GENEVA (UPI)—Britain declared today that unsupervised nuclear disarmament, even if sincerely carried out, would be a "false illusion" which could lead to war within a year.

British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore declared at the 10-nation disarmament conference that the destruction of nuclear weapons would not destroy the knowledge needed to make them.

Ormsby-Gore said that mere agreement to destroy nuclear weapons and the means of delivering them, as proposed by Russia, would "build false hopes and give false illusions."

"War could start within a year if someone could make another bomb," he said.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England—Twenty-four angry stevedores went on strike Tuesday because even their best friends don't like to be near them.

The trouble is they smell.

They smell as only men can smell who have spent eight hours handling over-ripe whalemeat.

Three hundred other stevedores walked out in sympathy with their aromatic mates. By afternoon all Newcastle docks were at a standstill. Eight ships were idle.

The strikers say they have no bathhouse at the docks. They have been ordered off city buses and need private transport to get home. As a union official put it:

"It is most unfair to them that they should have to mix with the public on their way home—and most unfair to the public as well."

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—A Fort Campbell, Ky., soldier, hitch-hiking downtown to report his car stolen, was picked up by a man driving the missing vehicle.

The soldier, Woodrow Patterson, detained the driver, Frank Cecil Edmondson, until police arrived.

"That's the last time I'll pick up a hitch-hiker," Edmondson declared from his cell.

PITTSBURGH—When Mrs. William Sievers went to the basement of her home Tuesday, her three-year-old son, Billy, slammed the door shut and a snap-lock on the upstairs side locked.

That left Billy alone upstairs. There was no other basement door leading out of the basement. The windows were too small for Mrs. Sievers to squeeze through.

She called for help but none of the neighbors heard. She tried to tell Billy how to open the lock, but he couldn't get the hang of it.

Then Mrs. Sievers remembered Billy liked telephones. She talked him into taking the receiver off the hook. Patiently, she kept talking to Billy and finally got him to dial the "O" for operator.

All the operator heard was "mama." Sensing trouble, she traced the address and notified police. When two patrolmen arrived, Billy was still on the phone and his mother was still calling for help.

BITBURG, West Germany—Mrs. Patricia Vanderbilt Tuesday gave her consent to the marriage of her 19-year-old runaway daughter Nanette and American army sergeant Wiley Lockany.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill — Alphonso Senor, 53, admitted he was a little tipsy when he wandered into the police station and presented Police Chief Wallace Olshefsky with a bunch of forget-me-nots.

Senor said he sometimes becomes sentimental when he gets in high spirits.

CALCUTTA — Vanraj and Vanranj (king and queen of the forest), a pair of royal Bengal tigers, Tuesday, were flown to Moscow in a special plans as a gift to Premier Khrushchev from West Bengal's Governor Padmaja Naidu. The tigers travelled in a Soviet plane which brought two Russian tigers as a present from Khrushchev to Naidu.

he began his career at the age of 15 in the footsteps of his father and grandfather, Hugh Edward.

He frequently led fishing parties of tourists and businessmen and was the favorite fishing guide of Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross.

He was a graduate of George Jay Elementary School, Royal Oak Junior High School and Mount Newton High School. He was a member of the Central Saanich Volunteer Fire Brigade, joining one and a half years ago.

He is survived by the widow, Dorothy Anne; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Creed; two brothers, John Hugh and Francis Eric, and one sister, Claudia Elizabeth.

an RCMP official said. "But his fate is a mystery."

One of the two seat belts in the Seabee wreckage has been missing since Sunday, giving rise to rumors that several Indians who visited the area Saturday may have picked it up and the camera and then ditched it.

An RCMP officer said one of the loggers in the first search parties took the belt as a souveneir without realizing its importance as evidence. It was to be recovered later today.

NAVY 'COPTER

Meahwhile, a large navy helicopter joined the search today for the first time. It and another were standing by at Patricia Bay airport since the search began awaiting a call from the RCAF rescue co-ordination centre which is supervising the search.

About 190 PPCLI of the original 250 troops sent into the search were withdrawn Tuesday night at the search master's request.

SMALL AREA

"The search has been narrowed down to a relatively small area around Hobiton Lake and only a limited number of men can be usefully employed," an army officer said.

"We are supplying as many men as the rescue co-ordination centre requests for as long as they want them."

Unless further calls are made for men, the bulk of the 1st Battalion will go to Wainwright, Alta., next week for regular summer training as previously scheduled.

$56 Million Added To Federal Budget

OTTAWA (CP)—A further $56,025,485 in government spending this fiscal year, including $25,000,000 in civil service pay raises, was proposed today by Finance Minister Fleming in supplementary estimates tabled today in the Commons.

This will bring budgetary spending estimates to a record $5,812,794,405 for the year which began April 1. This compares with $5,798,765,643 in budgetary expenditures voted by Parliament in the last fiscal year. Further outlays undoubtedly will be proposed later for the current year.

The $25,000,000,000 for pay raises is on top of $15,000,000 already voted by Parliament to cover pay increases which Mr. Fleming indicated in his March 31 budget speech.

An official said the new expenditures proposed today should not upset Mr. Fleming's budget forecast of a $12,000,000 surplus for the 1960-61 year. The forecast took account of probable suplementary spending needs during the year.

A finance department spokesman said it was impossible to specify the classes of employees who would receive the $25,000,000 for pay raises. It and the previous $15,000,000 were included in the government's plan when the March 31 budget was prepared. The increases were being spread throughout the civil service, with emphasis on stenographers and clerks.

Today's spending estimates include $10,223,559 in foreign aid and international programs and $1,21,500 in payments under the federal-provincial program of aid to Prairie farmers whose crops were trapped in the fields over the winter by early snows last fall.

55 'Divoteers' Furnish Their Own Fun Here

Some 55 furniture manufacturers and their agents from Vancouver and Toronto are being entertained today by Ye Olde Victoria House Furnishing Golf Association.

"We are a friendly association of house furnishers who enjoy a good game of golf with a little fun in between," said William Champion, president of the association.

"The antique title appeals to mainland manufacturers and we always give them a good time when they come over here."

The Ye Olde Victoria House Furnishing Golf Association (its full title) was founded four years ago by Harold Johnson and Alec Baird and has about 130 members.

Members and guests were playing golf all day and will get together at a banquet in the Empress Hotel tonight at 7.30.

Rites Today

DUNCAN—Funeral services were held here today for James Mearns, 84, well known carpenter who died Monday in King's Daughters' Hospital.

He was born at Cowichan Station on the site of what is now Fairbridge School, and lived in this district all his life. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. John Holloway, Edmonton; three nephews, and two nieces.

Boys Improving After Blast By 'Depth-Charge'

Condition of two 17-year-old Victoria boys severely hurt in a home-made bomb blast Saturday is improving at St. Joseph's Hospital.

David Jefferson, 36 Lotus, is still listed as "serious," a hospital spokesman said, but his "progress is encouraging." He lost his left hand and received a broken leg and extensive burns.

His companion, Steven Bryant, 2821 Irma, is "coming along nicely but he has a serious eye injury and may not be disturbed. His condition is fair," the spokesman said.

Bryant also has abrasions and burns to the body.

Both youths were interested in explosives and had taken their seven-inch waterpipe bomb to the end of a CNR wharf at Ogden Point to depth-bomb fish when the explosive was accidentally ignited.

Gov't Policy on CNR Hit by B.C. Member

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The CNR drew more brickbats than bouquets Tuesday during a hectic Commons debate over the crown corporation's plans, policies and its need for public funds.

At one stage Erhart Regier (CCF - Burnaby - Coquitlam), charged that Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been advancing the interests of the rival CPR—a suggestion that quickly brought Mr. Diefenbaker into the chamber to demand withdrawal.

Continuing to draw the fire of the Conservative front bench, Regier quietly suggested that Finance Minister Fleming had burdened the CNR with additional interest charges when, in financial difficulties himself, he forced the railway to repay its treasury advances and borrow on the open market.

"Utterly untrue," countered Mr. Fleming.

The CCF member said that Mr. Diefenbaker, while in opposition, had acted as a spokesman for the privately-owned Canadian Pacific Railway.

Now the role has fallen to other Conservatives, Mr. Regier said. He observed that during Tuesday's debate several government backbenchers criticized the CNR for entering the trucking field, and had criticized the corporation earlier during sittings of the House railways committee.

Justice Minister Fulton called on Mr. Regier to withdraw, and then the prime minister himself strode into the chamber.

Mr. Regier modified his remark to say that "the effect of the representations made by the member for Prince Albert Mr. Diefenbaker, used to advance the interests of the CPR, and the effect of the remarks of the honorable members for Vancouver South (Ernest Broome), Vancouver Kingsway (Ferguson Browne) and Burnaby-Richmond (John Drysdale) is to advance the interests of the CPR as opposed to the interests of the CNR."

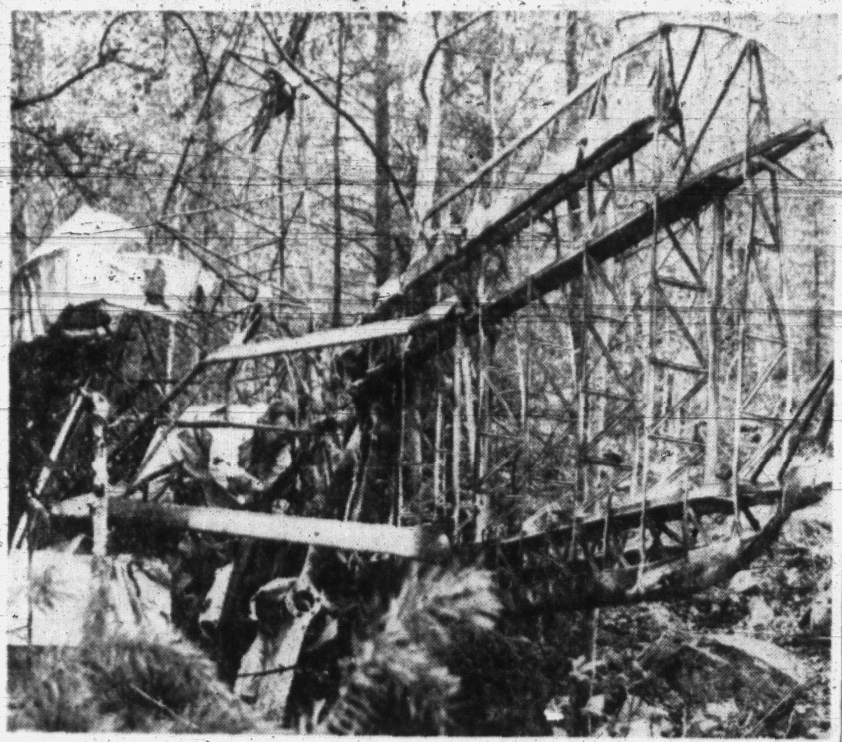
Charges 'False in Entirety' Says PM

Mr. Diefenbaker said any intimation that he had acted for the CPR at some time or other is "false in its entirety."

Earlier, Mr. Browne and Florent Dubois (PC-Richmond-Wolfe) suggested that the royal commission on transportation be handed the question of the railways entering the trucking field. Mr. Drysdale suggested that the CNR's plan for such expansion could stifle competition in the trucking business.

The debate erupted over a proposal to loan the CNR $203,950,000 as part of its 1960 captial expenditure program of $309,950,000. The Commons eventually gave first reading to the necessary legislation.

Second reading—approval in principle—was given to a bill to loan the CNR up to $100,000,000 to construct new terminal facilities in Toronto—a project expected to be questioned closely my MPs during later committee study of the legislation.



BOY SURVIVED — An eight-year-old boy survived the crash of this light plane in the northern Manitoba bush. Walter Sedor was found alive near the burnt-out wreck of the plane 15 days after it disappeared near a lake 12 miles northeast of Flin Flon, 382 miles northwest of Winnipeg. His father, Steve Sedor, 39, and his uncle, pilot Ken Harrison, 32, were killed but the boy was thrown clear and escaped serious injury. Young Walter had gone without food the whole time he was missing.

Residence Rule Eased For Vets' Pensions

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation under which war veterans' allowances would become payable outside Canada swept through preliminary stages of Commons approval Tuesday night, being welcomed by MPs of all parties.

The amending bill would remove the present restriction against payment of allowances to veterans and widows living outside Canada, in many cases for health reasons.

HONEYMOONERS HEADING HOME

ST. JOHN'S, Antigua (UPI)—Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones sail for Britain at midnight tonight, ending their honeymoon cruise through the West Indies.

The newlyweds will dine at Government House before boarding the royal yacht Britannia to begin their homeward journey.

CLASH INEVITABLE

Japan Fascists To 'Defend' Ike

TOKYO (UPI)—Neo-Fascists vowed today to "fight to the death" to protect President Eisenhower from leftist demonstrators in Japan.

The pledge made it almost certain there would be a battle at Tokyo International Airport when Eisenhower arrives on June 19.

Police officials, already deep in plans on how to deal with the left-wing demonstrations against the president and the U.S.-Japan security treaty, were faced with the possibility they feared most.

Clashes between leftists and rightists would be much harder to control than one-sided demonstrations.

Bin Akao, leader of the "Great Japan Patriotic Party" and an admirer of Hitler, said he would mobilize 2,000 members to greet the president, and other tough rightist groups promised to help.

"I want to assure Eisenhower that the patriotic Japanese will fight to the death in order to protect the great leader," he said.

More Money Needed For Quake Victims

Victorians have already contributed $480 to victims of the Chilean earthquakes but the Red Cross would be glad of more.

Cheques should be made out to the "Canadian Red Cross Chilean Disaster Fund" and sent to the Victoria headquarters at 1046 Fort.

Red Cross officials have asked that no clothing or other goods be sent since they have no facilities to pack and send parcels.

RCAF FUNDS SPENT ABROAD

OTTAWA (CP)—Only 20 to 25 per cent of the RCAF's total effort now is devoted to home air defence, officials disclosed Tuesday.

At least three-quarters of the air force's work now goes into the RCAF air division in Europe, Maritime Air Command and Search and Rescue. The RCAF budget for this year is $767,929,000.

New STRIPE

gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash

This is the remarkable story of new Stripe toothpaste, that gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash.

Ever since scientists discovered that germs cause tooth decay and bad breath, they have been trying to develop a protective toothpaste. They know that ordinary toothpaste is not an effective germ-killer. It does wash some of the germs away. But those left behind soon multiply into millions.

The answer: hexachlorophene

The answer was discovered in an effective germ-killer called hexachlorophene. During World War II, surgeons found hexachlorophene far more effective than traditional methods of cleansing their hands before operations, yet so gentle it could be used with complete safety. They also learned that hexachlorophene clings to the skin, keeping germs away between washings.

Now in a toothpaste

Now Lever Brothers' scientists have developed a way to put hexachlorophene to work in a toothpaste—an effective new red-and-white toothpaste called Stripe. Rigorous testing shows that Stripe with hexachlorophene—

- kills tooth decay germs better than any plain white toothpaste.
- kills bad breath germs too, giving you mouthwash protection.

In this way, Stripe gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash.

Clings to mouth surfaces

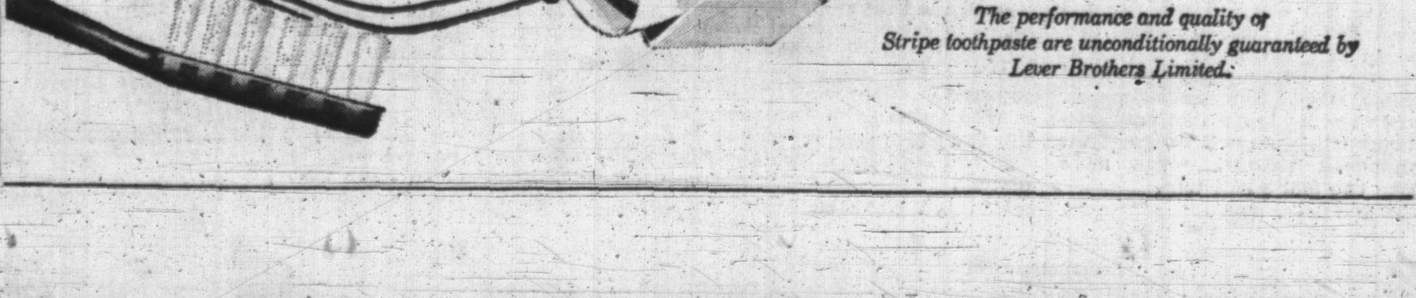
Moreover, Stripe's hexachlorophene clings to the surfaces inside your mouth for hours. It keeps fighting germs between brushings . . . for hour after hour . . . as clearly proved in clinical tests.

And Stripe's hexachlorophene penetrates between the teeth . . . where tooth decay and bad breath often start . . . and where your brush can't reach.

Stripe is 100% sugar-free, and completely safe for children of all ages. In fact, children are so fascinated by the way Stripe comes out of the tube in red and white stripes that they brush longer and more often than ever before.

Remember, the exclusive red stripes identify Lever Brothers' hexachlorophene toothpaste. Get Stripe for your family today.

When you see these red stripes— you know you are getting germ-killing
HEXACHLOROPHENE



The performance and quality of Stripe toothpaste are unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Limited.

A Conservative Victory

THE PEOPLE OF NOVA SCOTIA may have re-elected their Provincial Government mainly for local reasons but their decision is an important victory for the Conservative party of the nation, a sharp disappointment to the Liberal party.

When Mr. Stanfield increases his majority in Nova Scotia the theory, long heard in Ottawa, that the angry Maritime provinces were ready to reject the Conservative party appears to be only an invention of Liberal propagandists. The Maritimes are suffering from bad times but in Nova Scotia at least a majority of the people do not blame their troubles on the provincial or federal Government.

Both the national parties bid high in the Nova Scotia election and it has been vigorously fought in the debates of Parliament. Since coming to office the Diefenbaker Government has substantially increased federal subsidies to the Maritimes and indicated that still larger aid in the way of public works might be in store. The Liberal party criticized these measures as inadequate and Mr. Pearson promised to finance new industries in the Maritimes at the national tax payers' expense even if it meant a tax increase.

Nova Scotia may not be satisfied with Mr. Diefenbaker's policies but it is not prepared to reject them at the provincial polls in favor of Mr. Pearson's. Whether Nova Scotia's sentiments represent those of the Maritimes generally we shall know better after New Brunswick votes later in the month but certainly the Nova Scotia election is a good omen for the Federal Government in that part of the nation and very bad news for the opposition.

But it should not be exaggerated. The issue on which the provincial electorate voted was not a national issue. It was simply whether Mr. Stanfield should be replaced by Mr. Hicks. The Nova Scotia premier is a fine, able and popular man in whom the people obviously have confidence. Mr. Hicks, a former premier, has never gained the same measure of confidence, has been defeated in his own riding and doubtless will soon retire in favor of a new opposition leader.

The Liberal revival in Nova Scotia has been postponed for some years anyway. The same thing may happen again today in Saskatchewan. Quebec remains the great question mark of national politics this month. A Liberal victory there would outweigh defeat in the smaller provinces.

Sounds From New York

GOVERNOR ROCKEFELLER, of New York, continues to make strange, yearning sounds.

When he says he would accept a "draft" at the Republican convention he is no doubt sincere but unrealistic. In American politics a "draft" occurs if other candidates step aside and implore some outsider to become the party candidate. This has not happened in modern times, except at the Democratic convention of 1952, when Mr. Adlai Stevenson was genuinely drafted and compelled to accept a nomination which he had not sought and apparently did not want.

But at the moment there is no prospect of a true draft at the Republican convention of July. There cannot be so long as Mr. Nixon is in the running. Unless he retires, which is almost impossible to imagine, Mr. Rockefeller would have to fight for the nomination if he sought it and probably against impossible odds. As tightly as it has ever been in American history, the Republican nomination already is sewed up in Mr. Nixon's pocket.

What, then, is the real meaning of Mr. Rockefeller's repeated statement that Barkis is willing? He could have the vice-presidential nomination, of course, if he would accept it, but it does not seem to interest him. More likely, he is retaining control of the powerful New York delegation at Chicago and standing, always available, in the wings so that he may influence the party's platform, especially its policy on foreign affairs.

For it is quite clear that he differs sharply in this field with the Eisenhower Government which, in theory at least, he supports. He has ostentatiously refused to endorse Mr. Nixon, he has criticized the Government by implication, he demands a full debate on the spy-plane episode and, in domestic affairs, he stands considerably to the left of official Republican policy.

In fact, to foreigners and to many Americans also, Mr. Rockefeller looks more like a Democrat than a Republican.

Since victory in his state of New York is almost essential to any victorious presidential candidate, and since he controls the Republican organization there, his views must be heard at Chicago, draft or no draft.

Tell Our Children

LAST WEEK'S TRAGIC ACCIDENT to two youths experimenting with a home-made bomb gives added point to the current project of the Optimist-Ranger Safety Association. This joint group plans a safety film which will be shown in all the schools of the province, giving graphic warning to both children and adults against improper handling of firearms, explosives, boat fuels and other dangerous items.

The lessons to be learned from such a film could prevent accidental deaths and lifelong suffering, and the venture merits full public support. It is believed that this is the first safety film of this nature to be made in Canada, and it may well be followed by similar projects elsewhere for no medium can better present the message to children.

The Optimist-Ranger Safety Association has government approval and seeks also public support in the form of associate memberships which will help to finance the undertaking. The president, Mr. G. R. Sword, and secretary, Mr. A. E. Mourant, invite new memberships or contributions.

Exit the Teamsters

THE CANADIAN LABOR CONGRESS has shown a high sense of public responsibility in expelling the Teamsters Union. The international organization headed by Mr. Hoffa is expelled ostensibly because it has raided other unions but there must be more to the expulsion than that.

Obviously the Labor Congress knows that, in their present attitude, the Teamsters are a liability to the whole labor movement, both in Canada and the United States. Their tactics and the scandalous state of their own affairs have tended to damage the reputation of all unions. It is good, therefore, to see that in Canada the Labor Congress has decided to do its own housecleaning.

The Teamsters, defying the national organization, intend to keep on raiding other unions if they can. They claim jurisdiction over all workers who move goods of every sort. But the workers who intend to resist them now have the support of the Congress and also of the Canadian people generally. We shall soon see whether the Teamsters can drive the labor movement.

The Bubble of Fame

ROCKETS AND MISSILES have stolen the spotlight from that less spectacular form of space exploration—the balloon. But descriptions of the latest developments in scientific gasbags indicate that the advances in this field have also been newsworthy.

Into the air over Georgia this week floated a great globe of plastic, 500 feet in diameter, and controlled by radio. It carried to a height of 114,000 feet a $50,000 cargo of emulsion plates to record cosmic rays. The seven-acres of poly-ethylene film only one-thousandth of an inch thick and the equipment together weigh more than two and a half tons.

These are spectacular figures, compared with the older types of balloon as remembered from the earlier days of this country. At such heights and with such a weight of equipment these balloons perform a valuable scientific service in making sustained observation possible. Scientists of thirteen countries are eagerly awaiting the return of the balloon and its exposed plates to earth (expected within a few days), and will spend two years decoding the cosmic ray secrets recorded.

The layman can think only of the two-and-a-half-ton load in the sky, and hope for a safe and slow descent.

A FLAT REPLY

By B. A. TOBIN

How Do You Prove What Seems So Obvious?

IN these days of fantastic claims about space travel, nuclear power, out-of-this-world speeds and similar phenomena, it is reassuring to get some good, down-to-earth information on the real state of affairs. All this talk of globes spinning in space, of wheeling galaxies, whirling suns, infinite distances, is all very fine in its way. But does it adequately represent the universe as the universe really is? Or is it just a lot of imaginative nonsense dreamed up by scientific poets in plastic ivory towers? We can only answer no, and yes.

Tobin

The down-to-earth information which we have received is that the earth is flat. Just that. Flat. And just in time, too.

Big Gain

It is difficult to think of anything more likely to bring peace and comfort to the world than this piece of wisdom. For one thing the so-called "global problems" disappear immediately. No globe: no problems. That's quite a gain in itself.

We have to thank for this improvement a Mr. Samuel Shenton of London, who is secretary of the International Flat Earth Society. And not only does Mr. Shenton explain our earth in simple terms, he has an explanation for the mysterious disappearances of people which raise conjecture from time to time.

The missing persons bureau, says Mr. Shenton, lies outside the rim of the earth. These persons walked too far in a straight line, came to the edge of the earth where a solid ice barrier is to be found and disappeared behind it.

What some folk call travelling around the globe, says Mr. Shenton, is really the act of travelling around the edge of the plate-shaped earth.

Crazy, isn't it? Okay then. Prove Mr. Shenton is wrong.

Over the Rim

The first thing that comes to the layman's mind, of course, is the old argument of the ship which disappears over the horizon. But this might be explained by a low bulge on the flat disc of the earth. And how many people who bring up that argument have ever seen a ship appear or disappear over the horizon? They take a lot for granted.

So what other proofs have we? Well, sailing around the earth; you come back to where you started, thus proving that the earth is a globe. But does that prove it? You could follow your compass around the edge of a disc, and if the pole were in the centre of the disc your compass would behave as though you were circumnavigating a globe.

What else? Well, photographs from high-flying planes show the curvature of the earth. But can the layman prove this isn't due to refraction of the light rays which gives a curved appearance?

But, you say, the global idea must be right because it's obvious and sensible. The flat earth theory is also obvious—much more obvious to most of us than the global idea—and just as sensible if you're depending on your senses.

What Proof?

Mr. Shenton says the sun and moon are flat, luminous discs; the former about 32 miles across. Can you prove he is wrong, without appealing to the evidence of someone you don't know any better than you know Mr. Shenton?

So much of what we know "for sure" is taken on someone else's say-so and is only true for us because we choose to believe it. And some of the things we're sure of appear even more fantastic than a flat earth when you examine them with unprejudiced eyes—more fantastic even than a round one.

A man throws a switch at one end of town and a street light goes on several miles away. Well, nothing odd about that you say—it's electricity. But what is electricity? Well, you know—energy or power or something travels along a conducting wire and heats up the lamp filament. But what actually travels along the wire? Well . . .

At about this point I would vote to call in Mr. Shenton. I don't know what his theory of electricity is, but I'm sure it would be something nice and simple. And in a world of nuclear fusion, stratopheric magnetic belts, lethal cosmic rays, radio telescopes, orbital velocities, and human preparations to zoom off into it all—well, something nice and simple would be just my dish.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

To Pro Bono Publico

It is regrettable that you bring up the past regarding your young dentist friend. I remember the incident quite well. The facts are that he would not take the examinations as everyone else does.

If I or anyone else should wish to practice in England, we would be required to take an examination—and rightfully so.

And now my friend, if you are really out for the good of the public, the dental profession can use such a person to advantage. We have many problems that will require a genius to please everyone, and still be pro bono publico. Please insert your phone number and I shall contact you in a most friendly spirit.

Legion's Stand

Since I returned from attendance at the Dominion convention of the Canadian Legion, held recently at Windsor, Ont., my attention has been directed to a newspaper item published in your issue of June 2, received through the Canadian Press, headed: "'War' on the Reds Declared by the Legion."

May I say that there was no such declaration made by the delegates attending this convention.

The newspapers are not to blame for assuming that such was the case. In giving a courteous hearing and a good reception to greetings conveyed to our convention by Louis G. Feldman, commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, to the uninitiated, it might have been assumed that we were in agreement with his political remarks converning the tension between Russia and U.S.A. caused by the blunders of our friends over the border.

The Legion is a strictly non-political body. In the U.S.A. a different condition prevails. That is their business and I have no criticism to offer in that connection. The Legion does not admit Communists to membership, so our position in that respect is well known.

It was very unfortunate that a visitor from United States, not acquainted with our procedure in Canada, seized upon the opportunity to introduce politics into our convention. Mr. Feldman was introduced as an emissary of President Eisenhower, having recently returned from a 22-country tour.

We never will bring about a peaceful condition of affairs in the world by a constant needling and stirring up of trouble with those whose political thinkings we oppose. Russian remarks are annoying and irritating, I agree, but those of the United States are no better.

Canada occupies the position of a small nation. In a war we would be another "Belgium" or no man's land. Do not let us be a pawn, so to speak, should a war start by the action of a United States "general" pressing a button. Have we any assurance that Canada will have some say in the matter of where we stand should a war break out again?

Higher Law

In your editorial May 30, mention is made of the "absurdity of Canada's divorce laws." Are they absurd? Are they backward?

The Bible is the most up-to-date book in the world, and the Bible has made clear the only grounds for divorce in Matthew 19-9. In the light of this, dare we say that "the Canadian law" is "one of the most backward in the world" because it allows divorce only on the ground of unfaithfulness to the marriage vow?

What conscientious person would want to be granted a divorce according to the law of the land if it was not according to the higher law of heaven?

Repentance

The prime minister is reported as urging "a new start . . . towards a summit meeting before it is too late."

Is it not about time we gave up trying to arrange a summit talk with an enemy who has no intention of keeping any agreement a moment longer than suits him?

We are a Christian nation, yet are not demonstrating Christianity. The only direction in which we can turn for a true summit talk is to Almighty God, our only hope for peace. Our need is for inspired leaders today, if we are to survive.

Let Mr. Diefenbaker call for a Day of Prayer, for repentance and obedience; and urge the same throughout the Western world. There is no other way.

June 8, 1900 — New York: An unknown immigrant threw her six-year-old daughter overboard from the immigration barge late last night. The child was rescued.

June 8, 1920 — Winnipeg: Crops are expected to be the best since 1904. Weather has been ideal for the prairie harvest and farmers are happy with the situation.

June 8, 1940 — Paris: The French withdrew today from the Aumle line in the centre of the Somme in what a war ministry spokesman described as a "retirement manoeuvre."

FROM WASHINGTON:

Aftermath

By MAX FREEDMAN

THE four major candidates for the Presidential nomination have placed themselves on record with respect to an early summit conference. In a statement approved by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Herter, Vice-President Nixon said: "While we do not rule out any meeting which might contribute to the cause of peace, certainly the world will now have greater confidence in the traditional methods of diplomacy and in discussions in the United Nations than in the summitry on which Mr. Khrushchev has in the past insisted."

Freedman

The American press has taken this statement to mean that no Republican administration will agree to new negotiations at the summit in the predictable future.

What of the three Democratic Senators who are seeking the nomination? They were all asked whether they thought the next President should hold an early meeting with Mr. Khrushchev. The replies were illuminating.

Senator Lyndon Johnson said: "No. More importance has been placed on summits than the achievements justify."

He added that he was not ruling out a possible summit meeting sometime in the future but he insisted that differences should be resolved on the "staff level" before there were any more trips abroad by the President.

Senator Symington remarked: "I can't say yes or no, but when we have another summit, the staff work should be done in greater detail. I certainly don't want to go on another summit as ill-prepared as we were when we went to Paris."

The most detailed answer was given by Senator Kennedy. He began by saying that "it is not a sign of appeasement" to criticize the Eisenhower administration nor will it provoke "national disunity" to have a debate on foreign policy now. He thought his own attitude was very similar to that of Governor Rockefeller. He added:

"We are not guilty of appeasement. It is urgent that we, as a nation, do not respond to the new Russian menace with weakness and appeasement—giving up on Berlin, Germany, our bases or any other issue in dispute. There is no need now for undue fear or panic, but neither can I agree with those who want our belligerence to match Mr. Khrushchev's, who feel that the cause of peace is hopeless and all negotiations impossible.

No Justification

"No nation and no party can justify switching overnight from the olive branch to the mailed fist on the basis of these last seven weeks. For the basic problems at stake go back seven years not seven weeks and their correction will be many years in coming."

Senator Kennedy went on to say that the United States must increase its military power "to prove to the Soviets that negotiation is preferable to aggression." He thought Russia had broken up the summit conference because it "apparently believed that the balance of world power was shifting its way—that the pressures and threats of the cold war could thus gain it more than bargaining as equals at the summit."

The task of the United States now, he continued, was to build up its nuclear retaliatory power, to increase its capacity for limited war anywhere in the world, to strengthen NATO, develop the entire free world economy, encourage not hamper the nationalism sweeping Africa and Asia, and within the United States to expand the economy at a "far faster rate" than during the past eight years.

Possible Nominee

Mr. Adlai Stevenson, who may well be nominated though he is not an avowed candidate, said:

"I am sure that all genuine apostles of peace are reassured that President Eisenhower has taken his position with those in his party who want to keep the doors to the conference room open, instead of with those who have been talking as if bargaining and disarmament were appeasement and weakness."

This division among the Democrats can also be seen in their attitude to the inquiry on the summit conference now being conducted by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Apparently the only kind of report that can be written by the committee is one which passes in review the sequence of recent events without going too deeply into the causes of failure. Senator Fulbright, committee chairman, is threatening to make a speech detailing his own criticisms of the administration, unless his colleagues agree to a more forthright report.

In short, no one really knows whether there will be a summit conference again, though everyone is agreed that no such meeting can take place for many months.

FLORENCE—A special monument stands in the right hand nave of the Basilica Di Santa Croce to Dante Alighieri, who was banished from Florence when he subscribed to a losing political cause and vowed he would never return nor permit his remains to be transferred to the city he once loved.

Stott

His wishes have been honored. His remains rest in Ravenna, where he died. But the Florentines have paid their tribute to him, as they have to others of Italy's glorious past.

The unlettered traveller reaching Florence finds himself immersed in an artistic grandeur which is overwhelming. There is so much to see, to admire, in this ancient and lovely city where the Italian Renaissance bloomed in rich flower.

You speak of Florence and find yourself caught in all the cliches which surround the old masters. Your adjectives are tarnished; your efforts at vocal appreciation are threadbare.

We looked in Florence at the originals of scores of pictures and monuments which spring at you from the pages of illustrated books on classical art and sculpture. We have kinked our necks gazing up at ceilings, at lofty and imperishable bas relief, frescoes, great paintings, magnificent architecture, bridges that are pictures in themselves and have been pictured on canvas and celluloid thousands of times. We have bowed in respect before the tombs of famous men, have heard snatches of the history of the Medicis, have looked on sites of past crisis and achievement, have done mental obeisance to such figures as Galileo.

Having done all this, Pat and I agree we can't articulate our reactions much more forcefully than the gentleman from a south England city who is a member of our tour party.

He, too, looks on these things and sums up his reactions in honest and uncomplicated tribute: "Very noice, isn't it?"

How do you describe the Golden Door of Paradise in the Baptistry in terms more emphatic than those used thousands of times before? How do you apply fresh appreciation to the David of Michaelangelo? How do you put in words the quicksilver inspiration of a dozen other masters?

You come to Florence and you catch the admiration, affection, near-idolatory of a woman guide who shows the city's marvels to you, pride in her country's famous men a shining light in her face.

★ ★ ★

The glories of former centuries seem unusually well understood by today's Italians. They live among them and they absorb the culture around them.

The sweep and [illegible] of the cathedral in pink, green and white marble is part of their daily living. So also is the unique paradox of Giotto's tower, at once the expression of strength and of airiness which is almost ethereal. The Florentine's eyes dwell fondly on the old bridge, spared during the war when all other river crossings were blown up.

You catch, as a sort of infection, the pride which these people repose in their city. But that does not hold the young people from complete enjoyment of the strident, often raucous, beat of an outdoor jazz band filling the square with so much sound you could almost wish for deafness.

The legacy of past ages, the wonders of modern Italian design, the effectiveness of present-day industrial technique do not, somehow, overcome a visitor's impression of poverty—and this in the relatively fortunate northern area of Italy where factories are located and vineyards thrive.

The air of something less than abounding prosperity creeps over you as you move from the fine Italian Alps south. The country remains spectacular. You are told, though, as you progress, that the Dolomites are perishable. Erosion is at work on the red sandstone and limestone of these bold rock thrusts that carry snow on their peaks. Some houses and castles high on them are either ruins or abandoned because crumbling mountains have left them without access roads and no solid ground on which to build new approaches.

The visitor is impressed, too, and perhaps improperly, by certain unpleasant evidences of age in the land from which the Romans came. Where, in other countries, ruins have a certain romantic appeal, they frequently seem in Italy to be derelicts. Villages, some with long histories, often look unkempt.

In the fields, the women appear to work harder than the men. While there is some agricultural mechanization here, there are also countless families dependent on ox teams or, in many cases, cows which work and also give milk.

It is difficult for a Canadian to adjust himself to city life in a place like Florence. Shops close during the afternoon for siesta. Then the city comes to life and stays that way well into the early hours of the morning. Sleep, if noise bothers you, is a problem.

The language, to strangers who do not understand it, seems to be an exercise in shouting. But the people are friendly, happy to help a visitor unaccustomed to the narrow historic streets leading to vast squares, fine buildings, elegant shopping places.

It's quite an experience for a country boy.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Why Not Try 'London Longs'?

Memories of my father's garden were recalled when a reader mentioned the Cos lettuce and asked why it is not grown here.

Jack

Most local gardeners would not recognize it as a lettuce because the head of the cos is elongated, the height being from two to three times the width.

Millions of this type of lettuce are grown for the markets of London alone, and in some parts of England they are known as "London longs," a name still used in market reports.

DISTINCT FLAVOR

The flavor is quite distinct from that of our round-head lettuce, and it is preferred in many parts of Northern Europe.

Possibly the chief reason it is not grown extensively here are that the type is not well known, it runs to seed quite rapidly in hot weather, requires considerably more water than other types, and the centre has to be properly blanched to secure the best flavor.

Incidentally, every time I include a description of Cos lettuce in a talk on vegetables, someone in the audience politely informs me the local name is Chinese cabbage, but the two plants are quite distinct and should not be confused.

Any gardener can grow it, and there is every likelihood that it would be enjoyed by the family.

Seed is listed in most catalogues and also included in the seed assortments distributed through stores.

LATE SPRING

I have grown it for late spring and fall use, thus avoiding the warmest months of summer. A soil rich in compost is ideal, although any good garden soil, well watered, will suit.

Blanching is comparatively easy, for the outer leaves are loosely tied with string when the plants have made about one-third growth. A little experimenting may be necessary at first, but the results make it worth while.

Citizens Protest

TOKYO (Reuters) — About 60 residents of Niijima Island, about 100 miles south of here, tried unsuccessfully Monday to bar the landing of 180 soldiers bound for a proposed missile testing site on the island, the Japanese defence board said. The men were sent to the island to start work on the testing ground, which was opposed by the islanders when the project was announced in 1957.

At the start of the 1959-60 academic year more than 4,000 students from other Commonwealth nations were at universities in Britain.

NEW PAMPHLET

Laborites Face Split On Socialism

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Labor party appears to be heading for a new round of wrangling in the dispute over all-out nationalization.

Richard Crossman, Labor's vice-chairman and a brilliant left-wing intellectual, calls on the party to adopt a full-blooded socialist policy designed to meet the challenges of both the Communist world and the affluent society.

His stand, argued in a 12,500-word pamphlet published Tuesday and called "Labor in the Affluent Society," puts him in a camp directly opposed to party leader Hugh Gaitskell.

Gaitskell wants to reduce the emphasis in the Labor party's constitution on all-out nationalization. Crossman urges the party to retain its goal of a major expansion of public ownership and to "stay left" until the country turns its way.

RALLYING POINT

Some observers now see Crossman emerging as a rallying point for left-wingers as the party moves toward its annual conference next October. At this meeting the volatile intellectual is due to become party chairman—a post now held by George Brinham, a middle-of-the-road trade unionist.

Crossman's objective is to shatter the case of the "revisionists"—those who want to modify socialist aims to attract voters. If they are right, he argues, there would no longer be any need for a Labor party.

"Alternatively—if we are not prepared to see the Labor party wither away—we must be prepared to reshape its policies so as to present an outright socialist challenge to the affluent society . . .

"In so doing we should make it unambiguously clear that, if we are given a mandate, we shall overcome this crisis by deliberately reversing the balance of the economy and ensuring that the public dominates over the private sector."

Police Won't Work Harder To Get Fines

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton assured council Tuesday police will not purposely seek to increase its departmental revenue from fines and court costs.

The matter of raising revenue by fines was questioned by Coun. Leslie Passmore, who criticized council's practice of including in its budget each year a figure representing the estimated income from fines and costs.

He pointed out more than $40,000 was entered in the 1960-61 budget as the estimate.

To date only $11,000 had been raised by way of fines.

SUSPICIOUS

"Does that mean that police will start charging motorists with offences to increase the revenue?" he asked. "I'm sure they wouldn't do that, but some people are certain to be suspicious."

The reeve said if council had not included in its budget receipts from fines, it would have meant increasing the tax rate by three-quarters of a mill.

Motor buses carried 62 per cent of all passengers on urban transit systems in Canada in the first quarter of 1960, compared with 59 per cent in the same period of the previous year.

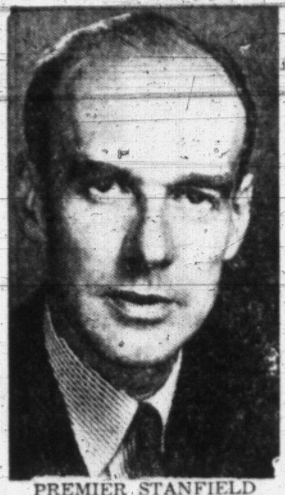
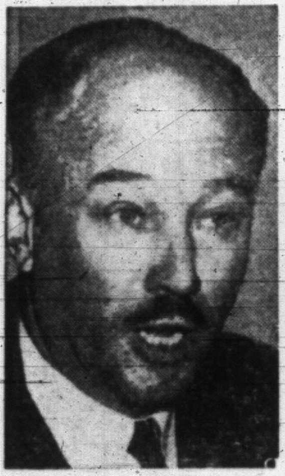
Nova Scotia Tories Swept Back to Power



PREMIER STANFIELD
. . . gets mandate



HENRY HICKS
. . . loses seat

HALIFAX (CP) — A strengthened Progressive Conservative government was returned to power in Nova Scotia Tuesday in a provincial election that brought personal defeat to Liberal leader Henry Hicks.

It was an easy victory for 46-year-old Premier Robert L. Stanfield. He had called for a mandate to carry Nova Scotia's case to the July federal-provincial conference at Ottawa next month. All his cabinet ministers were re-elected.

In contrast to Mr. Stanfield, who had the biggest margin of any candidate, former premier Hicks lost his Annapolis East seat to Progressive Conservative Hanson T. Dowell, a lawyer and former Canadian Amateur Hockey Association president, by 14 votes.

Mr. Hicks, Liberal party chieftain since he won the leadership after the death of Premier Angus L. Macdonald in 1954, said he will consider his political future after a weekend rest. It is believed he may resign as Liberal leader. Tuesday night Mr. Hicks said the result of a recount "will decide my immediate political career."

A Liberal source said he might return to practising law.

Winters Mentioned as Successor

Among those mentioned as possible leadership successors are J. Clyde Nunn, re-elected in Inverness; Allan MacEachen, director of research in the office of national Liberal leader Lester Pearson, and Robert H. Winters, former federal public works minister and now president of Rio Tinto Mining Corporation of Canada.

Premier Stanfield, who fought the campaign chiefly on the 3½-year record of his government and the relationship between Progressive Conservative governments in Halifax and Ottawa, said his party is "gratefully thankful for the new mandate given us." He said the government will "strive our hardest for the advancement of the Nova Scotia people."

CCF Leader Michael MacDonald, the only one of a record 34 CCF candidates to be elected, said he is surprised his party didn't do better. Twenty-nine CCF nominees lost their $100 deposits when they failed to get half as many votes as their winning opponents.

The Canadian Press reported one hour and 19 minutes after polls closed that re-election of Progressive Conservative government was indicated.

Strong showings and early victories in industrial Cape Breton and wins in two previously-Liberal Halifax strongholds pointed the way to a re-elected Conservative government with a bigger majority.

CCF Hikes Share of Popular Vote

The CCF increased its share of the popular vote to nine per cent from the three per cent won in the 1956 election, all at the expense of the Liberals. The Conservatives got 49 per cent of the nearly 350,000 votes cast, the same proportion as four years ago. The Liberals' share was 42 per cent, down from 48.

Votes drawn by the CCF may account in part for defeats of Mr. Hicks, Liberal financial critic Ronald M. Fielding in Halifax Northwest and front-line Liberal Gordon S. Cowan in Halifax Centre. All lost to Conservatives by margins smaller than the number of votes cast for their trailing CCF opponents.

Kentville Mayor Gladys Porter, a Conservative, defeated an incubent Liberal and became the first woman to win a legislature seat in Nova Scotia.

Extensive Road Program Promised

Premier Stanfield offered the voters "a program of good works based on goodwill." He promised a $200,000,000 highway program during the next four years, $100,000,000 in aid for the municipalities plus expanded public services. He said that future development on programs will depend largely on the deal Nova Scotia can negotiate with Ottawa when present tax-sharing agreement expire.

The Liberals based their campaign chiefly on proposals to reduce municipal taxation.

The CCF offered an industrial development program aimed at creating "a planned economy." They urged "a real change" in government but concentrated their attack on the Liberals.

MARTIN BORMANN

Doctor Killed Nazi Leader Claims Paper

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—An Israeli weekly journal reports that former Nazi leader Martin Bormann was killed last April in Argentina by a Jewish doctor who recognized him through his disguise and gave him a series of lethal injections.

The weekly, Haolam Hazeh, quotes Jewish sources in Buenos Aires as saying Bormann's body was buried under an assumed name, which could not be revealed.

No confirmation or denial of the story was available in Tel Aviv.

The weekly says Bormann, Adolf Hitler's aide, went to Argentina 10 years ago and obtained identity papers under an assumed name.

Bormann's identity was discovered when he went to a noted German doctor of Jewish origin for treatment of a heart condition, Haolam Hazeh reports.

The doctor, who was not identified, consulted a Jewish organization in Buenos Aires.

The organization, which also was unnamed, advised the doctor that nothing could be done except to carry out the death sentence imposed on Bormann by the Nuernberg war crimes tribunal.

A series of lethal injections given by the doctor killed Bormann by their cumulative effect and the doctor then issued a death certificate, the weekly says.

Dief Delighted By Tory Triumph

OTTAWA (UPI) — Federal Conservatives were jubilant and Liberals disappointed Tuesday night at re-election of the Stanfield Conservative government of Nova Scotia.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker received the news at home just before leaving for a dinner for Prince Philip at Government House.

"He was delighted," an aide said, when told that the Conservatives would be returned with a larger majority. The prime minister sent a congratulatory message to the winner.

Liberal leader Lester Pearson was not expected to make any official comment until today, but Liberal members of parliament were disappointed.

The win was not unexpected because voters in the Maritime provinces usually vote on federal lines.

Sources said it pointed to a similar victory for the Conservatives in New Brunswick June 27 because Premier Robert Stanfield was regarded to have been in greater danger of losing than Premier Hugh John Flemming of New Brunswick.

The win could conceivably affect the chances of the Union Nationale in Quebec June 22 but it was not expected to have any great effect on the outcome of the Saskatchewan election today, despite the fact the CCF made its strongest campaign in Nova Scotia in almost 20 years.

The win was a major test of strength for the policies of the federal government as the provincial Conservatives used federal issues prominently in the campaign.

T. provincial Tories played up their record of successful fiscal negotiations with Ottawa and said their return to power was essential if Nova Scotia was to continue to enjoy increased federal grants.

Federal Conservatives had been worried that the chronic unemployment problem in the Maritime region and the depressed situation in the coal industry might go against their provincial friends.

Quake Victims Flee Floods

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—An estimated 35,000 persons streamed north from earthquake-wrecked Valdivia in trucks, in carts or on foot today to escape the threat of flash floods in the devastated city.

Gen. Alfonso G. Ruiz Tagle, military commander of Valdivia, authorized the exodus after wind-driven tides flooded low-lying areas of the city Monday, driving 6,000 persons from their homes.

Ruiz's chief concern, however, was the head of water building up in the San Pedro River, blocked late last month by landslides resulting from the earthquakes which ravaged southern Chile.

Troops are trying to open alternate outlets for Lake Rinihue, which ordinarily drains into the sea through the San Pedro, but Ruiz said the water piling up behind the natural dam might break through at any moment.

Torrential rains this week added to the mounting waters of the San Pedro and hampered the troops in their efforts to dig new channels from the lake.

Britain to Keep Imperial Tariffs

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Reassurances that as far as Britain is concerned Imperial preference tariffs are not on the way out apparently was given the Canadian government by Reginald Maudling, president of the British Board of Trade, when he conferred with government representatives here this week.

The Canadian government has been worried by persistent reports that the British were contemplating changes in their traditional trading policies to bring them into closer association with the six-nation common market in Europe, at the expense of her Commonwealth trade ties.

MORE TO GAIN

Sir Douglas Copland, head of the Australian trade mission visiting Ottawa, said Monday that Canada and Australia have more to gain than to lose in trade if Imperial preference tariffs vanish.

He was commenting at a press conference on the question of what might happen should Britain align herself with the European common market, forcing a revision of her Commonwealth trade ties.

But Mr. Maudling brought reassurances to the Canadian government on this point, it is understood.

Asked by a reporter on his arrival Tuesday at the airport if Imperial preferences were on the way out, he replied with an emphatic and blunt "No."

Members of the Canadian government intended to question the president of the U.K. Board of Trade closely on the new developments in the trade picture of Europe. They want to clear up the disturbing rumors that Britain may be forced to change her traditional trading policies.

SHIPPED FROM TORONTO

Young Woman's Body Discovered in Trunk

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—An autopsy has been conducted on the partly decomposed body of a young woman found Tuesday in a trunk at the CNR's express office in Argentia, Nfld. RCMP here have not disclosed the results.

The woman, a peroxide blonde in her 20s, was described by RCMP as five feet 1½ inches tall and weighing about 115 pounds. She wore blue denim jeans and a blue denim shirt. She wore no stockings and no shoes.

The body was discovered by Argentia railway agent Thomas Donovan, a 15-year veteran railroader, who said a pile of blankets and clothing covered the body.

Mr. Donovan said he opened the trunk, marked "fragile—handle with care," when he detected an unpleasant odor. He said there was no such person in Argentia as "Mrs. Williams," to whom the trunk was addressed.

SHIPPED COLLECT

Shipped from Toronto by rail May 4, the trunk arrived at Argentia, a naval base about 90 miles from here, May 14, by CNR coastal boat from North Sydney, N.S. It was shipped collect with a price tag of $17.68 and weighed out at 170 pounds.

Meanwhile, inspector D. O. Bartram of RCMP headquarters here said Toronto police have taken over investigation of the case.

Donovan said the CNR usually keeps baggage for six months, then opens it and auctions the contents if the ownership cannot be determined.

"I opened it because of the awful smell," he said.

There were some blood stans on the trunk and the girl's clothing was damp, Donovan said.

Donovan was with two other men when he bent over the four-foot trunk at the dimly-lighted Argentia express office.

"Take a look at this," he exclaimed when he took the blanket off.

Plays Postponed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Producers announced Tuesday that 42 new plays and musicals scehduled to open this fall have been postponed indefinitely because of a contract dispute with Actors Equity that has blacked out the Broadway stage.

Saanich to Purchase Civic Centre Land

First step towards implementing a five-year plan to establish a civic centre, between Douglas and Swan Lake, was taken by Saanich council Tuesday.

It approved the expenditure of $33,000 for the purchase of six acres of land where it is proposed to erect a new municipal hall in five year's time.

A new fire hall will also be built on the site.

Council ordered that steps be taken to acquire 27 additional acres in the area.

Council is using money from its reverted lands fund to buy the land.

Coun. Leslie Passmore was the only councillor who opposed the purchase.

While admitting the property is valuable, he said council should seek approval of ratepayers to buy the land.

The reeve said if ratepayers turned down the construction of a new municipal hall the land could always be sold.

"The purchase will not result in a loss to the municipality," he said. "The value of the property may double in five years."

HANDSHAKE, NO KISS BY MAYOR FOR GINA

TORONTO (CP)—A warm handshake with no kisses from Mayor Nathan Phillips was the sedate high point of Toronto's quiet welcome to curvy Italian movie star Gina Lollobrigida Tuesday.

The star was whisked to city hall in a rented limousine from Malton airport along with Dr. Milko Scofic, her husband, and her two-year-old son, Milko Jr. The family has immigrated to Canada and will live in Toronto.

The mayor had a little trouble with the actress' name, calling her Mrs. Skofie at one point and Mrs. Skopic at another.

But he told Mrs. Skofic: "Torontonians are happy to have you in their midst . . . We hope that you live long and happily in Toronto."

The Attorney-General's Department has announced that an act prohibiting amongst other things, BONUS CARD GAMES, will go into effect June 15 by the Lieutenant-Governor's proclamation.

We cannot say that we agree with legislation which we think infringes upon freedom of choice! However, we have said before "LET'S PLAY THE GAME," so we have decided to do so and abide by the laws of the Province.

WE SHALL CONTINUE to issue BONUS CARDS to our valued customers until our limited supply is used up or until June 14, whichever comes first!

WE SHALL CONTINUE TO REDEEM ALL CARDS INDEFINITELY

We have already paid out $200,000 in prizes. Be sure you avail yourself of the opportunity to cash in on this exciting and rewarding game of skill!

Let's Play the Game!

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trading was slow in all grains today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. There was some evidence of export interest in Canadian flax.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Coin-Laundry Craze Goes Big

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Malone

A woman elegantly clad in a luxurious fur coat parked her Cadillac in front of a Cook Street business recently. She stepped out carrying a huge bundle of laundry, walked briskly into a launderette, separated her soiled clothes into four washes, placed each in a different machine, deposited four quarters and walked out.

Swap the furs for jeans, skirts or uniforms and the Caddie for a Ford, Morris or motorcycle, multiply the occurrence hundreds of times a day and you have a picture of one of the fastest growing enterprises in Canada — the coin-operated laundry.

A year ago there wasn't one in Victoria. The first opened in July. Tuesday there were 10 in Victoria. Today there are 12. In Vancouver a year ago there was none. In February there were 32. Today there are 50.

The "do-it-yourself" laundry craze has meant many things to many people. It has allowed housewives to have their washing and drying done quickly and cheaply while they shop. It has saved the husband a few hundred dollars outlay for automatic home equipment.

LARGEST IN CANADA

For Charles White, a slender, 34-year-old transplanted American, it has meant becoming a small business tycoon overnight. In 11 months his firm, the largest coin-washer company in Canada, has had gross sales of $1,500,000.

In his comfortable yet hardly splashy office, Charley White told how a young civil engineer with a radio and business background became involved in the coin-laundry business.

"I always wanted to be a Canadian. Made many trips to Victoria when I was living in Portland. I bought in to CHEK-TV and then sold my interest to Bill Rea. (Some say the price was $75,000.) I love fishing and decided to turn the hobby into a business.

"I started a de luxe cruiser-hire operation at Sidney. Some of my customers were important U.S. and Canadian businessmen. I had noticed the trend to coin-laundries in the States. One day I sat down and wrote to the vice-president of the Maytag washer company whom I had taken fishing."

Of all Charley White's casts, the B.C. franchise he hooked from Maytag proved to be his biggest catch.

Starting out Charley White elected to play it straight. No juke-boxes. No washrooms. Each layout must have wide front windows to give a full view of the well-lighted interior. All these factors were designed with one thing in mind—elimination of any morality problems.

"There are many dangers attached to any 24-hour establishment — drunks sleeping, a couple necking, loitering. So far we haven't had any trouble," he says.

Essentially his business is the selling of commercial coin-operated washers and gas dryers to private operators or syndicates. The main requirement: about $7,000 down. Total cost is about $21,000. Actually White's control goes further. He rules on location, discards would-be investors with shady reputations.

Properly run, a launderette can return the operator's investment in two to three years. In any business hitting that kind of jackpot in that time is little short of sensational.

NO EXPERIENCE

No experience is necessary. Operators include doctors, drilling contractors, labor counsellors, butchers, bank managers, druggists, shoe store men, machinists. The clientele covers an even broader range.

Most of the business is done in the evenings and on weekends. Some groups working to midnight have found the same faces at the next coin washer after work, often at 1 or 2 a.m.

Tourists love launderettes. White recalls that last summer a group followed the Tally-Ho to locate a launderette he operates on Cook—off the beaten tourist traffic path.

White estimates that 2,500 Victorians use coin-washers. When he started he predicted that there would ultimately be 25 launderettes in the metropolitan area.

He is aware of the danger of over-saturation. But he says: "Frankly we don't know what the saturation point is."

So keen is the craze that one investor gave White $250,000 to set up 10 launderettes on Vancouver Island. Six are in operation—one in Victoria. He calls the chain "Pink Elephant Coin Laundries."

Of the two opening today, an interest in one is held by Mrs. Evelyn Diamond, Mr. White's secretary.

"It shows," he said, "the appeal coin washers have."

Is he one of his own best customers?

"You bet," he said. "We have an automatic laundry set at home. But once a week my wife uses the coin-washers. Gets the job done quickly and gives her more time to shop."

Rails advanced on an active, generally higher New York market today but steels and motors underwent profit taking.

Gains of about a point were made by New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern and Illinois Central. Profits were taken on such stocks as U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors and Ford.

At Toronto the market was losing ground under pressure against industrials.

AT TORONTO Dominion Foundries led the pressure against industrials with a drop of ⅞ at 44⅛, with Interprovincial Pipe and Weston "B" off ½ at 57 and 34½, and Algom Steel and Canada Iron off ¼ at 34 and 18¼.

International Nickel depressed the mines with a 1-point loss at 54.

Western oils had the unusual role of leading a lower market, with Calgary and Edmonton up ¼ at 15⅞ and Bailey Selburn up 15 cents at $5.95.

AT NEW YORK on the Canadian list, Aluminium Ltd. and Canadian Pacific were up ¼ each.

Among Canadian stocks on the American exchange Shawinigan rose ⅜.

AT MONTREAL the stock exchange remained fractionally ahead in light trading today.

AT LONDON prices eased in light trading on the stock exchange today.

Gilt-edged securities were depressed by fears of possible selling by the banks in order to meet their mid-June special deposit committments.

AT VANCOUVER trading was quiet with slight change in prices during the morning. Peace River Pete traded 2,000 at 24. Vantor moved 1,400 at 34. Silbak sold 12,300 at 30. Giant Mascot moved 2,000 at 23. Trojan traded 3,500 at 9½.

AFTER 43 YEARS

Five Orphans Meet, Seek Missing Sister

BY SONJA STRANDLIE

Four sisters and a brother who were orphaned while still youngsters got together for the first time in 43 years recently in Ottawa. They are still missing one sister, Agnes, and hope to find her through Canadian newspapers.

Mrs. Fred (Edith) Smith of 321 Montreal Street, Victoria, is one of the sisters. Her brother, Charles Court, 53, of Ottawa finally rounded up his four sisters after a 43-year search.

Their mother and father died in January of 1916 in Ottawa, and the children were placed in the care of the Children's Aid Society.

The eldest sister, Edith, who was 15 at the time, worked in Ottawa for a while and moved to Saskatchewan before moving to Victoria where she became Mrs. Fred Smith.

WAS 13

The second sister is Agnes, the missing one. She was 13 at the time of family breakup. Last word Mr. Court and his sisters heard she was in Woodstock and later in Haileybury, Ont. There the trail vanishes.

"We don't even know if she's dead or alive," he said, "or whether she's married or not."

Other sisters include Sarah (Mrs. Fred Wakefield, of Prescott), Grace (Mrs. George Tanner, of Sault Ste. Marie), and Lillian (Mrs. Ernest Baulch, of Los Angeles).

There was one other brother, William, who was killed in the 1917 campaign with the 32nd Battery of the Canadian Field Artillery.

Drunkenness Queried As Defence of Crime

OTTAWA (CP) — Mr. Justice Taschereau said Tuesday jails would be emptied if drunkenness as a defence is carried too far.

He said in the Supreme Court of Canada that 65 per cent of all criminal offences are due to drunkenness.

Mr. Justice Taschereau made the comments during a hearing of a case in which the court will rule on whether a person can be too drunk to form an intent to commit robbery with violence. The court reserved decision.

APPEAL B.C. DECISIONS

The attorney-general of British Columbia appealed to the court against lower B.C. court decision upholding drunkenness as a defence in a case at Prince George, B.C.

Baptiste Roosevelt William George of the Stoney Creek Indian reserve near Vanderhoof, B.C., was charged in February, 1959, with robbing Nicholas Avgeris of $22 and assaulting him.

At the 25-year-old Indian's trial it was testified that the 84-year-old victim of the assault was so badly injured that he was in hospital for a month.

George was acquitted by the B.C. Supreme Court, which found that he was too incapacitated by liquor to form an intent to commit robbery. The court also said that it followed that George was equally incapable of forming an intent to commit assault.

The B.C. Supreme Court's decision was upheld by the B.C. Court of Appeal Dec. 10, 1959.

J. J. Urie of Ottawa, counsel for British Columbia, argued that evidence of drunkenness falling short of insanity was not a sufficient defence to acquit George.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Metro Studied On Mainland

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER — Representatives of the city and its surrounding municipalities meet next week in a critical conference to consider whether Greater Vancouver needs metropolitan government.

The 22 delegates representing 10 municipalities on the metropolitan joint committee will confer at Manning Park, 100 miles east of here, to hear reports of sub-committees which have studied the problems involved for more than two years.

The delegates are unanimous in their belief that something must be done to increase co-ordination of planning and essential services among the municipalities.

But not all are convinced that the answer lies in establishment as a new level of government of a metropolitan organization such as that which has been in operation in Toronto for seven years and now is being introduced in Winnipeg.

Amalgamation, sometimes suggested as a solution, is considered politically unpopular. Co-operation through intermunicipal committees has been tried without much success.

The delegates are faced therefore with a choice between extension of the present system of individual boards to co-ordinate specific services and establishment of metropolitan government to handle all matters of common concern.

FREED IN MURDER

VANCOUVER — Walter H. Merrifield was acquitted Tuesday of the murder of Canadian Pacific Railway news agent, Johan Streigel, Feb. 13.

Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan instructed the jury to acquit Merrifield after he ruled inadmissable a statement the accused man made while in police custody.

"EXECUTION" OFF

NEW WESTMINSTER—An unnamed, honey-colored mongrel received a pardon Tuesday only hours before he was to be publicly executed so it could be decided whether or not the city's electrical execution chamber is humane.

The pup's owner recognized him in the daily paper and claimed him from the city dog pound.

Those concerned with the scheduled execution seemed relieved.

DIES IN FALL

VANCOUVER — One man died and a second received only minor injuries when the pair fell 20 feet down an elevator shaft in a downtown hotel here Tuesday night.

Dead is William Collett, 42, who lived in the hotel. His companion, Bill Loucks, 26, was only bruised in the fall.

Police said there apparently was a scuffle in the lobby of the hotel and the two men fell against the elevator door.

The door gave way and the men fell down the shaft into the basement.

SUIT THREATENED

VANCOUVER—A contracting firm said Tuesday it will take legal action against the Plumbers' and Pipefitters' Union (CLC) to recover costs of a work stoppage on a pipeline project at Abbotsford.

CITY SOCIAL WORKER TELLS CONFERENCE

Power No Deterrent to War

HALIFAX (CP)—A Victoria social worker Tuesday described as an "unholy myth" the Western world's belief in power as a deterrent against war.

Rosemary Hamilton of the Victoria Family and Children's Bureau said no one is ever restrained from an anti-social act by threats of violence. Hostility always had and always would prove hostility.

She said social workers long ago should have attempted to explode "the unholy myth of deterence . . . and should blush that we have not yet protested against this barbaric belief."

Mrs. Hamilton made her comments during a group discussion on the role of the social worker as a crusader. The discussion was part of Tuesday's activity at the Canadian Conference on Social Work here.

The conference, held every two years since 1928, opened Monday with the annual meeting of the Canadian Welfare Council and ends Friday with the biennial meeting of the Canadian Association of Social Workers.

Mrs. Hamilton's remarks differed from opinions expressed by Rev. Shaun Govenlock, assistant director of social work at the University of Montreal. Dr. Govenlock said in a keynote address today that social workers should take a realistic look at their duties and not attempt an "exclusive mission of creating a better world."

He said no matter how hard social workers try there are changes in society which lie beyond their control. They should deal with problems resulting from changes in society even though they have no control over their source.

SUNSET RITE BY UNIVERSITY SCHOOL CADETS

For the second time this month, the sunset ceremony at the Legislative Buildings will be performed this evening by University School Cadet Corps (Canadian Scottish Regiment).

Ald. Austin Curtis will inspect the guard and present a swagger stick to the smartest man on parade. His aides-de-camp will be Lt. M. H. Rayner and Lt. Quartermaster R. B. H. Cree.

MISS PHYLLIS RYAN
. . . with beach "find", face-carved coconut

BEACHCOMBER HAS THEORY

Is V.I. Really Cradle of Life?

By TONY DICKASON

Miss Phyllis Hilda Ryan is a self-avowed beachcomber.

Her dog, Tuffy, helps her.

Tuffy, aged seven, is lucky. His snufflings and diggings have helped uncover rocks Miss Ryan believes are worth their weight in working bulldozers.

And all on the beach off Dallas Road.

The rocks, to Miss Ryan, who lives at 108 Dallas, are things with a pre-age life of their own.

"I'm convinced Vancouver Island is the cradle of life— not Africa or Asia. . ."

27 BOOKS

Supporting this view, Miss Ryan said she had perused 27 books on anthropology and related subjects, in connection with her "finds" on the local beach.

These finds are quite unique. Most are stones, and if one has a vivid imagination, certain figures can be seen, and writ*ings which look sufficiently* similar to hieroglyphics can be taken as real by a non-hieroglyphicite.

She has eight boxes filled with these stones at home.

She also has yellowed jawbone sections, many extremely primordial in appearance, perhaps from "early" birds, if not from sharks, which haven't changed much in recent millions of years.

Miss Ryan, a nurse at a local private hospital, said she had studied stones on beaches in many nations, "but never found anything like those here."

"I've travelled . . . father was a bank manager at Fort William, Ont. where I was born, and he moved around a lot. This sort of, I guess, gave me the idea. I was secretary to the Portuguese embassy in Ottawa . . . first secretary to Robert Taft, secretary to Sen. Arthur Knowland—several of us left within a few months because he was not easy to work with—and many other jobs."

EARLY LANGUAGE

"I'm positive," she affirms, "that certain markings on stones I have are language— early language. I would like to have an anthropologist look at my collection."

The numerous miniature "carvings" she has are lifelike, but not in any extreme fashion. Early carvers were not noted for lifelike representations!

"Too much attention has been given to stones laid out in squares or circles in ancient places," Miss Ryan claims. "There are individual pieces, small pieces, too, which must be considered."

DIRECT LINK

She thinks the stone motifs she possesses are a direct link with the beginnings of man.

"I can't believe these things . . . are the work of erosion, as many persons may."

She has extremely perceptive eyesight (no glasses).

"Hardly a week goes past I don't find money somewhere . . . in Washington, I found an ambassador's wallet with $56 in it—unfortunately, other vital papers were missing."

Regardless of whether or not Miss Ryan's theories are correct, she still appears a fortunate and happy woman.

She has the ability to see beauty, history and spiritual concepts in stone.

Rocks hold all three within their limited boundaries.

FLUORIDES CUT TOOTH DECAY BY TWO-THIRDS

OTTAWA (UPI) — Government research indicates that water fluoridation cuts dental decay by as much as two-thirds, the Commons was told today.

Acting Health Minister A. J. Brooks said the conclusion was reached after a 15-year study in Stratford, Ont., and Brant County, Ont.

The federal government limited its efforts to research work, Brooks said, and had given no recommendations or opinions on the controversial subject.

'BOOM' IS OVER IN B.C.

Minimum Wage Boost Bucked by Builders

VANCOUVER (CP) — The time has come for all parties concerned with British Columbia's welfare to avoid further wage increases, or the impression that they are justified, the Board of Industrial Relations was told Tuesday.

In a brief opposing a proposed increase in the British Columbia minimum wage, the British Columubia construction industry said: It is obvious "that this province cannot stand any further publicity of the wage-cost structure if we are to successfully attract sound financial development".

Any increase in the minimum wage would "create the impression that the government is sanctioning a further inflationary trend in construction costs," said the brief.

"Such an impression may well prove to be a deterrent to much-needed investment for the development of secondary industries in this province.

"It is admitted that the employers themselves have been guilty in permitting unduly large wage increases during periods of accelerated construction.

ECONOMY HIT

"For the time being it appears that the 'boom' is over . . . there is a serious diminishing of construction activity which has had a detrimental effect on all phases of our economy."

The growth in employment in British Columbia since 1949 had been only 15 per cent, the brief said.

"The theory that a reduction in the weekly hours of work per employee will produce more jobs and alleviate the unemployment situation has little or no practical application in the construction industry.

'WAR OF NERVES' DUE ON BOULEVARD CARE?

Council had been earlier informed figures from Oak Bay and Victoria showed it would be too expensive for the municipality to maintain the boulevards and residents were not legally bound to maintain them.

In other business council supported a request by the intermunicipal committee to send a letter to the B.C. Telephone Co. asking for twice yearly directories and no street name abbreviations.

LAWSUIT STARTED

Quebec Minister Denies Bribery

QUEBEC (CP) — Colonization Minister J. D. Begin said Tuesday the affidavit turned over to newspaper reporters by Liberal Leader Jean Lesage Monday is "false and lying" and he has ordered his lawyers to take action under provisions of the Criminal Code against the man who signed it.

Mr. Begin, in a statement prepared for the press, said Honore Pelletier of St. Pacome, Que., who was the Liberal candidate in the riding of Kamouraska in the 1956 provincial election, was a man he did not know until Mr. Pelletier came and offered him his services May 16.

Mr. Begin said that Mr. Pelletier declares having received a cheque May 19 from Automotive Products Limited.

"I affirm I do not know this company," Mr. Begin said. "I have never had any business dealings with it and I never solicited a commission from this company on behalf of Mr. Pelletier."

Mr. Begin's statement was issued in the wake of Mr. Lesage's demand that the colonization minister resign from the cabinet and from his post as chief organizer of the Union Nationale party.

'GLAMOR MATCH' OF ISLAND CHAMPIONSHIPS . . . EVES, JEROME RENEW RIVALRY

Should Be Great Day With Great Duel in the Making

BY IAN SMITH

The greatest sprint duel in Canadian track history appears to be in the making for the Times-YMCA Vancouver Island track and field championships.

Both Lynn Eves of Victoria and Vancouver's Harry Jerome have indicated that they will enter the annual cinder show, which this year will be run off at Victoria High School June 25.

If they do, and if conditions are right, it is quite possible that the Canadian record for the 100-yard dash will fall. And there is also a fine chance that the Canadian native 220-yard sprint record may be smashed, if not the open mark as well.

Eves and Jerome, of course, are the young sprinters who have been setting west coast track circles afire this spring with their continuing competition.

There has never been anything like it before, not even in the days of the great Percy Williams.

For Williams, according to the Canadian record book, is one of four persons who share the century [illegible] mark of 9.6 seconds. Another is lithe Mike Agostini, who did the trick in this same Times-YMCA meet four years ago.

And the other two are Eves and Jerome, who were both timed in 9.6 on May 7 in Vancouver over a rain-soaked track.

However . . .

On May 28, Jerome beat the great Ray Norton, co-holder of the world record of 9.3 seconds, in 9.4 at Modesto, Calif.

He had earlier matched that performance in the heats, which gave Jerome two 9.4 clockings for the day.

And on May 30 he had to do 9.4 again at Eugene, Ore., to beat Eves, who turned in a time of 9.5. Both Canadians beat Roscoe Cook, 1959 Pacific Coast Conference sprint champion who also has a 9.3 mark to his credit.

In the 220, Jerome consistently has been turning in times around 21.3 — and below — in southern meets. The Canadian native record for the distance, which has stood since 1909, is 21.4. The open record, set by Agostini, is 21.2.

If Jerome boils along at his usual pace, it doesn't take much arithmetic to figure out what may happen.

The June 25 meet will provide Eves and Jerome with their first meeting since May 30. And it will also be the last time this summer that both will travel the 100-yard distance if both choose to run.

The following week, and for the rest of the summer, they will compete over 100 metres, the official Olympic Games distance.

Jerome, 19, wants that 100-yard record all for himself. Eves, 18, would like nothing better than to beat Jerome. The Vic High Gyro track is rated "fast."

So, if conditions are right, we repeat, anything is apt to happen.

It is doubtful if a sprint has ever attracted as much interest. And there is no doubt that this "glamor match" may attract one of the largest crowds ever to attend a track and field meet on Vancouver Island.

However, the action won't all be centred on the sprints and that "fast" track should get quite a workout. So should the infield, where the field events will take place.

For instance, there is the open 440-yard race in which, once again, Terry Tobacco of Cumberland will attempt to gain sole claim to the Canadian record.

In past years, he has either been tired after a rough track season, or else he has been ailing. Two years ago, for instance, he thrilled the crowd in finishing second to the great Charlie Jenkins of Villanova despite an impacted wisdom tooth.

This year he is apparently hale and hearty and, like all the competitors entered in the Island meet, he wants to impress the selection committee that will pick Canada's Olympic team this summer.

Tobacco is rated the greatest quarter-miler in Canadian track annals, but he has never managed to get off a record-smashing run on Canadian soil, although he turned in a fine 46.6 time in a U.S. meet last year.

Then there's Valerie Jerome, sister of Harry. The 16-year-old who can do everything well will probably enter the dashes and the broad and high jumps.

As well there's Bob Reid, who pole vaults higher than any other Canadian but who could get some rough competition from Gerard Dumas, the French champion who has been working out with Victoria Y.

Likely to steal some of everybody's thunder is bouncy Mike Penny of Vancouver, an all-star athlete who will turn his talents to the high jump.

Last year he held the crowd's attention as he jumped just under six feet. This season he has already jumped six-three—and he has to stand on tip-toes to reach six feet with his crew cut.

There will be more, of course . . . 27 events in all, for midget, juvenile and open competitors.

Persons interested in competing should send their entries to meet director Bob Hutchison, 2118 Allenby St., before June 16.

Braves Coming To Life

By UP International

Charlie Dressen's had his say and now the old Braves are having their way.

Dressen told the world last spring how Milwaukee's young pitchers would carry a greater load this year but here are the Braves making their first real push of the season—and it's tried and true veterans of the staff who are sparking it.

The Braves have won six of their last seven games and Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl, the "big three" of the Tribe under Fred Haney, have accounted for five of the victories.

BOB'S MEAT

It was Buhl's turn Tuesday night and the hatchet-faced right-hander indulged in his favorite form of amusement by gaining credit for a 6-4 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Buhl has scored two of his five victories this year over the Dodgers and stands 22-9 for a .710 percentage against them for his career.

The victory moved the Braves to within 3½ games of the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who were routed, 13-2, by the Chicago Cubs. Cincinnati Reds beat the San Francisco Giants, 5-1, and Philadelphia Phillies defeated St. Louis Cardinals, 5-3, in other National League games.

Cleveland Indians routed the Boston Red Sox, 12-3, and moved to within 1½ games of first place when the Detroit Tigers beat Baltimore Orioles, 5-2. New York Yankees topped Chicago White Sox, 5-2, and the Washington Senators beat Kansas City A's, 7-2, in the American League.

ERRORS OPEN DOOR

Braves took advantage of three errors to score five unearned runs in the fifth inning and give Buhl a 6-1 cushion.

Ernie Banks drove in four runs with two doubles and a single to lead the Cubs' 6-hit attack that kayoed Pittsburgh's Vern Law and tagged him with his second defeat against eight victories.

The Yankees celebrated Casey Stengel's return to command by beating the White Sox for the first time in five tries. Jim Coates pitched a nine-hitter for his sixth straight win of this season and his 10th straight over a two-season period.

PUSHER PUTTER

Using new "pusher" type putter, Portland's Bob Duden watches ball rolling towards hole on 18th green in qualifying round of U.S. Open. Duden putted well in sectional playoff at Seattle, but still missed berth in Open, scheduled to be played at Denver June 16-18.

AT VIC HIGH

Top Sports Prize To Eric Carlsen

A Victoria High School cross-country athlete who had never before been in the headlines today was to receive his school's highest sports trophy.

ERIC CARLSEN

Eric Carlsen, 17, was to be presented with the Roper Sportsmanship trophy at the school's annual awards day this afternoon.

It was the most prominent of a number of athletic prizes scheduled to be given out during the ceremonies.

Jack Collins and Joanne Dark won Alpha Hi-Y trophies for general sports proficiency, while Dave Rees, a competitor who never won a major event but who always managed to place, won the school's Runner-Up Cup.

Other individual awards were won by Robbin Regan, John Warrington, Gail Archibald and John Valiant (track); Anna Lisa Tangaa and Dale McIldoon (badminton); Valerie Hall and Jim Waldal (tennis). Brian Wallis (swimming) and Roger Pick (curling).

PROVINCIAL CHAMPS

In a year that saw the major team awards—like the Howard Russell Rugby Cup—go to other schools, Vic High honored its cross-country team, the only squad to win a provincial championship. Other teams that won major prizes were the bowling, chess and table tennis teams. The rugby team shares the Kiwanis Cup with Victoria College.

But the show was Carlsen's. It was fitting that in a year in which the only team to shine was the cross-country squad, a mainstay of that team should win the Roper Trophy.

MAINSTAY

Said coach Gordon Hartley: "Eric has never won a race, but in three years he never missed a cross-country practice. He was always willing to step down and let someone else take his place for the good of the school, but we could always count on him for a fourth-place finish in races this winter.

"As far as we're concerned, he has truly lived up to the terms of reference of the Roper award. He has fine academic standing; he has shown consideration for others and a love for his school, an appreciation of what his coaches are attempting to do for him, and has conducted himself like a gentleman both on and off the playing field."

A major non-sporting award was shared by another prominent runner at the school, David Haegart. President of the students' council and a star sprinter, Raegart shared the Leader Cup with Barbara Oldnall.

Nanaimo Drops To Third Place After 7-5 Loss

WHITEY SEVERSON
. . . equals record

The record book is ready to be re-written, and as long as there's ink in the pen, the Inter-City Lacrosse League statistician had better hold on to it for a while

Chances are, he may need it again before long.

Whitey Severson, the 31-year-old playmaker from Victoria, has matched the all-time record for assists in the league. And Whitey, good for at least one assist every game, will probably set the new mark at Memorial Arena tonight when the Vics tackle New Westminster.

MATHESON HELD IT

Severson, now in his 16th season, has a lifetime record of 491 assists to match the mark set by Don Matheson, the one-time New Westminster Adanac great.

Severson will also probably set a new overall scoring record before this season grinds to a close. He is only 18 points short of Bill Dickinson's record of 931.

For coach Norm Baker and the Vics, there's more at stake tonight than a record. Six points behind Nanaimo, Baker's boys are looking for a concentrated winning streak in order to move into playoff contention.

Home games against New Westminster tonight and again Friday present Victoria its chance.

ROSKAMP READY

Baker announced that rugged Ross Roskamp has been cleared by league headquarters and will dress for tonight's game. The blond coach also is looking forward to the return of Jim McNeill, the team's top scorer; defenceman Al Davies; forward Ed Kowalyk and rookie goalie Fred Wooster.

All missed Monday's game at New Westminster, in which the defending Canadian champions tripped Victoria 12-9. Davies was engaged in the international soccer exhibition at Royal Athletic Park, while the others were sidelined because of various ailments.

New Westminster's lead was trimmed to two points Tuesday night when Vancouver tripped Nanaimo 7-5. The loss dropped Nanaimo into third place.

GIMPLE STARS

Captain Gordie Gimple scored two goals, the tying goal, and the game-winner, both in the final period, to lead the Vancouver attack. The other Vancouver markers came from Ron Hemmerling, Alex MacKay, John Cervi and Bill Chisholm.

Jack Bionda was the main threat in the Nanaimo lineup. He fired 11 of Nanaimo's shot-total of 25 at goalie Stan Joseph, scored three times and added an assist.

Spud Morelli and Bill Bamford scored Nanaimo's two other goals.

Alex Usselman of Vancouver was handed a match misconduct in the second period for taking a swing at referee Gogie Stewart after being awarded a minor penalty for slashing. He will automatically sit out Vancouver's next game.

Big Payday Coming Up For Old Arch

TORONTO (CP)—The world light-heavyweight championship fight between Archie Moore and Erich Schoeppner of Germany will be signed up at City Hall here today.

The world title bout will be staged at the Varsity Stadium July 18, with Moore guaranteed $200,000 or [illegible] per cent of the gate. Schoeppner will get $50,000. A 90-day return-bout clause will be included in the contract.

If Moore wins the title fight he is expected to fight Ingemar Johansson for his world heavyweight title in Toronto, providing also that the Swede successfully defends his title against Floyd Patterson in New York June 20.

BUT MORE TO COME?

Puck Traders Had Busy Day

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League clubs girded themselves today for the final big draft in the wake of a rapid series of trades and deals that already have involved 17 players and another five grabbed in minor-league plucking.

Of the 22 who became chattel of new clubs Tuesday, only three were NHL regulars last season. Among the remainder were a few good rookie prospects.

The regulars were winger Ab McDonald of Montreal Canadiens, centre Glen Skov of Chicago Black Hawks and defenceman Jim Morrison of Detroit Red Wings.

McDonald and Skov exchanged clubs in the biggest deal of all—four Montreal-owned players for six Chicago-owned. Morrison goes to Chicago in exchange for Hawk farmhand Howie Glover, who has been with Buffalo of the American Hockey League.

All 22 who figured in Tuesday's free-for-all are subject to draft again today when NHL clubs hold their intra-league draft, unless they have been placed on protected lists. Only a few are likely to get there and only a few of the others are likely to be given any consideration for the $20,000 draft price.

Almost certain to be grabbed on the first call is Andre Pronovost, of Montreal, a left-winger, who reportedly was dropped from the Canadiens' protected list.

Rocket Stays on Protected List

There will be no claiming of veteran Maurice "Rocket" Richard. Montreal managing director Frank Selke let it be known that the 38-year-old Rocket has again been put on the protected list, despite the possibility Richard may decide to retire.

There was a growing suspicion that trades may start booming again after the draft—either completed today or after the club general-managers return home.

New York and Toronto were almost ready to agree to a wholesale swap, with one or two key players blocking the deal. The Leafs, for one thing, balked at giving up Bob Pulford.

Of the five different deals completed Tuesday, Montreal figured in four.

In the big trade, Canadiens sent to Chicago along with McDonald three well-ranked farmhansd — Cec Hoekstra, Reg Flam and Bob Courcy. The Hawks gave in return, in addition to Skov, farmhand Terry Grey, another player to be named and options on farmhands Danny Lewicki, Lorne Ferguson and Bill Bailey.

The other deals:

Montreal farmhand Stan Smrke to Toronto for farmhand Al MacNeil.

Montreal farmhand Billy Carter to Boston Bruins in a cash trade "in excess of the $20,000 draft price."

Montreal farmhand Allan Johnson, with Spokane, to Detroit for cash and a player to be named.

Bert's Tugmen Still Unbeaten

Coach Bert Bertoia's undefeated Island Tug team chugged to a 7-1 win over Jokers in a Senior "B" Lacrosse League game at Stevenson Park Tuesday.

Dave Edgar, with two goals, led the Tugmen. Other scorers were Ron Marshall, Reg Foster, Mel Davidson, Art Pike and George Wilson. Art Green, Sr., scored Jokers' lone goal.

FRESNO, Calif.—Gil Cadilli, 131, Los Angeles, and Noel Humphreys, 129½, Charleston, W.Va., drew, 10.

CAN'T PASS PHYSICAL — FIGHT CALLED OFF

Valdes Partially Blind

TORONTO (CP) — A last-minute discovery that Cuban heavyweight champion Nino Valdes is half-blinded by a cataract on his left eye forced cancellation of his scheduled 10-round bout Tuesday night with George Chuvalo of Toronto.

The discovery was made by an eye specialist only six hours before Valdes was to meet the Canadian heavyweight king.

A bitterly-disappointed Valdes burst out with a remark that led to suspicions he has had the affliction for 10 years.

Pointing to his left eye, Valdes, who speaks only a few words of English, cried: "Ten year!"

Dr. Thomas Flommerfelt, medical officer for the Ontario Athletic Commission, ordered Valdes to a specialist after the routine checkup during the noon weigh-in. Eye specialist Dr. Harold Sniderman reported that the Cuban can see hazy light through the eye, but cannot make out images. He could not see punches coming from his left—Chuvalo's most dangerous angle of attack.

A stunned Al Braverman, Valdes' manager, said: "I didn't know. I only signed him May 8. He has been passed in the past year by the New York State Athletic Commission, the British Boxing Board of Control and a whole bunch of other people."

Ontario's athletic commissioner, Merv McKenzie, said the 35-year-old Valdes was practically "a one-eyed fighter." McKenzie added that Nino might have passed for bouts in Europe and the U.S., "but he certainly can't pass the exam here."

ROUGH TIME FOR IRISH SHOTMAKERS

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (AP)—Portmarnock Golf Club members are literally having a rough time getting ready for the Canada Cup matches.

In an all-out effort to keep the course in condition, members have been playing by special rules for the last three months. They're not allowed to hit a shot off the fairways.

If they're lucky enough to hit one down the middle off the tee, they pick the ball up and drop it in the rough.

INTER-CLUB GOLF

Gorge Sets Pace

The defending champions and a well-regarded team from Victoria Golf Club are having their troubles in the Inter-Club Golf League.

The Oak Bay team, rated a strong threat to displace Colwood as city team champions, reached the half-way mark Tuesday night and found itself trailing the pack.

And Colwood's defending champions are sitting in third place.

GORGE LEADING

It's Gorge Vale and a surprising Uplands team bunched in front.

Fresh from a sweep over Oak Bay's sharpshooters last week, the Gorge gang moved into Colwood Tuesday and scored a surprisingly one-sided 6½-2½ victory over the defenders.

Uplands remained a point behind by defeating Oak Bay 6-3.

The matches were marked by the defeat of Colwood's Bill Court and George Andrews, who had carried their team in earlier matches.

John Merriman downed Court, 5 and 4, while Bill Wakeham tripped Andrews, 2 and 1. The Gorge Vale duo won their four-ball competition over Court and Andrews, 2 and 1.

Complete results:

GORGE VALE AT COLWOOD

Art Donaldson defeated Laurie Kerr, 4 and 2; Dave Fanthorpe defeated Vince Clarkson, 5 and 4. Four-ball to Donaldson-Fanthrope, 3 and 4.

John Merriman defeated Bill Court, 5 and 4; Bill Wakeham defeated George Andrews, 2 and 1. Four-ball to Merriman-Wakeham, 2 and 1.

Fred Painter halved with Vic Painter; Norm Boden lost to Roger Ross, 4 and 3. Four-ball to Vic Painter-Ross, 4 and 2.

VICTORIA AT UPLANDS

Gayle Looking For Big Double

VANCOUVER (CP)—Gayle Hitchens, of Capilano Club, won the Vancouver junior girls' golf championship Tuesday and took a good lead in play for the city women's championship.

Miss Hitchens shot a par 39-38—77 to lead her nearest rivals in the women's contest by four strokes. In second place among the 121 competitors were Mrs. A. E. Tobins, Mrs. E. Beardmore and Mrs. Margaret Hutton-Potts.

Still Critical

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy Pachew, a 21-year-old lightweight boxer from Puerto Rico, remained in critical condition Tuesday night following surgery after suffering a knockout Monday night in a professional bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Bad News for Rivals: Shirley Putting Better

SHIRLEY NAYSMITH
. . . finds putting touch

Capturing medal honors in a golf tournament and then breezing by first-round opposition might satisfy most golfers.

But Gorge Vale's Shirley Naysmith was far from satisfied . . . until late Tuesday. The Esquimalt housewife frowned at the thought of bringing the putter out of her golf bag earlier this week.

A friendly tip on the putting green apparently quickly corrected a flaw.

To that Lil Thirlwell could only say "darn."

It was Mrs. Thirlwell who supplied Shirley's second-round opposition today as the ladies continued their quest for the city championship at Gorge Vale.

A few days ago, Mrs. Thirlwell would have regarded her chances with a trifle more optimism. But now that her onetime clubmate has apparently regained her touch with a putter, Lil could only hope for the best.

And it was "the best" who had their own way in the opening round Tuesday. Favorites, including five former city champions, all advanced with comparative ease.

Mrs. Naysmith, 1955 titleholder, defeated Mrs. H. Bigsby of Victoria Golf Club 6 and 5, while Mrs. Thirlwell, scoring an approximate to medal of 85, downed Mrs. H. McKenzie of Colwood, 5 and 3.

Joining them in the round of eight were former champions Mrs. Joan Lawson, Mrs. G. Harris, Mrs. A. McIntyre and Mrs. Margaret Todd, and Mrs. H. Mearns and Dorothy DeGirolamo.

Mrs. DeGirolamo, the former Dorothy Herbertson, turned in one of the best rounds of the year in local ladies' circles by going out with a one-under-par 38 on her way to an 8-6 victory over Mrs. Stuart Keate of Victoria Golf Club.

Tuesday's results:

Championship Flight—Mrs. D. Naysmith defeated Mrs. H. Bigsby, 6 and 5; Mrs. B. Thirlwell defeated Mrs. H. McKenzie, 5 and 3; Mrs. K. Lawson defeated Mrs. E. Saunders, 6 and 5; Mrs. G. Harris defeated Mrs. J. Munro 1 up; Mrs. H. Mearns defeated Mrs. R. Rickinson at the 19th; Mrs. A. McIntyre defeated Mrs. W. Hicks, 6 and 5; Mrs. A. DeGirolamo defeated Mrs. S. Keate, 8 and 6; Mrs. J. Todd defeated Mrs. F. Green, 5 and 4.

Second Flight—Mrs. C. Ricketts defeated Mrs. N. Morgan, 4 and 3; Mrs. B. Plaxton defeated Mrs. E. McMillan, 2 and 1; Mrs. E. Dye defeated Mrs. R. Owen, 5 and 4; Mrs. C. Holland defeated Mrs. L. d'Easum, 6 and 4; Mrs. F. Bliss defeated Mrs. R. Cleland, 4 and 3; Mrs. L. Bradley defeated Miss R. Jones, 6 and 4; Mrs. R. Ditchburn defeated Mrs. T. Roberts, 5 and 4.

Stan Sets Tough Golf Week Target

VANCOUVER (CP) — Stan Leonard made it tough Tuesday for participants in Canada's National Golf Week, firing a blistering six-under-par 66 at Point Grey golf course.

His nine-hole scores of 35-31 included seven birdies, five of them on the back nine. He went one over par on only one hole.

Between now and Sunday Canada's amateur golfers have been invited to better Leonard's score, matching their net totals against his gross mark. A better score entitles a golfer to a medal inscribed "I beat Stan Leonard."

Marlene Stewart Streit set a score of 78 in Toronto Saturday for the women to shoot at.

Entry fees of $1 in the contest will be used for the advancement of junior golf in Canada.

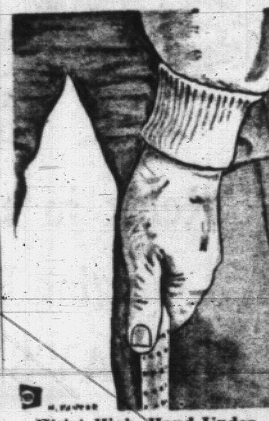
By JIMMY DEMARET

The accompanying illustration points out a tremendously important fact of left-hand gripping.

Notice the slight angle created by the arm and the club shaft and that the hand is actually under the wrist and closer to the body. In other words the wrist is raised or high. This is an extremely strong position. It will do the most to protect the relative position of the clubface to the ball throughout.



Wrist High, Hand Under

Practice this wrist-high, hand-under position by checking your left-hand grip in a mirror from the angle shown here. It will do more to make the left arm, hand and club work as a unit than any position you can use.

Prove this to yourself by first holding the club this way. Then lower the wrist, increasing the angle between the shaft or the club and the arm. Feel how weak and loose the wrist becomes. It is this weakness, with its tendency to permit separate function of the arm and club, which you will want to constantly guard against.

On the other hand, be sure to prevent the hand from having to work too far under.

This opposite extreme causes such a tension-wracked relationship between arm, wrist and hand that you will be gripping the club totally without power.

NEXT: Gripping the club with the right hand.

THE PAIN IN SPAIN FALLS ON REFS, TOO

MADRID (UPI)—When Spaniards play football it's rough—even on the officials.

The Spanish Football Social Insurance Association has published the results of a year-long study of playing field injuries.

During the 1958-59 season, 421 players were hit, kicked or fell hard enough to force them to watch at least one game from the sidelines.

In addition, 18 officials had to take time out from their whistle-blowing chores because of injuries "in the line of duty."

Even one coach was badly battered when play overflowed the sideline markers.

The survey was based on the records of 112 professional and semi-pro teams in Central Spain, including 16 nationally-famous elevens.

Victoria Marksmen Shine in B.C. Meet

Victoria shooters, for the second day in a row, were prominent at the B.C. Rifle Association's annual prize meeting at Vancouver's Blair Range Tuesday, grabbing two major shoots.

Cadet Pat Barclay of the Princess Pats won the Woodward Match for tyros with a near-perfect 49x50, while Lieut. G. A. Grivel of the RCN won a shootoff with fellow Victorian Maj. A. M. P. Spittal in the Westminster Corporation match. Both had scored 73x75.

On Monday, Victoria shooters had dominated team matches and had garnered two individual titles as well. Lieut. H. A. Pankratz of Princess Pats won the Service Conditions aggregate title with 165, while PPCLI Sgt. Ed Zwolak won the Logana match with a 45.

PPCLI Royal Blue team won the tyro team match, 725x800, while the PPCLI Gold team was second at 717. PPCLI teams also placed one-two in the Wilkinson Shield match, with scores of 610 and 526.

Zwolak was second in the Service Conditions aggregate with 163, while PO R. Hawkey of RCN was second in the Dunbar match with 40. Cpl. J. A. Chambers of the Vancouver Irish Fusilliers scored 41 to win the Dunbar match.

Hurlers Finally Finding Range

The pitching, friend, is improving in the Heywood Senior Softball League.

After a wild early season in which 20-run games were not uncommon, the Heywood Avenue Park circuit came up with a second straight outstanding pitching performance Tuesday.

On Monday Terry McLaren of Navy struck out 16 and gave up only four hits. And on Tuesday Rod Turner of Morrisons went him one hit better as he struck out 16 and allowed only three hits to give his team an 14-1 win over MacNutts.

The Grocers' only run came when two of these hits came back-to-back in the sixth inning.

In the Central Park League, meanwhile, Farmer Construction lost its first game, a 6-3 decision to Gorge Hotel.

DUNCAN—About 500 square dancers are expected to attend a jamboree Saturday in Cowichan High School auditorium in aid of the Victoria University building fund.

Dancing will start at 8 p.m., with Dick Cameron, one of the best known callers in B.C., as star of the affair.

Duncan Kiwanis Club, sponsor of the event, sent invitations to more than 40 square dance clubs.

DUNCAN — Three service cadet corps will hold a joint parade in Duncan Friday prior to an army cadet dance at the Canadian Scottish Armory.

It is the first time the cadets have held a joint parade since the Second World War.

The army, navy and air force cadets will parade with pipe, drum and bugle bands. They will form ranks at a grocery store parking lot on Trunk Road and will march past the Cenotaph on Canada Avenue at 8 p.m.

SPEEDER FINED

DUNCAN—Peter Tater, Gibbins Road, Duncan, was fined $20 after pleading guilty in Duncan police court this week to a charge of speeding, and an additional $10 or five days to be served consecutively on a second charge for driving in contravention to a restricted licence.

PARK PAINTING

DUNCAN — Cowichan Community Arts Council, through the Federation of Canadian Artists, will offer "painting-in-the-park" classes for children for a six-week period from June 27 to August 5 for a fee of $10 per child.

To date the council has 27 applications for the sessions.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Paradis, Mr. and Mrs. D. Prideaux and Mrs. K. G. Purney make up the committee in charge. They hope to obtain the services of a Victoria art teacher.

NANAIMO — Recreation Minister Westwood said Tuesday controversial "ferries" signs outside Victoria will be taken down immediately.

Nanaimo officials protested use of the signs because they indicated only the Highway 17 route to Sidney, where the government ferry will operate when the service begins.

The signs gave no indication of the route to Nanaimo ferry docks used by Black Ball and CPR.

Big Sales Pitch On Lumber For U.K. Group

An all-out bid to improve B.C. lumber sales to Britain will be launched next month when 33 top timber men arrive for a tour of the province.

The big party will be escorted by B.C.'s agent-general in London, B. M. Hoffmeister, who is making a special trip home for the occasion.

The British builders, architects and manufacturers will be guests of the B.C. government, the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association and the Plywood Manufacturers' Association of B.C.

ON ISLAND

They will leave the U.K. on June 24. The tour will wind up in Vancouver July 16. The party is expected to spend some time on Vancouver Island.

The party will split up into smaller groups and will study all aspects of forestry in B.C.

Main aim will be to boost B.C.'s biggest industry and attempt to snare more U.K. markets for the province's forest products.

MEMBERS

Included in the party will be H. Bennett, chief architect of London County Council; Leonard Howitt, Manchester architect; Norman Longley of the National Federation of Building Trades Employers; W. R. Price English of the Joinery Manufacturers' Association, and Norman Welch, editor of Timber Trades Journal.

All to Attend

DUNCAN—North Cowichan municipal council has approved a motion that authorizes the whole council to attend the general meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities June 15 at Courtenay.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 10.30 a.m. in the Native Sons' Hall.

SINGLE LIFEJACKET FOR EIGHT ON BOAT

CAMPBELL RIVER—James Kretz, 29, was fined $15 Tuesday for having eight persons in a 15-foot boat equipped with only one lifejacket.

He was one of four persons charged recently with infraction of regulations covering small vessels.

Temporary Home For Fire Truck

GANGES—New Salt Spring Island fire truck has found a temporary home in the heart of the business section here.

It is a former school bus garage which was bought by the fire protection district to house the smaller fire truck which is stationed at Fulford.

When a suitable location was not found at Fulford, it was decided to move the shed to Ganges, which has a site but no fire hall.

VOLUNTEERS

The garage was put in place by a volunteer crew.

Accommodation for the Fulford truck is provided in a garage at Patterson's Store, which was adapted and made available by the owners as a community service.

It is expected a permanent fire hall will be built here on foreshore land which had been held by the public works department as a possible court house site, but which has been turned over by the department to the fire protection district.

93-Year-Old Buried At Salt Spring

GANGES—Funeral services were held Tuesday at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Fulford Harbor, for John Pappenberger, 93, pioneer resident of Beaver Point, Salt Spring Island, who died Friday.

MARDI GRAS ATMOSPHERE FOR MALL TEST

NANAIMO (CP)—Bunting and flags will give color to a shopping mall experiment to be tried here next week.

Downtown retail merchants met this week to plan for a Mardi Gras atmosphere on one block of Commercial Street when it is turned into a shopping plaza June 16 to 18.

Bunting will decorate the light standards and overhead wires and an auction block will be set up on the street where merchants can auction merchandise.

The shopping mall will be in operation for three days but if it is successful, the merchants may ask city council to consider a permanent shopping mall in the heart of the downtown area.

They are J. A. F. Mutter, 1030 Government Street, manager of Cowichan Creamery Association; James M. Patterson, 1000 Marchmont Road, a building contractor; and Henry John Vickers, 451 Bundock Street, a merchant.

Call to Church Starting Bell For Grass Cutting

SIDNEY—Householders apparently consider church bells as signals to start their power mowers, Commissioner J. H. Laroque complained to the village commission.

"You'd think they would at least have the decency to wait until the collection plate was passed before starting up," he said.

Commission chairman Dr. G. H. Hemmings suggested a by-law to prohibit use of power mowers until after church hours, but no action was taken.

Things Are Looking Up, Up, Up in a Little Bit of Old England

A-hem, gentlemen . . . a-high-hem, that is! Yes, the new London Look appeared on the streets of "a little bit of old England" on Tuesday, and goodness, skirts alive, it made an impression! For the first time in many a moon "a little bit of old England" sat up, took notice, and came out with a variety of reaction—as shown in this series of candid camera shots by Times photographer Bill Halkett who stood off a distance with telephoto lens. No. 1: Boys will be boys; No. 2: Humph! the last resort; No. 3: Oh no! Not that ! ! ! No. 4: What gives? Good-sport sales girl from local department store was model for the London Look which her employers made-up specially for the "little bit of old England" reaction test. She strolled the streets window-shopping and found 30 minutes of display was about all she could take. "I felt like I should be carrying a baseball bat," she laughed. Stores expect stocks of the London Look to arrive in two or three weeks . . . baseball bat stores, take note . . .

MONTE ROBERTS

In case you are wondering what I have been doing for the past few days, what I have been doing is not working.

There is nothing I love more dearly than not working for a few days, especially when I live in this, the fairest city of them all.

Not working for a few days while living in Victoria is purely wonderful, because there is so much to do, and so many places to see.

But one should be careful not to waste any non-working days, and thus careful planning is essential if one is to enjoy not working to the fullest.

As an example, on my first day to not work, I laid careful plans to drive out to Goldstream, there to enjoy a picnic lunch, to relax beside the bubbling waters, and to watch the sunlight filter through the overhanging trees.

Carrying out my plans almost to the letter, I arose long before noon—well, an hour before, anyway—and began to prepare my picnic lunch.

Opening the refrigerator door to obtain the ingredients for the picnic lunch, I noticed with satisfaction that the bottles of sarsaparilla were nicely coated with frost. To make sure the contents had not spoiled over night, I took the top off one of the bottles and tested for quality. Mmmmmm.

Pretty soon, I had the picnic lunch prepared and it was time for bed.

However, this did not deter me from continuing to plan how to spend my days to not work. The next day, I planned to go to Thetis Lake Park, and take a long, invigorating hike through the countryside, and breathing deeply of the invigorating air as I strode along, chin in, chest out, arms swinging.

That day, I awoke early, eager to be out and about, exercising in the fresh air.

Fortunately, it rained all day.

So I sat in the kitchen, planning how to spend the rest of my days off, considering the relative merits of Beacon Hill Park and Mount Tolmie, of Canoe Cove and the Sooke Foothills, until suddenly . . .

Here I am, fresh out of days to not work.

PNR's Bid Covers 'First 100 Miles'

The Wenner-Gren Railway builders are applying for a certificate only to clear 100 miles of proposed track land.

The Pacific Northern Railway's application for a certificate of public convenience at a public hearing of the Public Utilities Commission June 21 makes only these requests:

To take over surveys and maps of the proposed 700-mile line to the Yukon border;

To undertake further surveys to complete mapping and planning;

To acquire rights to lands "on the first 100 miles";

To clear the first 100 miles.

PUC chairman Dr. H. F. Angus today confirmed the PNR application referred only to "preliminary work incidental to construction of a railway in northern B.C."

He said he didn't know if the PNR would elaborate on its plans at the hearing in Vancouver.

"It hasn't been explained to us," he said.

CCF Leader Robert Strachan—who will apply to present a brief at the hearing—today received notice from Dr. Angus that the hearing concerned "preliminary" work.

Under the Public Utilities Act the PUC may grant a certificate of convenience for only part of a project.

APPLY TO START

After the certificate is awarded the railway must apply to transport Minister Lyle Wicks for approval to start the work.

Under an agreement between Wenner-Gren Development (B.C.) Co. and the province the railway must be under construction by the end of June.

Apparently the PNR will seek further certificates for each stage of construction.

A railway engineer said it was quite possible the company would let contracts for each 100 miles. The initial application to the PUC might establish a principle of approval.

Mr. Strachan will appear before the PUC as leader of the opposition.

NO POLITICIANS

Dr. Angus said earlier he would not accept political representations.

It's believed the Canadian National Railway may also appear. President Donald Gordon has offered to improve the CNR line between Hazelton and Prince Rupert which parallels part of the PNR, and make it available for PNR use.

This would mean the Pacific Great Eastern Railway would lose PNR traffic from its proposed junction at Summit Lake.

HOT WEATHER GOING BUT NOT FOR LONG

A little high pressure ridge which gave Victoria its balmy weather of the last few days is moving, but it has one more good day left before it departs, according to weatherman William Mackie.

Tonight will be clear, and there will be a little high cloud Thursday, but the day will be mostly sunny, he said.

"A little weather disturbance at the weathership today likely will give us a sprinkle of rain by Friday," he said. "Then we expect more good weather."

Official high temperature expected for today was 65 degrees, but it will reach 70 in sheltered areas away from the sea breeze, the weatherman said. Low tonight will be 48, and the maximum Thursday again will range between 65 and 70 degrees, depending on location.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Accidents are increasing at a greater rate than the number of vehicles on the roads in B.C.

Figures released today by the Motor Vehicles Branch show an increase in all types of traffic accidents during the first quarter of this year.

There have been 53 deaths—a 47 per cent jump from last year—up to the end of March.

There were 6,411 accidents altogether, up 13 per cent.

There was a rise of only 5 per cent in the number of motor vehicle licences granted. There are 475,672 licensed B.C. vehicles.

Officials of the annual YWCA sponsored summer camp at Saxe Point in Esquimalt said today there are 10 more openings for the two-week annual session starting July 4.

The camp will be held Monday through Friday until July 15 from 9 a.m. to 3.30 p.m. daily and is open to boys and girls from 8 to 11 years.

Registrations may be made at the YWCA, EV 4-7179.

No action has yet been taken to carry out city council's instructions to reduce the city staff by 10 per cent, Cecil Wyatt, city manager, said today.

Council on May 10 ordered a staff reduction to save expenditures.

Mr. Wyatt was replying to a letter from A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Labor Council, who wanted to know if men are being laid off.

Council is seriously concerned at plans for reducing the staff at a time when unemployment is of such high proportions in this area," Mr. Toone said.

Situated at 725 Courtney St., the new church will be formally dedicated by Rev. Gaulton Bishop and Rev. Doris Horning, attending on behalf of the international organization.

Only slight injuries were suffered by Jean-Paul Destrube, 764 Sea Drive, Tuesday when an accident at Wallace Drive almost totally destroyed his car.

Police said that about $1,500 damage was caused to the day-old small foreign car when it left the road in the 6100 block at 6.15 p.m. and rolled several times before coming to rest upside down near Tod Creek.

Mr. Destrube suffered a slight cut on the back of his head from the 317 foot ride.

The B.C. government has placed a reserve on 33 acres at Alliford Bay in the Queen Charlottes, where the federal government plans to build a new wharf.

Cabinet approval has been given to holding the foreshore area there until the works department starts construction.

Sellers are urgently needed for the Multiple Schlerosis Society's Tag Day next Saturday. Volunteers are asked to phone Mrs. F. Nicol, chairman, at GR 9-1213.

B.C. river levels rose during wet May, but flood danger is slim—unless there's a heat wave.

The final snow-pack bulletin of the B.C. Water Rights Branch says cool, wet weather in May increased snow levels high on the Columbia, Kootenay, North Thompson and Fraser Rivers.

If there's a sustained hot period, the runoff "could cause a marked rise" in the rivers, says the report.

However, if temperatures remain normal, average runoff and river levels are expected.

'Free Dentists' For Pensioners

100% Support For Pilot Plan

Free dental care for Victoria old-age pensioners who do not qualify for social assistance has been offered on an experimental basis by Victoria and District Dental Society.

Details of the free service are being worked out by the association in conjunction with the Silver Threads organization.

There are some 15,000 old age pensioners in Greater Victoria, but only needy pensioners will be eligible. The service will provide free dentures and dental treatment as required.

"I have conferred with our members and they are 100 per cent behind the scheme," Dr. R. L. Horne, president of Victoria and District Dental Society, said today.

"It will be in the nature of a pilot plan operated only in Greater Victoria. But if it is successful the plan might be extended to cover the whole province."

Dr. Horne said Victoria dentists would not receive any financial assistance in operating the plan.

"There are a great many details to be worked out," he said, "and we are now conferring with officials of the Silver Threads service on how the plan can best be operated."

Dr. Horne said the association is also conferring with the College of Dental Surgeons of British Columbia, which is the licensing body.

"The college has been studying methods of assisting senior citizens for some time," he added.

A member of the Silver Threads service, to which most Victoria old age pensioners belong, said the original suggestion for the free dental service came from John Jeyes, who is chairman of a committee on hearing aids and dentures from members.

But no official statement was available from the association today.

Mid-July Start On New Block For University

Tenders have been called for the first construction work on the new University of Victoria master-plan.

Construction is expected to start in mid-July on a classroom and faculty block at the Mount Tolmie campus—with an estimated cost of $250,000.

Target for completion is November this year.

Tenders called by the B.C. public works department will be opened July 13.

The grass-fronted building will contain eight classrooms and 30 faculty offices. The faculty offices will be a "split-level" wing of the building. There will also be a book store.

This project is the first to go ahead since the university's $2.5 million public fund drive. The provincial government has promised to match public contributions dollar for dollar.

BEARDED MAN WANTED FOR KNIFE ASSAULT

City police searched unsuccessfully late Tuesday for a bearded man after knifing of Ronald Bissett, 125 Westholme Hotel, in an argument at about 10.50.

Bissett called police to the hotel and told them the man had drawn a pocket knife and cut the skin of his left shoulder and made an 8-10-inch gash in his shirt.

Bissett described the assailant as foreign, with several days' growth of beard, about five feet two inches tall, wearing a hat and blue suit.

Doctor's Wife, Old-Time Nurse, Dies Here at 83

Mrs. Margaret Anne Miller, 83, wife of Dr. Thomas Miller and Victoria resident since 1910, died here Tuesday.

Born in Australia, she was graduated from Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing in 1910, and at the time of her death was one of the school's oldest graduate nurses.

During the Second World War she served two terms as president of the hospital women's auxiliary, and was active in Red Cross work.

Surviving besides the husband, at 367 Irving Road, are a daughter, Mrs. Frank Hatcher, Vancouver; a son, Richard C., Victoria; three grandchildren; three brothers, Albert Carter, Victoria; Richard Carter, Turtle Lake, N.D., and John Carter, Princeton; one sister, Mrs. Louisa Devik, Heffley Creek, B.C.

28 in 130 Cars Found Defective

A spot check of 130 cars in two hours last Friday night revealed 28 with mechanical defects, city police Chief John Blackstock said today.

The check point was conducted by city police with assistance from Oak Bay and Saanich at Hillside and Douglas between 9.30 and 11.30.

Further checks are to be made at intervals in future, Chief Blackstock said.

The announcement came with the annual police caution for greater motoring care during the holiday season.

BAD LIGHTS

Faulty headlights accounted for the largest number of defects in the cars checked—16 in all—followed by six with faulty brakes, five with no horn and one without windshield wiper.

The chief said police were interested primarily in ruling out mechanical defects in this check.

He said drivers should be aware of the greater number of children on the streets, especially in playground areas, during the summer months.

And in holiday driving, tourists should not try to cover too much ground in a hurry, nor drive long hours, and always be considerate of other drivers.

The 1960 slogan of the Canadian Highway Safety Council is "Highway safety can make driving fun."

WHY GROW OLD?

Letters on Retirement Situations Fascinating

Josephine

I wrote an article not long ago about the readjustments a couple must make when the man retires. As a result I have had many fascinating letters. I cannot print them all, but I will be able to give you a few quotations from some of them. I am sure you will find these interesting.

1. "My husband retired a few years ago. He was the boss of a whole office force, and it comes naturally for him to suggest things about the housework. I thank him and do as I have always done. He thinks he is bossing and this makes him miss the office less.

"Just thought you might like to know how it is done. Self-pity never helps anyone. I am thankful to have my husband at retirement age."

(That sounds like a happy marriage and she sounds like fun to live with.)

2. "My husband retired about two years ago and I can say that they have been two of the happiest years of our more than 40 years together. I wonder if I would want to retire from my big job of keeping the man in m. life alive and happy. A woman has to feel that she is needed in order to be happy.

"But, I believe we both have been happy because my husband has a workshop, a dark room, a large garden and plenty of hobbies to keep him busy and contented."

3. "Don't get me wrong. I really love my husband but it drives me wild to have him about the house all day long. I can't get anything done. He has nothing special to do although he is not bored or unhappy—probably because I am a good companion and never leave the room when he is in the middle of a sentence (which he usually is) even if the pie is burning.

"I am convinced that every man who is retired should have a hobby or sport or a part-time job which gets him out of the house for a few hours every day—for the sake of his wife if not for himself! I know that many women feel this same way."

There are so many more letters I would like to have you read but space does not permit it.

If your husband is facing retirement, you both may profit from my free leaflet, "Want a Business of Your Own?" If you would like to have it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 73. Address Josephine Lowman, in care of this paper.

DEAR ABBY

Your 'Ethics' Are Showing, Dearie!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I fell in love with a young dentist. He is married but I've seen his wife and she's not so hot. I am much cuter.

Well, I wanted to get to know him better so I made an appointment. There was absolutely nothing wrong with my teeth because I had just been to my own dentist and he said so. But this young dentist took a full mouth X-ray for which he charged me $30. Then he cleaned my teeth for $10. Now he tells me I have four impacted wisdom teeth that must be extracted. He says that will cost $150.

All this time he gave me no encouragement. My girlfriend says I should report him to the Dental Society for unethical practices. Should I?

GYPPED.

DEAR GYPPED: For a girl who deliberately made an appointment with a married dentist for the purpose of "getting to know him better"—you have a lot of nerve complaining about "ethics." If you question his professional judgment, see another dentist for strictly professional reasons.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: We bought this house four years ago and never had the money to put in a lawn, so we had just about 2/3 of an acre of bare dirt to the side and back.

We have three boys—6, 10 and 12—and they like to play outside. All the kids in the neighborhood come to play in our yard. I have put up with yelling and screaming for four years, and our yard is the worst looking yard in the block.

Now that we can afford it, I told my husband to dig up the dirt and plant grass and some shrubs. The boys put up a fight, saying it would spoil their play place. I say they can play on the school grounds five blocks away, but they say the bigger boys chase them away. Am I wrong to want a decent-looking yard for once in my life?

LIKES GRASS.

DEAR LIKES GRASS: The years when you can look out your kitchen window and see children playing are too few and fly by too swiftly. When the boys go off to college you'll have plenty of time to admire the grass. Dirt can be beautiful.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband has the world's worst taste when it comes to buying me a gift of clothing. When I open one of these packages I can hardly keep a straight face. How does a wife go about telling her husband she appreciates the "thought" but she'd rather have the money? Or at least let her go shopping with him to make sure some unscrupulous sales person doesn't stick him with something she wanted to get rid of?

STUCK WITH JUNK.

DEAR STUCK: Now is the time for some diplomatic frankness. Tell hubby you know how hard he works for his money and, as his partner and helpmate, you want to be sure he gets his money's worth, so you want to go along to be sure he does. Now what husband in his right mind could refuse that kind of an offer?

Waikiki Tidal Wave Weak But Experience Frightening

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

Victorians, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eede, will not forget their Hawaiian holiday very soon. They were at Waikiki Beach during the tidal wave scare. "And it wasn't funny," Mrs. Eede says, "in fact it was right down panicky."

Mr. and Mrs. Eede and their small son John had just nicely arrived at Waikiki, after a leisurely trip to Honolulu by ship, and were settled in a cottage at the Edgewater Hotel, when the first warning came in late afternoon.

Immediately plans were made to evacuate everyone to the fourth floor of the hotel, and by dark—that's where they were.

"You can imagine the confusion," Mrs. Eede says with a reminiscent note of shock in her voice. "We were crowded in like sardines. Most of us sat on the floor, when we were not hunched at the windows watching for the wave to roll in.

"The sirens were going continuously. We could see the lights of the ships being moved out of Honolulu harbor and we felt very lonely.

"Then we got the news of the terrific damage at Hilo, and that started a near panic."

The Eedes, and hundreds of others, waited out the night and part of the next day at the top of the hotel.

They heard the news that Honolulu harbor had been washed by a 11-foot wave and that damage had been done.

"But we didn't get it to any extent at Waikiki," Mrs. Eede says with a sigh of relief. "One hotel did have its basement flooded and there was water across the shore road in several places, but no towering waves."

By mid-afternoon the next day, everything was back to normal. The Eedes were in their cottage again and the beach was crowded with sunbathers.

Then came the second warning.

Even Airplanes Moved Out

"This time there really was a panic," Mrs. Eede says. "The whole area was evacuated. We went back to the top of the hotel. Again we could hear the sirens and see the ships moving out. To make it worse the airplanes were being moved off, for the field is very low.

"The army was evacuated and we could see the lorries going by our hotel. We even watched some people being evacuated by helicopter from isolated places along the beach.

"You can imagine the fear and the panic that was generated. We really did feel as if we were deserted, this time.

"However, the wave didn't materialize and it wasn't long until we were all back to normal. It's amazing how quickly one forgets to be panicky and afraid, when everything is peaceful again."

The Eedes returned to Victoria by air, earlier this week.

"We did have a wonderful time," Mrs. Eede says—then she quickly added, "but when I heard that another warning had been sounded out there this week, I was very glad we were at home."

On Thursday in New York City, Miss Vivian R. Chan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Chan, 835 Queens Avenue, Victoria, will receive an associate in applied science degree from the Fashion Institute of Technology, a two-year community college under the program of the State University of New York. The college is sponsored by the board of education of New York City in co-operation with the educational foundation of the apparel industry. Miss Chan's mother and sister Benita, left last Saturday by jet to attend the graduation ceremony. En route they visited relatives in Toronto and after spending two weeks in New York will return by way of Los Angeles to visit friends. Miss Chan will remain in New York where she has accepted a position as assistant designer with a negligee company.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace-over taffeta that featured a large white taffeta bow on front of gown. A tiara of pearls held the shoulder-length veil. She carried a white missal, topped with red roses and stephanotis.

Empire Style Lace Gown Worn By Miss Woods on Wedding Day

Chantilly lace in rose point design formed the lovely floor-length Empire line gown worn by Dolores Woods for her recent marriage to Robert Neville Brown in St. George The Martyr Church. The elbow-length veil was held by a headpiece of seed pearls. Her bouquet was of pink sweetheart roses and carnations.

NEW JERSEY BASE

Bomarc Blaze Starts A-Scare

McGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N.J. (CP) — A needle-nosed Bomarc-A, battle-ready with an atomic warhead in its concrete launching pen, caught fire Tuesday, touching off a radiation scare.

The anti-aircraft missile was badly damaged and some radiation seeped out of its nuclear tip.

First reports were that there was a threat of heavy radiation in the remote pinelands around the base just to the east of here, but the United States Air Force later said the radioactivity — and a slight amount at that — was confined to the badly damaged launching pen.

Ironically, the explosion here came as a congressional subcommittee in Washington was reported ready to restore the $294,000,000 for Bomarc production cut out by the House of Representatives when it passed President Eisenhower's defence budget earlier this spring.

NEW WORRY

That cut had caused fears in Canada of an end to the Bomarc program altogether. Now there are indications that a new worry — that of Canadian-American plans to store atomic warheads at or near the Canadian bases — will supersede the previous controversy over the Bomarc-B's effectiveness.

The air force said the Bomarc caught fire as it nestled unattended in its concrete launching shelter, one of 54 at this missile base.

First there was apparently a small explosion in the fuel system and then fire broke out, an air force spokesman said.

Firemen put out the fire 45 minutes after it started.

Decontamination men clad in special clothing resembling green long underwear checked the Bomarc base with geiger counters. The air force then gave an all-clear for the area.

CANADA STILL DICKERING ON WARHEADS

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated today that Canada and the United States are still negotiating an agreement on storage in this country of nuclear warheads for the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile.

Opposition Leader Pearson asked in the Commons whether it is government's policy to store nuclear warheads for the Bomarc in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had nothing to add to what he had said on previous occasions. The question of storage had not been determined.

Paul Hellyer, Liberal defence critic, said Tuesday night in an interview that the Bomarc mishap at McGuire air force base earlier in the day points up the need for a complete investigation into Canadian-American plans to store nuclear warheads for the Bomarc in Canada.

$600 Million Hike in U.S. Defence Cost

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Senate subcommittee on defence appropriations Tuesday proposed a boost of more than $600,000,000 in U.S. defence spending for the next fiscal year.

Senator Dennis Chavez, subcommittee chairman, said more increases will likely follow today — including funds for the continued development of Bomarc-B missiles, an integral part of Canada's defence planning.

Should the Senate and House of Representatives concur with the subcommittee's recommendation, the total of U.S. defence spending would climb more than $1,000,000,000 beyond the $49,300,000,000 originally proposed by the Eisenhower administration.

IN DETECTIVE OFFICE

Swig of Gin Ruled 'Wrong But Legal'

Sneaking a swig from a gin bottle in the Saanich detective office is wrong but not an offence of drinking in a public place.

Charles Wesley Johnson, 21, of 1157 Johnson, was charged with consuming liquor in public, an offence under the Government Liquor Act, but after he pleaded not guilty and a trial was held in Saanich police court Tuesday, Magistrate William Ostler dismissed the charge.

Johnson was among a group of young men picked up in connection with another matter shortly after midnight May 15. He subsequently was found guilty of assault and sentenced to 20 days in jail.

LEFT ALONE

But while others were being questioned by police at Royal Oak police station, Johnson was left alone in the detective's office with its door open.

Within sight from a room across the hall was a juvenile also awaiting questioning, court was told.

Cons. George Dennison said he glanced through the open blind of the detective's office window as he walked up to a side door of the police station at 1.15 a.m. He saw Johnson look both ways out the detective's office door, turn and face the window.

"He took a mickey-size bottle from under his shirt, took the top off and drank. He then—quickly—put the top back on and put the bottle under his shirt," Cons. Dennison said.

The constable told Det. George Walton what he had seen and the detective asked Johnson for the bottle, saying, "You know better than that," court was told.

Johnson's reply was quoted: "Yes, I guess it was a stupid thing to do," and handed over the bottle.

Defence counsel Wally Lightbody argued that the office is not a public place and Magistrate Ostler agreed.

He said: "To be a public place I think it must be a place to which the public resort customarily, ordinarily, or to which the public have the right or access, or are invited—expressly or by implication—like the police charge office where people are not interfered with.

'NOT INTENTION'

"The question is, is the detective office public in that sense? I am unable to persuade myself that if the door were closed and the detectives were inside conducting some sort of business that people have the right to go in.

"I think it would be wrong of me to hold that the detective's office of the Saanich police is a public place, a holding which would allow people to go in at any time.

"I don't think that was the intention of the Legislature."

The magistrate added: "What he (Johnson) did, of course, was very wrong."

Leash Bylaw Delayed In Saanich

Saanich council Monday postponed until June 28 a vote on a controversial new dog bylaw.

The bylaw, which states that no dog is allowed to run at large and must be on a leash at all times, has been criticized by the Victoria branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The society has recommended a modified leash bylaw in areas which warrant it, such as business areas.

Council had to postpone passage of the bylaw because it had not yet been prepared.

Couns. Gregory Cook and George Austin said they would oppose any move to change it.

CHINA TO PASS RUSSIA AS INDUSTRIAL POWER

SEWAGE-SOAKED GROUND SPARKS SAANICH HEALTH HAZARD

Attack Ordered on Fly-Hit Area

Saanich council Tuesday ordered measures to stamp out a serious fly infestation arising from sewage-soaked ground in the Glenford area.

Dr. A. N. Beattie, health officer, reported a health hazard in the 4100 block of Birtles Avenue due to an infestation of flies which breed in sewage filters and ground saturated with sewer effluent.

He recommended the area be sprayed with DDT and oil.

Dr. Beattie described the insect as the "moth fly."

He said the fly did not attack food as the common household fly, but it could transfer disease to food by contact.

The only permanent control measure against the moth fly, he said, is to stop the saturation of ground with effluent.

British Guiana, the only British dependency on the mainland of South America, covers 83,000 square miles east of Venezuela.

Is The Horned Toad Related To The Garden Toad?

No, the horned toad is not related to the ordinary garden hop toad. Each of them has his own family tree and if the two of them could talk things over, they would both have plenty to brag about. The hop toad belongs to the class Amphibia and his family tree goes back some 340 million years. The horned toad is a lizard of the class Reptilia and his family tree is not quite so old by a few million years. However, there was a time when his ancient relatives ruled the world for more than 100 million years. At that time, the dominant animals were reptiles and the horned toad—who is really a horned lizard—can claim the mighty dinosaurs among his relatives.

At first glance, there are certain resemblances between the hop toad and the so-called horned toad. Both are squat, four-legged animals not more than a few inches long. Both have big, froggy mouths and both enjoy insect meat. You can spot one big difference at a glance. The horned lizard has a tail, sometimes a third as long as his body. The hop toad has no tail—in fact he is classed as a tailless amphibian.

The word amphibian is the key feature in the life of the hop toad. It means land and water and every toad must spend his kindergarten days in or near the water. Later he may desert his watery cradle and take to the fields and even the prairies. His ancestors may have been the first backboned animals to conquer life on the dry land. But they have always had to return to the water to lay their eggs. And the kindergarten days of every toad are spent as a fishy little tadpole.

The lizards learned to cope with the dry land later than the toads, but they did a better job of it. Certain horned toads lay 20 to 30 little white eggs in the ground.

Lizard Needs Little Water

There they hatch into miniature copies of their parents. Other horned toads give birth to live babies, maybe a dozen of them at one time. The only water needed by a horned toad is that which he laps from the dewy desert grasses.

The skin is another clue to the vast difference between these two look-alikes. The toad has a clammy skin. The horned lizard is covered with scales. For this reason, the hop toad cannot stand long periods of drought. He soon becomes dried out. The horned lizard loves dry desert weather and he is not comfortable when the temperature is below 70 degrees. Wherever you find a horned lizard, his color matches his background. Those that live in sandy soil are mottled with pale tans, those that live in red soil are red. There they squat with their fringes of spikes merging with the ground, hoping that you will not notice them.

When captured, both the hop toad and the horned lizard make fascinating pets. The garden toad needs a moist, cool home and the horned lizard likes a warm, dry copy of his favorite desert. Both eat live insects, which shows that in the wild, both these can be rated as our friends.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS
IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats . . . actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats . . . for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Remember, Carter's not only relieve irregularity, but actually improve the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

LAS VEGAS — Sophie Tucker and Ted Lewis, representing 109 years of show business 57 and 52 years respectively opened as a team at the Las Vegas Riviera before a crowd that was unusual —even for that mad village.

It included 57 couples admitted free because they'd been married at least 50 years —representing in their own right more than 3,000 years of married life, a pretty horrifying total any way you look at it. They were all invited on the stage and loudly applauded for their togetherness.

The Riviera had no billing battle between the two stars because they're close friends, but, taking no chances, it advertised them as "Mr. and Mrs. Show Business," with the lady —meaning Sophie— usually mentioned first in the ads, but Ted alternating.

SOPHIE TUCKER
. . . 57 years a trouper

Ted, in the introduction of the show says: "I hope you like my mother and me." And in a "romantic scene" later he is unable to get his arm around Sophie. She sings one song, advising young wives to remember that they are their husband's sweethearts, "or their husbands may find others."

"Colleges are teaching how to make love to your husband or your wife," chants Sophie. "But I'm doing all right and I never took a lesson in my life."

Insult Champ Jack E. Leonard plays Hollywood for the first time, opening today at the Cloisters (with Dean Martin, Bing Crosby, and other stars expected to be there to get ribbed). Jack made a couple of movies there which, he says, "played drive-out theatres."

Greta Garbo's cousin, Karen Gustafson, just made it as first woman conductor of a B'way musical ("Destry") and some of the musicians prefer her to male conductors. (I know I would!) Tall, blonde and willowy, she's from the Cincinnati College of Music, formerly was pianist with Dave Appollon, is normally ass't. conductor—and took over at "Destry" when John Paessaretti had an operation. She's a single girl in a wolves' den.

"It's hard to think of 1960, and Bobby Darin, Paul Anka, Annette Funicello, and Frankie Avalon, getting to be part of 'the old time,' says Wynn Lassner..

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . . Jackoe Gleason tore a ligament in his leg, may be out of "Take Me Along" for a week. (His capable understudy is Jack Collins) . . . Elvis Presley's had some Las Vegas dates with Juliette Prowse, Frank Sinatra's gal . . . Kim Novak, in black wig and escorted by a Latin, bought $145 worth of discs at the Colony Record Shop . . . Burt Lancaster says he'll fight censorship of his "Elmer Gantry."

Joe E. Lewis says the new American slogan seems to be: "Spy Now, Pay Later" . . . At Basin St. East: Rex Harrison and Tammy Grimes . . . Jonie Lee McFadden, widow of the physical culturist Bernarr McFadden, rehearsing a cafe act . . . Dick Shawn signed a five-year 20th Century-Fox contract, will do "State Fair" . . . Comic Henny Youngman's son Gary will make his screen debut in "Rip Van Winkle."

EARL'S PEARLS: "For every light on B'way"—Sammy Kaye tells me—"there's a heck of an electric bill."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle sighed that she'd be a perfect 36—if only she could raise her IQ a few points.

WISH I'D WRITTEN THAT: "I was accidentally introduced to actor Robert Wagner, an event that left us both wracked with yawns."—Doris Lilly.

A fellow told how he knew it was time to go on a diet: "I noticed I was puffing even when I walked down stairs." That's earl, brother.

9 IN MEMORIAM

BETHELL—In loving memory of James Bethell who passed away June 8, 1959.

Sweet are the memories silently kept,
Of one we loved and will never forget.
No length of time can take away
Our thoughts of you from day to day.

—Ever remembered by his loving wife and family.

GRIMSTON—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Jack, who passed away June 8, 1951.

The years are quickly passing,
Still in memory you are with us always.

—Ever remembered by Mum, Francie, George and family.

HAYWARD—In loving memory of dear Jack, a devoted husband, father and poppa, who fell asleep suddenly June 8, 1949.

All his kind, endearing ways,
In thought are with us still,
And in the hearts of those he loved,
He lives and always will.
Though absent he is ever near,
Still loved, still missed, very dear.

—Lovingly remembered by his wife Maud, also Alf and Gene, Gordon and Vera and granddaughters Heather, Diane and Juanita.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

One of the first rules a beginner learns is to cover an honor with an honor. A little later he is taught to play third hand high.

Opening lead—♠ 8

Both of these rules are good ones. Both should be followed most of the time, but like all rules in bridge there are plenty of exceptions to them.

In particular you should violate any one when you can clearly see that it is to your advantage to do so.

Now take a look at the East hand. South arrives at three no-trump in spite your spade overcall and your partner opens the eight of spades. The jack is played from dummy and your first impulse is to put on your king. After all, you are playing third hand high and covering an honor with an honor at one and the same time.

However, if you are wide awake you will violate both rules and merely play the 10 under dummy's jack.

Now see what happens. Declarer can run off four diamond tricks and two heart tricks if he wishes, but eventually he will have to try the club finesse. Your partner will take his king and lead the three of spades to you, whereupon you will set the contract.

If you had gone up with the king of spades you would make your ace and king of spades and your partner his king of clubs, but that would be all. There would be no way to cash the rest of your spade suit.

Western RED CEDAR Bevel SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln dried siding is the finest available—a quality material for all applications where perfection is required:

THE LUMBER
Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, lightweight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood. It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for glueing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY
Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heartwood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING CHARACTERISTICS
Left exposed without paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen. It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES
Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly used soft woods—another point in its favor as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

Hour of Classical Music at 9; Three New Series Make Debut

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THE WEEKEND—First off the bat, a kudos for the director and all those taking part in GM Presents' Sunday night drama, "Inquest," by John Whelan.

The reason for my happiness with the hour-long show stems — if Mr. Whelan will forgive me — not so much from the contents of the play as the air surrounding it. That is to say, I found stars Sheppard Strudwick, Norma Renault and their supporting players most believable which, previously, was far from the case with CBC plays of this nature.

Now I have found that Canadians are mostly excellent in "costume" pieces, documentary-style dramatizations of historic figures and events, droll plays, satires and fantasy. But when it comes to cops, robbers and drama about everyday, contemporary affairs an air of unreality, of play-acting rears its ugly head to mar the entire production.

This was not so in "Inquest." It was believable from start to finish and, therefore, thoroughly engrossing. In fact it was so believable that when playwright Whelan stretched a point by having an eight-year-old commit the shooting I was quite prepared to go along with it and admit that "it could happen" and even allow for a fluke shot that could hit such a small target as a man's neck.

In credibility "Inquest" can take its place alongside some of the CBC's best television contemporary drama presented over the past years.

May the length of time between them be shortened considerably by the maturing art of Canadian dramatists.

★ ★ ★

ANOTHER THING that pleased me over the weekend was the inclusion of Channel 11 into the CBS-TV network. Because of it we were able to see some old favorites such as Perry Mason and What's My Line again—not to mention Sunday morning's baseball game.

★ ★ ★

WHILE VIEWING TED MACK'S Amateur Hour Monday night I began to feel a trifle jealous of the U.S. Production. Why can't our Talent Caravan contain some of the same sparkle and genuine hustle-bustle? And they jam so many more acts into the half-hour. Or at least it seems that way. And the talent on view!

Now I have no complaint with our own emcee, George Murray. He is becoming more relaxed and sure with each show. But I have a beef with the arrangers some weeks. Surely the acts can be mixed up a bit more to offer greater variety? Do they all have to be singers one night and, seemingly, all instrumentalists on others? Has Canada no aspiring dancers, jugglers, contortionists or fire-eaters with which to balance the shows?

And another thing: Host Murray sings so richly and enchantingly that he makes most contestants look as though they should have been viewers. How about a "George Murray Show?"

★ ★ ★

JACK KANE was in good form again Monday eve. His is a show of which all Canadians can take pride. It is the equal or better than the bulk of comparable shows from south of the border.

SEA OF SUDS DOWNED BY A THIRSTY WORLD

LONDON (Reuters) — Last year was a thirsty year — it took 8,385,000,000 gallons of beer to slake the world's thirst.

The British Brewers Society reported Tuesday that never before had so much beer been needed to solve the dry throat problem.

Beer sold in the world last year totalled 431,000,000 gallons more than in 1958.

The biggest total increase was in the United States, where they drank 65,000,000 more gallons of beer in 1959 than in 1958.

But on a man-to-man basis, the Americans weren't in it. That's a title the Belgians have held for years. They guzzled beer last year at a rate of 26 gallons per person.

Negro Singer Suffers Insults by Fascists

LONDON (UPI) — Negro entertainer Sammy Davis, Jr., wept today over insults from British Fascists who told him to "Go home, Nigger" at the end of his night club act.

Demonstrators met Davis Tuesday night outside the Pigalle, where he has a $12,000 a week engagement, and heaped abuse on him for his plans to marry Swedish actress May Britt, 24.

Davis, 34, tearfully described the demonstration as "the most savage racial attack I have ever come across."

About 30 followers of Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader and head of a "Keep Britain White" campaign, waved banners at Davis.

They said: "Go home, Nigger," "Sammy, back to the trees, says Mosley," and "Get divorced first, Slag." (Slag is an uncomplimentary term for a white woman who associates with Negroes.)

As Davis rode away in his chauffeur-driven limousine, the demonstrators followed in a loudspeaker truck and repeated their slogans.

Touch of Hawaii In City Saturday

Hawaii invades Victoria this Saturday.

Wonderfully-wiggling skirts and the music of the islands will be presented in the Royal Polynesian Revue in two hours of appeal for old Hawaii hands and for those who have yet to visit the 50th state.

The show—which had spectators refusing to leave even when entertainment ended in Portland and Tacoma—starts at 8.30 p.m. at Memorial Arena.

Victoria is fortunate in having the 18-person troupe of talent for its first Canadian appearance.

Ray Kinney, Hawaii's most outstanding entertainer also will perform. He has recorded more than 520 records and been three years with the Hawaiian Room of New York's Hotel Lexington. He is entertainment director of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel.

The entire presentation will be "true—authentic" Hawaii.

Featured will be the new sining "sensation," Ah Quin, discovered by Kinney.

The show promises excitement and fun in the one-night stand here.

THIEF NAMES MAN WHO GOT LOREN JEWELS

LONDON (Reuters) — A prisoner in London's Pentonville jail Tuesday named the man he thought was behind the theft of jewels worth £185,000 from Italian movie star Sophia Loren.

He said he and another man had planned to "work" the Elstree area, London's film colony, but he was arrested before the idea could be put into operation.

He said he believed, however, the other man had gone ahead with the plan.

HE'S BLIND BUT HIS EARS ARE SHARP

Piano Tuner Strikes Sour Note When Talking About Pesky Mice

By TONY DICKASON

Clifford B. Hinder, 70, has a career noted for music and mice.

Though blind — he can distinguish between light and dark — he possesses a shade-astute tonal ear.

Mr. Hinder tunes pianos.

His "ping-ping-ping-ping" on individual keys has echoed from thousands of pianos during 40 years of "knowing the notes".

"Mice," he says—a bit off-key because they annoy him—" are a real drawback. Why? Because they use the felt in the piano works for beds."

DOESN'T HELP

Mice have been known to build nests under keyboards or in piano bowels, of such varigated trappings as Christmas decorations, and old, crushed walnut shells.

This does not improve piano performance.

Mr. Hinder started his music-listening career with parlor gramophones. He repaired them.

This was on arrival in Victoria, when he was employed with Jim Fletcher, father of Walter Fletcher, who operates a piano sales business today on Douglas Street.

BRISK SMILE

Though theoretically "retired" five years ago, Mr. Hinder still does work, on the premises, for Fletchers. And he buses to work, from 1337 George, near Ross Bay, white cane and brisk smile his travelling stock-in-trade.

It was the older Fletcher who gave Mr. Hinder the tuning training; allowed him to go East to the factory and see pianos coming off assembly, and to bang them to his ear's content.

"I haven't perfect pitch," Mr. Hinder says, "But give me one note and I can get all the others."

Without actually saying so, Mr. Hinder indicated he is a mechanic of music, rather than a frustrated musician, though he played years ago before his eyesight failed.

"Tuning is entirely different from having an ear for music," he states.

DON'T KNOW

Some accredited musicians, many teachers, don't know when a piano is on or off key.

"Though I wouldn't like to run down the profession."

He emphasizes that the average piano teacher should explain to pupils the "mechanics" of piano performance. Few do.

For hostesses who shudder when a guest "bangs" at her imported grand: lady, relax.

Hard hits don't hurt the tone or cause "flats." In fact, if a blow to the keyboard with a doubled fist damages, time to have the piano repaired.

HALLS WORST

Country community halls, said the tonal-maestro, are the worst for pianos.

They are not tuned, are soaking wet in winter in unheated environs, and bone-dry in summer.

A piano should be tuned once yearly; if new, two or three times the first year.

Tuning when a piano is new is to get it "set." This accomplished, the tenor is established.

Some pianos, regardless of the breed, are "mavericks," just like certain cars.

These misfits can be tuned and tuned, and still not "catch."

Despite the age of electronics, painos have yet to take a back seat, he maintains, in home popularity.

This is because today's parents still want their offspring to establish a modicum of performing "culture" before they wind up pushing buttons for kicks.

In the listening-musical life of Victoria, Mr. "Hinder" has not done so.

IN MANITOBA

'Bingo Menaces Town'

TRANSCONA, Man. (CP)—A former councillor in this railroad town seven miles east of Winnipeg says bingo-playing is menacing the welfare of the town.

E. P. Staszenski told a council meeting Monday that bingo-playing has killed sports activities and is responsible for most of the vandalism in Transcona. Parents "all rush off to bingo—It's killing every bit of sport there is left."

If council doesn't abolish it, he said, "I am going to endorse crown and anchor and crap games on Main Street of some vacant lot and have the proceeds go towards the stadium commission."

Mayor Thomas Copeland backed Mr. Staszenski up, attacking the Manitoba attorney-general's department for "turning their backs on bingo as being a minor crime."

Council turned the matter over to its police commission.

Two FOR THE Show

BB (Worthwhile)
C (To Put in Time)

(A) "STREET OF SHAME" (Plaza) — A motion picture dealing with the indelicate subject of prostitution necessarily must be handled very delicately indeed if it is to be objective and avoid sensationalism.

And that is exactly how the late great Kenji Mizoguchi of Japan, remembered so well for his "Ugetsu," handled "Street of Shame," his last picture and one that won him a Venice Film Award.

What makes it worthwhile is its underlying seriousness. Really it is a study of conditions in Japan that, at the time the picture was released, had some half-million prostitutes. It is said that because of the impact of "Street of Shame" millions were persuaded to support the stop prostitution bill that was passed in 1956.

Through six girls Mizouguchi shows that life in a brothel is less yen and saki than tears and torment. One woman, a widow, for instance, has sacrificed herself for the purpose of rearing and educating her son. Another is there because of her ill husband and baby. Yet another would return to her rustic lover and settle down on the farm.

On the other hand the film is honest enough to show that there are those who have made prostitution a career designed cold-bloodedly to make money and thus further their chances of a better life in a life that wasn't much at the outset. One of these is Machiko Kyo, a tough gum-chewing babe, in lace undies who looks far removed from the sedate actress of "Rashomon" and "Gate of Hell."

* * *

IN ADDITION to the sensitive direction and competent acting, "Street of Shame" is blessed with unerring camera-work. The black-and-white film picks up the hustle-bustle of the street as the girls of Dreamland rush out to importune passing males, imparting in passing the street's coldness, its tawdriness and brutality that even its blinking, beckoning lights can't hide anymore than they can charm.

"Street of Shame" has something difficult to say that needs saying and says it well.

New Stage Planned At Sidney

Enthusiasm in the Sidney area for Victoria Symphony concert series inaugurated last year is at such a pitch that Sidney-ites are determined to build a stage in Sanscha Hall to improve facilities for the orchestra and ensure continuance of the series next season.

A major effort toward fund-raising will be made Friday evening at 8.15 at North Saanich High School auditorium when the Sidney committee of the Victoria Symphony Society will sponsor a performance of the popular Wynne Shaw Ballet Workshop, an intriguing demonstration of ballerinas in the making.

Debut Tonight For Gifted Boy

Tonight an exceptionally gifted young Victorian will make his solo recital debut at Christ Church Cathedral.

He is David Palmer who, at 16, is already a full-time church organist, holding that post at St. Paul's Anglican Church in Esquimalt.

Richard Proudman, David's present teacher, is presenting the keen young student in recital at this time for two purposes — to demonstrate the outstanding progress he has made and to help swell the recently opened fund for David's future musical education abroad.

COLLECTION

To this end a collection will be taken. In addition donations may be made at any time through E. J. Chaloner, 1049 Craigdarroch Road, who is acting as treasurer of the fund.

It is hoped that in two or three years this fund will have grown sufficiently to allow this exceptional fine musician and fine scholar an opportunity to study at one of the leading English universities.

Tonight at 8, David Palmer will play the following program:

Variations on "Under the Linden Tree,"	Sweelinck
"Jig" Fugue in C	Buxtehude
Tune for the Flutes	Stanley
Prelude and Fugue in D Major	J. S. Bach
Two Chorale Preludes	Brahms
Psalm-Prelude	Howells

—RCN Photo

NAVY JOINS SEARCH TEAM

Naval helicopter from VU-33 Utility Squadron at Patricia Bay airport left this morning to join the search for Cecil Rawlings, possibly to assist removal of the body of the missing man's nephew as its first mission. The big Piasecki 'chopper was called into the search by RCAF rescue co-ordination centre. Another RCN helicopter was held on standby in case the centre requested reinforcements for ferry and search work.

'Haven't Given Up' Say RCMP

Small ground parties supported by aircraft continued a fast-moving hunt today for missing Cecil Rawlings on the assumption he is still alive.

No men have been diverted yet for an inch-by-inch type of combing operations that would be needed to find a body hidden in the thick underbrush or 200-foot treetops around the wrecked Seabee amphibian in which Cecil Rhodes died May 29.

"A lot of effort has been put in by the men in the crash area in searches for both a live man or a body but it is not beyond the ream of possibility that if there is a body there, it has been missed," said RCMP Insp. William Gerrie, who visited the scene Wednesday.

Meanwhile, film processors in Toronto were working rapidly to develop some Kodachrome color film taken from Rawlings' camera — still the only solid clue that indicates he may have survived the accident.

DONE BY TONIGHT

RCMP officials were informed that the film would be processed by tonight and a description of the 13 exposures would be sent here immediately by teletype.

If any of the frames shows a picture of the wrecked Seabee, that could be proof that Rawlings lived through the aircraft's fatal plunge and left the camera hanging on a windfall 1,200 feet away from the wreck while trying to walk out.

A cairn of stones, with a directional stick, was found by a Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry team near Hitchie Lake Tuesday but it turned out to be a timber-cruiser's reference point, RCMP said.

Today's search concentrated on the shores and western end of Hobiton Lake where soft-soled shoe prints were found earlier that might have been made by Rawlings if he survived the crash on a heavily-forested slope about 1½ miles west of Nitinat Lake.

The co-owners of C & C Transportation Ltd. flew to Nitinat Lake May 29 for a one-day fishing trip. Rhodes' body was found near the wreck June 4. Rawlings is missing.

POINT BOTH WAYS

Mystery surrounds his fate with conflicting clues pointing at both his survival and his death.

"We are working on the conjecture that he is still alive,"

CLAUDE JAMES (JIMMY) CREED
. . . 70-foot plunge to death

Tragedy Mars Island Search

BY JOHN MIKA

The wild Nitinat Valley claimed its second known victim Tuesday night when a nephew of missing Cecil Rawlings was killed accidentally after exhausting himself in the search.

Dead is Claude James (Jimmy) Creed, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Creed, 7054 Beach Drive, Brentwood.

Married a year ago, he celebrated his 23rd birthday only a week ago.

70 FEET

He died in a 70-foot plunge when the cable of an RCAF helicopter snapped while he was being lifted to the hovering aircraft.

Creed and his father, a famed Brentwood fishing guide who operates Creed's Landing boathouse, both had been participating in the search since Sunday as handlers of Mr. Rawlings' hunting dog.

But father and son were in separate areas when the accident happened.

The younger Creed, who was very attached to his sportsman uncle, apparently drove himself relentlessly during the search through the mountainous rain forest.

EXHAUSTED

He was spotted by an RCAF helicopter, piloted by Flt. Lt. P. T. Mathews, near dusk on Tuesday with a small search party. Creed apparently was lying down, exhausted, but the others waved the helicopter away.

Later, passing over the area again, the helicopter crew saw Creed lying alone apparently unconscious.

The helicopter hovered over the spot while a first-aid man was lowered by winch and cable. The first-aid man strapped the fishing guide onto the cable.

The cable snapped during the lifting operation and Creed fell about 70 feet.

Unable to use the cable equipment, the helicopter was forced by darkness to leave the area with the first-aid man remaining on the ground.

DIED QUICKLY

Creed was believed to have died almost immediately after the fall because the first-aid man apparently walked away from the scene during the night to make contact with a search party in the general vicinity.

A ground party set off from Tuck Lake, near Nitinat Lake, early this morning for the three-hour hike to the scene of the accident to bring out the body. Lake Cowichan coroner Dr. Edgar Gee authorized removal of the body. It was to be brought to Victoria later today.

McCall Brothers are making funeral arrangements.

INQUIRIES

An inquest will be held. Officials said the RCAF also will hold an inquiry.

Mr. Creed became well-known as a fishing guide when

PRINCE PHILIP
. . . flying visit

'Business Not Pomp' For Philip

TORONTO (UPI) — Prince Philip arrived at Malton Airport today for a whirlwind business trip to Toronto.

Philip arrived aboard a BOAC Comet jetliner from Ottawa, where he spent an informal evening Tuesday with Governor-General George Vanier at Government House.

Sunny skies greeted the Prince who was met by Ontario Premier Leslie Frost and Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay. There was none of the pomp and ceremony usually associated with royal visits.

After a brief welcome at the airport, Philip was driven to the Royal York Hotel in downtown Toronto. He rode in one of the open cars he and the Queen used last summer on their royal tour of Canada.

The half-hour ride to the city was about the only chance the public will have to catch a glimpse of the royal visitor.

The prince is here to confer with industrial and labor leaders on the problem of the individual in a changing industrial environment.

Peace R. 'Propaganda' Condemned by Fulton

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton today described as "unfortunate and inaccurate propaganda" a statement by the Peace River Power Development Company that there is unlikely to be power from the Columbia River before 1970.

He said in a Commons reply to H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West) that the "propaganda" against power development on the Columbia has been issued by those primarily interested in development of the Peace River in B.C.

Mr. Fulton said Canada and the United States now are close to agreement on Columbia power development. If there was a determination to reach an agreement, there was no reason one could not be arrived at in the near future.

Given that fact, Mr. Fulton added, power would be available from the Columbia an appreciable length of time before 1970.

FIRST "baby bonus" cheque as Canadian resident has been received by Gina Lollobrigida, who told reporters in Toronto today she will give the money to son Milko, Jr., 33 months, to buy "whatever he wants."

(See Page 6)

TORONTO (CP) — Police here said a United States sailor who once lived in Toronto is being sought for questioning in connection with the slaying of a young woman whose body was found in a trunk Tuesday at Argentia, Nfld.

They said the RCMP in Newfoundland has tentatively identified the woman as Mrs. Francis Njegovan, 28, of St. John's, Nfld., who was married to a sailor at the U.S. naval base near Argentia 10 years ago.

The couple left Argentia in 1953 and lived in Toronto before they split up some years ago, investigators said.

Wheat Seeding Ended

OTTAWA (CP) — Wheat seeding is practically finished on the Prairies and growth generally is satisfactory, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Negroes Killed In S. Africa Clash

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Nine African Negroes were killed and 12 wounded Monday in a clash with police in the Flagstaff district, about 100 miles from Durban, officials said today.

Natives in the area put the number of dead at 15 and estimated 24 others were wounded. They said some bodies may have been carried into the hills with more wounded.

The clash came after a mob of natives armed with jungle knives looted a European trading station at Hlabati, officials said.

A large party of heavily-armed police, assisted by dogs and a spotter helicopter moved into the area. Police said the clash, including some hand-to-hand fighting, followed.

They added that after an exchange of shots, the natives raised a white flag and surrendered. There was no information on the number of arrests made.

New Quakes Jolt Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Two strong earth tremors shook quake-devasted southern Chile today.

The interior ministry said the tremors, grade 5 on the Richter scale, jarred the cities of Valdivia, Temuco, Osorno and Rio Negro and the surrounding area this morning.

No casualties were reported, the ministry said, but some buildings damaged in a previous 18-day series of quakes and tidal waves collapsed.

BOMARC FUNDS RESTORED

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Senate subcommittee of defence appropriations today restored all of the funds requested by the U.S. Air Force for Bomarc-B missile production including the two squadrons destined for Canada.

TRADITION BROKEN

HALIFAX (UPI)—The Conservative forces of Premier Robert L. Stanfield won a tradition-breaking victory at the polls Tuesday night by capturing 27 of the 43 seats in the Nova Scotia house in their return to power.

In winning a second straight mandate, Stanfield accomplished what no other Tory leader had been able to do in the history of the province. The Conservatives won two elections in 1925 and 1930, but under two different leaders.

The Conservatives increased their holding in the legislature by three seats, while the Liberal strength dropped from 18 to 15 and the CCF hung on to their lone riding.

In a post election statement, Stanfield pledged his government to "work for all the people of Nova Scotia."

The 46-year-old leader expressed his pleasure at the fact that the people had returned all the members of his cabinet.

For Henry Hicks, 51, the former Liberal premier, it was a dual defeat. Hicks lost his constituency of Annapolis West to Hanson T. Dowell by the slim margin of 14 votes. It was likely that a recount would be held. Hicks had represented the riding since 1945.

RECORD VOTE PREDICTED IN SASK.

REGINA (UPI)—Saskatchewan residents went to the poll today in almost ideal weather that was expected to bring out a record vote.

Sunny skies and 65 to 75 degree weather, plus a steady stream to the polls indicated the turnout would be greater than in 1956 when 86 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots. Polls close at 7 p.m. local time (7 p.m. PDT).

At dissolution, the CCF held 36 seats, the Liberals 14 and the Social Credit three, for a total of 53.

CCF Quits Quebec Campaign

OTTAWA (UPI)—The CCF party, its bid to crack Nova Scotia smashed in Monday night's provincial election, has decided to withdraw entirely from the current Quebec election campaign, it was learned today.

The party, known as the Social Democrats in Quebec, had about six prospective candidates nominated for the June 22 election. It has had as many as 25 in the field in previous election, but has never won a seat.

A part spokesman said the decision to leave the contest to the Union Nationale and Liberal parties was taken "because we didn't feel the Quebec campaign would do our efforts to form the new party any good."

'Bump' Hits Springhill

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—A ground tremor, known to coal miners as a "bump," shook this northern Nova Scotia town this afternon. There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage, although buildings were shaken.

Vancouver Safe; 'Not Worth Bomb'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver's new co-ordinator of civil defence said Tuesday he didn't think the city would be hit by a nuclear weapon in a future war because "it wasn't worth it."

Group Captain Alexander Lewis, who took over from Air Vice-Marshal F. V. Heakes, said evacuation plans here were being scrapped for this reason.

He said plans for $300 survival shelters would be made available within a few weeks.

Two Jets Collide

CARROLLTON, Ill. (AP)—Two F-101B Voodoo jet fighters collided in mid-air, exploded and crashed in flames today, killing two of the four test pilots aboard.

B.C.'S QUAINT GEOGRAPHY

Nfld? That's Outer Space

OTTAWA (CP) — British Columbia certainly seems to have some odd ideas about geography.

The Pacific coast province—about as far west as you can go — Tuesday told the royal commission on transportation that Eastern Canada starts just east of the Rockies in Alberta.

Now, a B.C. spokesman says the United States is an overseas country.

These odd points of view arise out of a statistical table and a footnote in the B.C. brief to the six-man commission. One table grouped all of the country from Alberta to the Atlantic as Eastern Canada.

As a result, Arthur Mauro, counsel for Manitoba, redefined Canada's geography Tuesday for the commission. He said in B.C. eyes, Alberta is the Near East, Manitoba and Saskatchewan are the Middle East, Central Canada is the Far East.

And the Maritimes? That's the Orient, says Mr. Mauro.

Then he got onto a footnote that talked about lumber exports to overseas countries.

After some vocal skirmishing with Professor William Hughes, B.C. transportation economist, it turned out the chief overseas country was the United States.

Principal Killed, PTA Leader Held

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A suburban school principal was shot and killed with two blasts from a shotgun as he sat at his desk today.

GENEVA (UPI)—Britain declared today that unsupervised nuclear disarmament, even if sincerely carried out, would be a "false illusion" which could lead to war within a year.

British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore declared at the 10-nation disarmament conference that the destruction of nuclear weapons would not destroy the knowledge needed to make them.

Ormsby-Gore said that mere agreement to destroy nuclear weapons and the means of delivering them, as proposed by Russia, would "build false hopes and give false illusions."

"War could start within a year if someone could make another bomb," he said.

Coin-Laundry Craze Goes Big

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Malone

A woman elegantly clad in a luxurious fur coat parked her Cadillac in front of a Cook Street business recently. She stepped out carrying a huge bundle of laundry, walked briskly into a launderette, separated her soiled clothes into four washes, placed each in a different machine; deposited four quarters and walked out.

Swap the furs for jeans, skirts or uniforms and the Caddie for a Ford, Morris or motorcycle, multiply the occurrence hundreds of times a day and you have a picture of one of the fastest growing enterprises in Canada — the coin-operated laundry.

A year ago there wasn't one in Victoria. The first opened in July. Tuesday there were 10 in Victoria. Today there are 12. In Vancouver a year ago there was none. In February there were 32. Today there are 50.

The "do-it-yourself" laundry craze has meant many things to many people. It has allowed housewives to have their washing and drying done quickly and cheaply while they shop. It has saved the husband a few hundred dollars outlay for automatic home equipment.

LARGEST IN CANADA

For Charles White, a slender, 34-year-old transplanted American, it has meant becoming a small business tycoon overnight. In 11 months his firm, the largest coin-washer company in Canada, has had gross sales of $1,500,000.

In his comfortable yet hardly splashy office, Charley White told how a young civil engineer with a radio and business background became involved in the coin-laundry business.

"I always wanted to be a Canadian. Made many trips to Victoria when I was living in Portland. I bought in to CHEK-TV and then sold my interest to Bill Rea. (Some say the price was $75,000.) I love fishing and decided to turn the hobby into a business.

"I started a de luxe cruiser-hire operation at Sidney. Some of my customers were important U.S. and Canadian businessmen. I had noticed the trend to coin-laundries in the States. One day I sat down and wrote to the vice-president of the Maytag washer company whom I had taken fishing."

Of all Charley White's casts, the B.C. franchise he hooked from Maytag proved to be his biggest catch.

Starting out Charley White elected to play it straight. No juke-boxes. No washrooms. Each layout must have wide front windows to give a full view of the well-lighted interior. All these factors were designed with one thing in mind—elimination of any morality problems.

"There are many dangers attached to any 24-hour establishment — drunks sleeping, a couple necking, loitering. So far we haven't had any trouble," he says.

Essentially his business is the selling of commercial coin-operated washers and gas dryers to private operators or syndicates. The main requirement: about $7,000 down. Total cost is about $21,000. Actually White's control goes further. He rules on location, discards would-be investors with shady reputations.

Properly run, a launderette can return the operator's investment in two to three years. In any business hitting that kind of jackpot in that time is little short of sensational.

NO EXPERIENCE

No experience is necessary. Operators include doctors, drilling contractors, labor counsellors, butchers, bank managers, druggists, shoe store men, machinists. The clientele covers an even broader range.

Most of the business is done in the evenings and on weekends. Some groups working to midnight have found the same faces at the next coin washer after work, often at 1 or 2 a.m.

Tourists love launderettes. White recalls that last summer a group followed the Tally-Ho to locate a launderette he operates on Cook—off the beaten tourist traffic path.

White estimates that 2,500 Victorians use coin-washers. When he started he predicted that there would ultimately be 25 launderettes in the metropolitan area.

He is aware of the danger of over-saturation. But he says: "Frankly we don't know what the saturation point is."

So keen is the craze that one investor gave White $250,000 to set up 10 launderettes on Vancouver Island. Six are in operation—one in Victoria. He calls the chain "Pink Elephant Coin Laundries."

Of the two opening today, an interest in one is held by Mrs. Evelyn Diamond, Mr. White's secretary.

"It shows," he said, "the appeal coin washers have."

Is he one of his own best customers?

"You bet," he said. "We have an automatic laundry set at home. But once a week my wife uses the coin-washers. Gets the job done quickly and gives her more time to shop."

VICTORIA—Banks buying U.S. cheques 2⅛ per cent discount. Cash at 2¾ per cent discount. Silver at 4¼ per cent. Selling cheques at 1⅝ per cent discount. Cash at 1¼ per cent.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Profit-Taking Hits Stock at New York

Rails advanced on an active, generally higher New York market today but steels and motors underwent profit-taking.

Gains of about a point were made by New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern and Illinois Central. Profits were taken on such stocks as U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors and Ford.

At Toronto the market was losing ground under pressure against industrials.

AT TORONTO Dominion Foundries led the pressure against industrials with a drop of ⅞ at 44⅛, with Interprovincial Pipe and Weston "B" off ½ at 57 and 34½, and Algom Steel and Canada Iron off ¼ at 34 and 18¼.

International Nickel depressed the mines with a 1-point loss at 54.

Western oils had the unusual role of leading a lower market, with Calgary and Edmonton up ¼ at 15⅞ and Bailey Selburn up 15 cents at $5.95.

AT NEW YORK on the Canadian list, Aluminium Ltd. and Canadian Pacific were up ¼ each.

Among Canadian stocks on the American exchange Shawinigan rose ⅛.

AT MONTREAL the stock exchange remained fractionally ahead in light trading today.

AT LONDON prices eased in light trading on the stock exchange today.

Gilt-edged securities were depressed by fears of possible selling by the banks in order to meet their mid-June special deposit committments.

Things Are Looking Up, Up, Up in a Little Bit of Old England

A-hem, gentlemen . . . a-high-hem, that is! Yes, the new London Look appeared on the streets of "a little bit of old England" on Tuesday, and goodness, skirts alive, it made an impression! For the first time in many a moon "a little bit of old England" sat up, took notice, and came out with a variety of reaction—as shown in this series of candid camera shots by Times photographer Bill Halkett who stood off a distance with telephoto lens. No. 1: Boys will be boys; No. 2: Humph! the last resort; No. 3: Oh no! Not that ! ! ! No. 4: What gives? Good-sport sales girl from local department store was model for the London Look which her employers made up specially for the "little bit of old England" reaction test. She strolled the streets window-shopping and found 30 minutes of display was about all she could take. "I felt like I should be carrying a baseball bat," she laughed. Stores expect stocks of the London Look to arrive in two or three weeks . . . baseball bat stores, take note . . .

MONTE ROBERTS

In case you are wondering what I have been doing for the past few days, what I have been doing is not working.

There is nothing I love more dearly than not working for a few days, especially when I live in this, the fairest city of them all.

Not working for a few days while living in Victoria is purely wonderful, because there is so much to do, and so many places to see.

But one should be careful not to waste any non-working days, and thus careful planning is essential if one is to enjoy not working to the fullest.

As an example, on my first day to not work, I laid careful plans to drive out to Goldstream, there to enjoy a picnic lunch, to relax beside the bubbling waters, and to watch the sunlight filter through the overhanging trees.

Carrying out my plans almost to the letter, I arose long before noon—well, an hour before, anyway—and began to prepare my picnic lunch.

Opening the refrigerator door to obtain the ingredients for the picnic lunch, I noticed with satisfaction that the bottles of sarsaparilla were nicely coated with frost. To make sure the contents had not spoiled over night, I took the top off one of the bottles and tested for quality. Mmmmmm.

Pretty soon, I had the picnic lunch prepared and it was time for bed.

However, this did not deter me from continuing to plan how to spend my days to not work. The next day, I planned to go to Thetis Lake Park, and take a long, invigorating hike through the countryside, and breathing deeply of the invigorating air as I strode along, chin in, chest out, arms swinging.

That day, I awoke early, eager to be out and about, exercising in the fresh air.

Fortunately, it rained all day.

So I sat in the kitchen, planning how to spend the rest of my days off, considering the relative merits of Beacon Hill Park and Mount Tolmie, of Canoe Cove and the Sooke Foothills, until suddenly . . .

Here I am, fresh out of days to not work.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Accidents are increasing at a greater rate than the number of vehicles on the roads in B.C.

Figures released today by the Motor Vehicles Branch show an increase in all types of traffic accidents during the first quarter of this year.

There have been 53 deaths—a 47 per cent jump from last year—up to the end of March.

There were 6,411 accidents altogether, up 13 per cent.

There was a rise of only 5 per cent in the number of motor vehicle licences granted. There are 475,672 licensed B.C. vehicles.

Officials of the annual YWCA sponsored summer camp at Saxe Point in Esquimalt said today there are 10 more openings for the two-week annual session starting July 4.

The camp will be held Monday through Friday until July 15 from 9 a.m. to 3.30 p.m. daily and is open to boys and girls from 8 to 11 years.

Registrations may be made at the YWCA, EV 4-7179.

No action has yet been taken to carry out city council's instructions to reduce the city staff by 10 per cent, Cecil Wyatt, city manager, said today.

Council on May 10 ordered a staff reduction to save expenditures.

Mr. Wyatt was replying to a letter from A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Labor Council, who wanted to know if men are being laid off.

Council is seriously concerned at plans for reducing the staff at a time when unemployment is of such high proportions in this area," Mr. Toone said.

First Vancouver Island branch of the Church of the International Spiritualist Alliance will be opened Sunday at 7.30 p.m.

Situated at 725 Courtney St., the new church will be formally dedicated by Rev. Gaulton Bishop and Rev. Doris Horning, attending on behalf of the international organization.

Only slight injuries were suffered by Jean-Paul Destrube, 764 Sea Drive, Tuesday when an accident at Wallace Drive almost totally destroyed his car.

Police said that about $1,500 damage was caused to the day-old small foreign car when it left the road in the 6100 block at 6.15 p.m. and rolled several times before coming to rest upside down near Tod Creek.

Mr. Destrube suffered a slight cut on the back of his head from the 317 foot ride.

The B.C. government has out a reserve on 33 acres at Alliford Bay in the Queen Charlottes, where the federal government plans to build a new wharf.

Cabinet approval has been given to holding the foreshore area there until the works department starts construction.

Sellers are urgently needed for the Multiple Schlerosis Society's Tag Day next Saturday. Volunteers are asked to phone Mrs. F. Nicol, chairman, at GR 9-1213.

B.C. river levels rose during wet May, but flood danger is slim—unless there's a heat wave:

The final snow-pack bulletin of the B.C. Water Rights Branch says cool, wet weather in May increased snow levels high on the Columbia, Kootenay, North Thompson and Fraser Rivers.

If there's a sustained hot period, the runoff "could cause a marked rise" in the rivers, says the report.

However, if temperatures remain normal, average run-off and river levels are expected.

PNR's Bid Covers 'First 100 Miles'

The Wenner-Gren Railway builders are applying for a certificate only to clear 100 miles of proposed track land.

The Pacific Northern Railway's application for a certificate of public convenience at a public hearing of the Public Utilities Commission June 21 makes only these requests:

To take over surveys and maps of the proposed 700-mile line to the Yukon border;

To undertake further surveys to complete mapping and planning;

To acquire rights to lands "on the first 100 miles";

To clear the first 100 miles.

PUC chairman Dr. H. F. Angus today confirmed the PNR application referred only to "preliminary work incidental to construction of a railway in northern B.C."

He said he didn't know if the PNR would elaborate on its plans at the hearing in Vancouver.

"It hasn't been explained to us," he said.

CCF Leader Robert Strachan—who will apply to present a brief at the hearing—today received notice from Dr. Angus that the hearing concerned "preliminary" work.

Under the Public Utilities Act the PUC may grant a certificate of convenience for only part of a project.

APPLY TO START

After the certificate is awarded the railway must apply to transport Minister Lyle Wicks for approval to start the work.

Under an agreement between Wenner-Gren Development (B.C.) Co. and the province the railway must be under construction by the end of June.

Apparently the PNR will seek further certificates for each stage of construction.

A railway engineer said it was quite possible the company would let contracts for each 100 miles. The initial application to the PUC might establish a principle of approval.

Mr. Strachan will appeal before the PUC as leader of the opposition.

NO POLITICIANS

Dr. Angus said earlier he would not accept political representations.

It's believed the Canadian National Railway may also appear. President Donald Gordon has offered to improve the CNR line between Hazelton and Prince Rupert which parallels part of the PNR, and make it available for PNR use.

This would mean the Pacific Great Eastern Railway would lose PNR traffic from its proposed junction at Summit Lake.

HOT WEATHER GOING BUT NOT FOR LONG

A little high pressure ridge which gave Victoria its balmy weather of the last few days is moving, but it has one more good day left before it departs, according to weatherman William Mackie.

Tonight will be clear, and there will be a little high cloud Thursday, but the day will be mostly sunny, he said.

"A little weather disturbance at the weathership today likely will give us a sprinkle of rain by Friday," he said. "Then we expect more good weather."

Official high temperature expected for today was 65 degrees, but it will reach 70 in sheltered areas away from the sea breeze, the weatherman said. Low tonight will be 48, and the maximum Thursday again will range between 65 and 70 degrees, depending on location.

'Free Dentists' For Pensioners

100% Support For Pilot Plan

Free dental care for Victoria old-age pensioners who do not qualify for social assistance has been offered on an experimental basis by Victoria and District Dental Society.

Details of the free service are being worked out by the association in conjunction with the Silver Threads organization.

There are some 15,000 old age pensioners in Greater Victoria, but only needy pensioners will be eligible. The service will provide free dentures and dental treatment as required.

"I have conferred with our members and they are 100 per cent behind the scheme," Dr. R. L. Horne, president of Victoria and District Dental Society, said today.

"It will be in the nature of a pilot plan operated only in Greater Victoria. But if it is successful the plan might be extended to cover the whole province."

Dr. Horne said Victoria dentists would not receive any financial assistance in operating the plan.

"There are a great many details to be worked out," he said, "and we are now conferring with officials of the Silver Threads service on how the plan can best be operated."

Dr. Horne said the association is also conferring with the College of Dental Surgeons of British Columbia, which is the licensing body.

"The college has been studying methods of assisting senior citizens for some time," he added.

A member of the Silver Threads service, to which most Victoria old age pensioners belong, said the original suggestion for the free dental service came from John Jeyes, who is chairman of a committee on hearing aids and dentures from members.

But no official statement was available from the association today.

Mid-July Start On New Block For University

Tenders have been called for the first construction work on the new University of Victoria master-plan.

Construction is expected to start in mid-July on a classroom and faculty block at the Mount Tolmie campus—with an estimated cost of $250,000.

Target for completion is November this year.

Tenders called by the B.C. public works department will be opened July 13.

The grass-fronted building will contain eight classrooms and 30 faculty offices. The faculty offices will be a "split-level" wing of the building. There will also be a book store.

This project is the first to go ahead since the university's $2.5 million public fund drive. The provincial government has promised to match public contributions dollar for dollar.

28 in 130 Cars Found Defective

A spot check of 130 cars in two hours last Friday night revealed 28 with mechanical defects, city police Chief John Blackstock said today.

The check point was conducted by city police with assistance from Oak Bay and Saanich at Hillside and Douglas between 9.30 and 11.30.

Further checks are to be made at intervals in future, Chief Blackstock said.

The announcement came with the annual police caution for greater motoring care during the holiday season.

BAD LIGHTS

Faulty headlights accounted for the largest number of defects in the cars checked—16 in all—followed by six with faulty brakes, five with no horn and one without windshield wiper.

The chief said police were interested primarily in ruling cut mechanical defects in this check.

He said drivers should be aware of the greater number of children on the streets, especially in playground areas, during the summer months.

And in holiday driving, tourists should not try to cover too much ground in a hurry, nor drive long hours, and always be considerate of other drivers.

The 1960 slogan of the Canadian Highway Safety Council is "Highway safety can make driving fun."

NEW WEN-GREN PLAN

Peace Power Co. Proposes Pool

VANCOUVER (CP)—The integration of Peace and Columbia rivers power developments was proposed today by the Peace River Power Development Company in an engineering report sent to provincial government officials in Victoria and federal experts in Ottawa.

The company said the report was prepared by R. L. Chantrill and Jack D. Stevens and proposes that the Peace-Columbia scheme be part of a huge international power pool to cover all of B.C., Calgary, Edmonton, Seattle, Tacoma, interior Washington State, Portland, Idaho, Utah and Montana.

The report, dated May, 1960, says B.C. now has 3,000,000 kilowatts of installed generation. It will need 10,000,000 kilowatts by 1975. New installation will cost $2,000,000,000.

It says the Peace and Columbia Rivers can produce 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 kilowatts each.

It says the Columbia won't be able to put out any power until 1970, mainly because of the problems involved in reaching agreement with the U.S. on co-operative development of the international river, which rises in Canada and flows into the Pacific after passing through Washington and Oregon.

Peace River Power Development Company proposes a $600,000,000 power development in northeastern B.C. to produce 4,000,000 kilowatts and plans to seek necessary permits in September for a start on construction.

The report says: "All power studies show conclusively that the Peace River project and other projects of a Pacific international power pool will complement each other so as to conserve resources, increase load-carrying capabilities and strengthen the firm energy structure of B.C. and the Pacific Northwest states."

The report says that by pooling the relatively cheap Columbia power with the Peace power a moderately-priced commodity would be made available throughout.

Fulton Blasts 'Propaganda'

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton today described as "unfortunate and inaccurate propaganda" a statement by the Peace River Power Development Company that there is unlikely to be power from the Columbia River before 1970.

He said in a Commons reply to H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West) that the "propaganda" against power development on the Columbia has been issued by those primarily interested in development of the Peace River in B.C.

Mr. Fulton said Canada and the United States now are close to agreement on Columbia power development. If there was a determination to reach an agreement, there was no reason one could not be arrived at in the near future.

Given that fact, Mr. Fulton added, power would be available from the Columbia an appreciable length of time before 1970.

TRADITION BROKEN

Big Tory Win In Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (UPI)—The Conservative forces of Premier Robert L. Stanfield won a tradition-breaking victory at the polls Tuesday night by capturing 27 of the 43 seats in the Nova Scotia house in their return to power.

In winning a second straight mandate, Stanfield accomplished what no other Tory leader had been able to do in the history of the province. The Conservatives won two elections in 1925 and 1930, but under two different leaders.

The Conservatives increased their holding in the legislature by three seats, while the Liberal strength dropped from 18 to 15 and the CCF hung on to their lone riding.

In a post election statement, Stanfield pledged his government to "work for all the people of Nova Scotia."

The 46-year-old leader expressed his pleasure at the fact that the people had returned all the members of his cabinet.

For Henry Hicks, 51, the former Liberal premier, it was a dual defeat. Hicks lost his constituency of Annapolis West to Hanson T. Dowell by the slim margin of 14 votes. It was likely that a recount would be held. Hicks had represented the riding since 1945.

RECORD VOTE PREDICTED IN SASK.

REGINA (UPI)—Saskatchewan residents went to the poll today in almost ideal weather that was expected to bring out a record vote.

Sunny skies and 65 to 75 degree weather, plus a steady stream to the polls indicated the turnout would be greater than in 1956 when 86 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots. Polls close at 7 p.m. local time (7 p.m. PDT).

At dissolution, the CCF held 36 seats, the Liberals 14 and the Social Credit three, for a total of 53.

CCF Quits Quebec Campaign

OTTAWA (UPI)—The CCF party, its bid to crack Nova Scotia smashed in Monday night's provincial election, has decided to withdraw entirely from the current Quebec election campaign, it was learned today.

The party, known as the Social Democrats in Quebec, had about six prospective candidates nominated for the June 22 election. It has had as many as 25 in the field in previous election, but has never won a seat.

A part spokesman said the decision to leave the contest to the Union Nationale and Liberal parties was taken "because we didn't feel the Quebec campaign would do our efforts to form the new party any good."

'Bump' Hits Springhill

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—A ground tremor, known to coal miners as a "bump," shook this northern Nova Scotia town this afternon. There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage, although buildings were shaken.

FIRST "baby bonus" cheque as Canadian resident has been received by Gina Lollobrigida, who told reporters in Toronto today she will give the money to son Milko, Jr., 33 months, to buy "whatever he wants."

SAILOR SOUGHT IN SLAYING

(See Page 6)

TORONTO (CP) — Police here said a United States sailor who once lived in Toronto is being sought for questioning in connection with the slaying of a young woman whose body was found in a trunk Tuesday at Argentia, Nfld.

They said the RCMP in Newfoundland has tentatively identified the woman as Mrs. Francis Njegovan, 28, of St. John's, Nfld., who was married to a sailor at the U.S. naval base near Argentia 10 years ago.

The couple left Argentia in 1953 and lived in Toronto before they split up some years ago, investigators said.

Negroes Killed In S. Africa Clash

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Nine African Negroes were killed and 12 wounded Monday in a clash with police in the Flagstaff district, about 100 miles from Durban, officials said today.

Natives in the area put the number of dead at 15 and estimated 24 others were wounded. They said some bodies may have been carried into the hills with more wounded.

The clash came after a mob of natives armed with jungle knives looted a European trading station at Hlabati, officials said.

A large party of heavily-armed police, assisted by dogs and a spotter helicopter moved into the area. Police said the clash, including some hand-to-hand fighting, followed.

They added that after an exchange of shots, the natives raised a white flag and surrendered. There was no information on the number of arrests made.

New Quakes Jolt Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Two strong earth tremors shook quake-devastated southern Chile today.

The interior ministry said the tremors, grade 5 on the Richter scale, jarred the cities of Valdivia, Temuco, Osorno and Rio Negro and the surrounding area this morning.

No casualties were reported, the ministry said, but some buildings damaged in a previous 18-day series of quakes and tidal waves collapsed.

'Business Not Pomp' For Philip

TORONTO (UPI) — Prince Philip arrived at Malton Airport today for a whirlwind business trip to Toronto.

Philip arrived aboard a BOAC Comet jetliner from Ottawa, where he spent an informal evening Tuesday with Governor-General George Vanier at Government House.

Sunny skies greeted the Prince who was met by Ontario Premier Leslie Frost and Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay. There was none of the pomp and ceremony usually associated with royal visits.

After a brief welcome at the airport, Philip was driven to the Royal York Hotel in downtown Toronto. He rode in one of the open cars he and the Queen used last summer on their royal tour of Canada.

The half-hour ride to the city was about the only chance the public will have to catch a glimpse of the royal visitor.

The prince is here to confer with industrial and labor leaders on the problem of the individual in a changing industrial environment.

Principal Killed, PTA Leader Held

Drops 70 Feet When 'Copter Cable Breaks

BY JOHN MIKA

The wild Nitinat Valley claimed its second known victim Tuesday night when a nephew of missing Cecil Rawlings was killed accidentally after exhausting himself in the search.

Dead is Claude James (Jimmy) Creed, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Creed, 7054 Beach Drive, Brentwood.

Married a year ago, he celebrated his 23rd birthday only a week ago.

70 FEET

He died in a 70-foot plunge when the cable of an RCAF helicopter snapped while he was being lifted to the hovering aircraft.

Creed and his father, a famed Brentwood fishing guide who operates Creed's Landing boathouse, both had been participating in the search since Sunday as handlers of Mr. Rawlings' hunting dog.

But father and son were in separate areas when the accident happened.

The younger Creed, who was very attached to his sportsman uncle, apparently drove himself relentlessly during the search through the mountainous rain forest.

EXHAUSTED

He was spotted by an RCAF helicopter, piloted by Flt. Lt. P. T. Mathews, near dusk on Tuesday with a small search party. Creed apparently was lying down, exhausted, but the others waved the helicopter away.

Later, passing over the area again, the helicopter crew saw Creed lying alone apparently unconscious.

The helicopter hovered over the spot while a first-aid man was lowered by winch and cable. The first-aid man strapped the fishing guide onto the cable.

The cable snapped during the lifting operation and Creed fell about 70 feet.

Unable to use the cable equipment, the helicopter was forced by darkness to leave the area with the first-aid man remaining on the ground.

DIED QUICKLY

Creed was believed to have died almost immediately after the fall because the first-aid man apparently walked away from the scene during the night to make contact with a search party in the general vicinity.

A ground party set off from Tuck Lake, near Nitinat Lake, early this morning for the three-hour hike to the scene of the accident to bring out the body. Lake Cowichan coroner Dr. Edgar Gee authorized removal of the body. It was to be brought to Victoria later today.

McCall Brothers are making funeral arrangements.

INQUIRIES

An inquest will be held. Officials said the RCAF also will hold an inquiry.

Mr. Creed became well-known as a fishing guide when

'Haven't Given Up' Say RCMP

Small ground parties supported by aircraft continued a fast-moving hunt today for missing Cecil Rawlings on the assumption he is still alive.

No men have been diverted yet for an inch-by-inch type of combing operations that would be needed to find a body hidden in the thick underbrush or 200-foot treetops around the wrecked Seabee amphibian in which Cecil Rhodes died May 29.

"A lot of effort has been put in by the men in the crash area in searches for both a live man or a body but it is not beyond the realm of possibility that if there is a body there, it has been missed," said RCMP Insp. William Gerrie, who visited the scene Wednesday.

Meanwhile, film processors in Toronto were working rapidly to develop some Kodachrome color film taken from Rawlings' camera — still the only solid clue that indicates he may have survived the accident.

DONE BY TONIGHT

RCMP officials were informed that the film would be processed by tonight and a description of the 13 exposures would be sent here immediately by teletype.

If any of the frames shows a picture of the wrecked Seabee, that could be proof that Rawlings lived through the aircraft's fatal plunge and left the camera hanging on a windfall 1,200 feet away from the wreck while trying to walk out.

A cairn of stones, with a directional stick, was found by a Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry team near Hitchie Lake Tuesday but it turned out to be a timber-cruiser's reference point, RCMP said.

Today's search concentrated on the shores and western end of Hobiton Lake where soft-soled shoe prints were found earlier that might have been made by Rawlings if he survived the crash on a heavily forested slope about 1½ miles west of Nitinat Lake.

The co-owners of C & C Transportation Ltd. flew to Nitinat Lake May 29 for a one-day fishing trip. Rhodes' body was found near the wreck June 4.

POINT BOTH WAYS

Mystery surrounds Rawlings fate with conflicting clues pointing at both his survival and his death.

"We are working on the conjecture that he is still alive,"

WHY GROW OLD?

Letters on Retirement Situations Fascinating

Josephine

I wrote an article not long ago about the readjustments a couple must make when the man retires. As a result I have had many fascinating letters. I cannot print them all, but I will be able to give you a few quotations from some of them. I am sure you will find these interesting.

1. "My husband retired a few years ago. He was the boss of a whole office force, and it comes naturally for him to suggest things about the housework. I thank him and do as I have always done. He thinks he is bossing and this makes him miss the office less.

"Just thought you might like to know how it is done. Self-pity never helps anyone. I am thankful to have my husband at retirement age."

(That sounds like a happy marriage and she sounds like fun to live with.)

2. "My husband retired about two years ago and I can say that they have been two of the happiest years of our more than 40 years together. I wonder if I would want to retire from my big job of keeping the man in my life alive and happy. A woman has to feel that she is needed in order to be happy.

"But, I believe we both have been happy because my husband has a workshop, a dark room, a large garden and plenty of hobbies to keep him busy and contented."

3. "Don't get me wrong. I really love my husband but it drives me wild to have him about the house all day long. I can't get anything done. He has nothing special to do although he is not bored or unhappy—probably because I am a good companion and never leave the room when he is in the middle of a sentence (which he usually is) even if the pie is burning.

"I am convinced that every man who is retired should have a hobby or sport or a part-time job which gets him out of the house for a few hours every day—for the sake of his wife if not for himself! I know that many women feel this same way."

There are so many more letters I would like to have you read but space does not permit it.

If your husband is facing retirement, you both may profit from my free leaflet, "Want a Business of Your Own?" If you would like to have it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 73. Address Josephine Lowman, in care of this paper.

DEAR ABBY

Your 'Ethics' Are Showing, Dearie!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I fell in love with a young dentist. He is married but I've seen his wife and she's not so hot. I am much cuter.

Well, I wanted to get to know him better so I made an appointment. There was absolutely nothing wrong with my teeth because I had just been to my own dentist and he said so. But this young dentist took a full mouth X-ray for which he charged me $30. Then he cleaned my teeth for $10. Now he tells me I have four impacted wisdom teeth that must be extracted. He says that will cost $150.

All this time he gave me no encouragement. My girlfriend says I should report him to the Dental Society for unethical practices. Should I?

GYPPED.

DEAR GYPPED: For a girl who deliberately made an appointment with a married dentist for the purpose of "getting to know him better"—you have a lot of nerve complaining about "ethics." If you question his professional judgment, see another dentist for strictly professional reasons.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We bought this house four years ago and never had the money to put in a lawn, so we had just about 2/3 of an acre of bare dirt to the side and back.

We have three boys 6, 10 and 12—and they like to play outside. All the kids in the neighborhood come to play in our yard. I have put up with yelling and screaming for four years, and our yard is the worst looking yard in the block.

Now that we can afford it, I told my husband to dig up the dirt and plant grass and some shrubs. The boys put up a fight, saying it would spoil their play place. I say they can play on the school grounds five blocks away, but they say the bigger boys chase them away. Am I wrong to want a decent-looking yard for once in my life?

LIKES GRASS.

DEAR LIKES GRASS: The years when you can look out your kitchen window and see children playing are too few and fly by too swiftly. When the boys go off to college you'll have plenty of time to admire the grass. Dirt can be beautiful.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband has the world's worst taste when it comes to buying me a gift of clothing. When I open one of these packages I can hardly keep a straight face. How does a wife go about telling her husband she appreciates the "thought" but she'd rather have the money? Or at least let her go shopping with him to make sure some unscrupulous sales person doesn't stick him with something she wanted to get rid of?

STUCK WITH JUNK.

DEAR STUCK: Now is the time for some diplomatic frankness. Tell hubby you know how hard he works for his money and as his partner and helpmate, you want to be sure he gets his money's worth, so you want to go along to be sure he does. Now what husband in his right mind could refuse that kind of an offer?

NEW WEN-GREN PLAN

Peace Power Co. Proposes Pool

VANCOUVER (CP)—The integration of Peace and Columbia rivers power developments was proposed today by the Peace River Power Development Company in an engineering report sent to provincial government officials in Victoria and federal experts in Ottawa.

The company said the report was prepared by R. L. Chantrill and Jack D. Stevens and proposes that the Peace-Columbia scheme be part of a huge international power pool to cover all of B.C., Calgary, Edmonton, Seattle, Tacoma, interior Washington State, Portland, Idaho, Utah and Montana.

The report, dated May, 1960, says B.C. now has 3,000,000 kilowatts of installed generation. It will need 10,000,000 kilowatts by 1975. New installation will cost $2,000,000,000.

It says the Peace and Columbia Rivers can produce 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 kilowatts each.

It says the Columbia won't be able to put out any power until 1970, mainly because of the problems involved in reaching agreement with the U.S. on co-operative development of the international river, which rises in Canada and flows into the Pacific after passing through Washington and Oregon.

Peace River Power Development Company proposes a $600,000,000 power development in northeastern B.C. to produce 4,000,000 kilowatts and plans to seek necessary permits in September for a start on construction.

The report says: "All power studies show conclusively that the Peace River project and other projects of a Pacific international power pool will complement each other so as to conserve resources, increase load-carrying capabilities and strengthen the firm energy structure of B.C. and the Pacific Northwest states."

The report says that by pooling the relatively cheap Columbia power with the Peace power a moderately-priced commodity would be made available throughout.

Fulton Blasts 'Propaganda'

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton today described as "unfortunate and inaccurate propaganda" a statement by the Peace River Power Development Company that there is unlikely to be power from the Columbia River before 1970.

He said in a Commons reply to H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West) that the "propaganda" against power development on the Columbia has been issued by those primarily interested in development of the Peace River in B.C.

Mr. Fulton said Canada and the United States now are close to agreement on Columbia power development. If there was a determination to reach an agreement, there was no reason one could not be arrived at in the near future.

Given that fact, Mr. Fulton added, power would be available from the Columbia an appreciable length of time before 1970.

Big Tory Win In Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (UPI)—The Conservative forces of Premier Robert L. Stanfield won a tradition-breaking victory at the polls Tuesday night by capturing 27 of the 43 seats in the Nova Scotia house in their return to power.

In winning a second straight mandate, Stanfield accomplished what no other Tory leader had been able to do in the history of the province. The Conservatives won two elections in 1925 and 1930, but under two different leaders.

The Conservatives increased their holding in the legislature by three seats, while the Liberal strength dropped from 18 to 15 and the CCF hung on to their lone riding.

In a post election statement, Stanfield pledged his government to "work for all the people of Nova Scotia."

The 46-year-old leader expressed his pleasure at the fact that the people had returned all the members of his cabinet.

For Henry Hicks, 51, the former Liberal premier, it was a dual defeat. Hicks lost his constituency of Annapolis West to Hanson T. Dowell by the slim margin of 14 votes. It was likely that a recount would be held. Hicks had represented the riding since 1945.

RECORD VOTE PREDICTED IN SASK.

REGINA (UPI)—Saskatchewan residents went to the poll today in almost ideal weather that was expected to bring out a record vote.

Sunny skies and 65 to 75 degree weather, plus a steady stream to the polls indicated the turnout would be greater than in 1956 when 86 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots. Polls close at 7 p.m. local time (7 p.m. PDT).

At dissolution, the CCF held 36 seats, the Liberals 14 and the Social Credit three, for a total of 53.

CCF Quits Quebec Campaign

OTTAWA (UPI)—The CCF party, its bid to crack Nova Scotia smashed in Monday night's provincial election, has decided to withdraw entirely from the current Quebec election campaign, it was learned today.

The party, known as the Social Democrats in Quebec, had about six prospective candidates nominated for the June 22 election. It has had as many as 25 in the field in previous election, but has never won a seat.

A part spokesman said the decision to leave the contest to the Union Nationale and Liberal parties was taken "because we didn't feel the Quebec campaign would do our efforts to form the new party any good."

'Bump' Hits Springhill

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—A ground tremor, known to coal miners as a "bump," shook this northern Nova Scotia town this afternon. There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage, although buildings were shaken.

FIRST "baby bonus" cheque as Canadian resident has been received by Gina Lollobrigida, who told reporters in Toronto today she will give the money to son Milko, Jr., 33 months, to buy "whatever he wants."

SAILOR SOUGHT IN SLAYING

(See Page 6)

TORONTO (CP) — Police here said a United States sailor who once lived in Toronto is being sought for questioning in connection with the slaying of a young woman whose body was found in a trunk Tuesday at Argentia, Nfld.

They said the RCMP in Newfoundland has tentatively identified the woman as Mrs. Francis Njegovan, 28, of St. John's, Nfld., who was married to a sailor at the U.S. naval base near Argentia 10 years ago.

The couple left Argentia in 1953 and lived in Toronto before they split up some years ago, investigators said.

Negroes Killed In S. Africa Clash

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Nine African Negroes were killed and 12 wounded Monday in a clash with police in the Flagstaff district, about 100 miles from Durban, officials said today.

Natives in the area put the number of dead at 15 and estimated 24 others were wounded. They said some bodies may have been carried into the hills with more wounded.

The clash came after a mob of natives armed with jungle knives looted a European trading station at Hlabati, officials said.

A large party of heavily-armed police, assisted by dogs and a spotter helicopter moved into the area. Police said the clash, including some hand-to-hand fighting, followed.

They added that after an exchange of shots, the natives raised a white flag and surrendered. There was no information on the number of arrests made.

New Quakes Jolt Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Two strong earth tremors shook quake-devastated southern Chile today.

The interior ministry said the tremors, grade 5 on the Richter scale, jarred the cities of Valdivia, Temuco, Osorno and Rio Negro and the surrounding area this morning.

No casualties were reported, the ministry said, but some buildings damaged in a previous 18-day series of quakes and tidal waves collapsed.

'Business Not Pomp' For Philip

TORONTO (UPI) — Prince Philip arrived at Malton Airport today for a whirlwind business trip to Toronto.

Philip arrived aboard a BOAC Comet jetliner from Ottawa, where he spent an informal evening Tuesday with Governor-General George Vanier at Government House.

Sunny skies greeted the Prince who was met by Ontario Premier Leslie Frost and Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay. There was none of the pomp and ceremony usually associated with royal visits.

After a brief welcome at the airport, Philip was driven to the Royal York Hotel in downtown Toronto. He rode in one of the open cars he and the Queen used last summer on their royal tour of Canada.

The half-hour ride to the city was about the only chance the public will have to catch a glimpse of the royal visitor.

The prince is here to confer with industrial and labor leaders on the problem of the individual in a changing industrial environment.

Principal Killed, PTA Leader Held

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A suburban school principal was shot and killed with two blasts from a shotgun as he sat at his desk today.

Within an hour police arrested Lester Betts, about 40, a mail carrier and former president of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Drops 70 Feet When 'Copter Cable Breaks

BY JOHN MIKA

The wild Nitinat Valley claimed its second known victim Tuesday night when a nephew of missing Cecil Rawlings was killed accidentally after exhausting himself in the search.

Dead is Claude James (Jimmy) Creed, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Creed, 7054 Beach Drive, Brentwood.

Married a year ago, he celebrated his 23rd birthday only a week ago.

70 FEET

He died in a 70-foot plunge when the cable of an RCAF helicopter snapped while he was being lifted to the hovering aircraft.

Creed and his father, a famed Brentwood fishing guide who operates Creed's Landing boathouse, both had been participating in the search since Sunday as handlers of Mr. Rawlings' hunting dog.

But father and son were in separate areas when the accident happened.

The younger Creed, who was very attached to his sportsman uncle, apparently drove himself relentlessly during the search through the mountainous rain forest.

EXHAUSTED

He was spotted by an RCAF helicopter, piloted by Flt. Lt. P. T. Mathews, near dusk on Tuesday with a small search party. Creed apparently was lying down, exhausted, but the others waved the helicopter away.

Later, passing over the area again, the helicopter crew saw Creed lying alone apparently unconscious.

The helicopter hovered over the spot while a first-aid man was lowered by winch and cable. The first-aid man strapped the fishing guide onto the cable.

The cable snapped during the lifting operation and Creed fell about 70 feet.

Unable to use the cable equipment, the helicopter was forced by darkness to leave the area with the first-aid man remaining on the ground.

DIED QUICKLY

Creed was believed to have died almost immediately after the fall because the first-aid man apparently walked away from the scene during the night to make contact with a search party in the general vicinity.

A ground party set off from Tuck Lake, near Nitinat Lake, early this morning for the three-hour hike to the scene of the accident to bring out the body. Lake Cowichan coroner Dr. Edgar Gee authorized removal of the body. It was to be brought to Victoria later today.

McCall Brothers are making funeral arrangements.

INQUIRIES

An inquest will be held. Officials said the RCAF also will hold an inquiry.

Mr. Creed became well-known as a fishing guide when

'Haven't Given Up' Say RCMP

Small ground parties supported by aircraft continued a fast-moving hunt today for missing Cecil Rawlings on the assumption he is still alive.

No men have been diverted yet for an inch-by-inch type of combing operations that would be needed to find a body hidden in the thick underbrush or 200-foot treetops around the wrecked Seabee amphibian in which Cecil Rhodes died May 29.

"A lot of effort has been put in by the men in the crash area in searches for both a live man or a body but it is not beyond the realm of possibility that if there is a body there, it has been missed," said RCMP Insp. William Gerrie, who visited the scene Wednesday.

Meanwhile, film processors in Toronto were working rapidly to develop some Kodachrome color film taken from Rawlings' camera — still the only solid clue that indicates he may have survived the accident.

DONE BY TONIGHT

RCMP officials were informed that the film would be processed by tonight and a description of the 13 exposures would be sent here immediately by teletype.

If any of the frames shows a picture of the wrecked Seabee, that could be proof that Rawlings lived through the aircraft's fatal plunge and left the camera hanging on a windfall 1,200 feet away from the wreck while trying to walk out.

A cairn of stones, with a directional stick, was found by a Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry team near Hitchie Lake Tuesday but it turned out to be a timber-cruiser's reference point, RCMP said.

Today's search concentrated on the shores and western end of Hobiton Lake where soft-soled shoe prints were found earlier that might have been made by Rawlings if he survived the crash on a heavily forested slope about 1½ miles west of Nitinat Lake.

The co-owners of C & C Transportation Ltd. flew to Nitinat Lake May 29 for a one-day fishing trip. Rhodes' body was found near the wreck June 4.

POINT BOTH WAYS

Mystery surrounds Rawlings fate with conflicting clues pointing at both his survival and his death.

"We are working on the conjecture that he is still alive,"

$56 Million Added To Federal Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — A further $56,025,485 in government spending this fiscal year, including $25,000,000 in civil service pay raises, was proposed today by Finance Minister Fleming in supplementary estimates tabled today in the Commons.

This will bring budgetary spending estimates to a record $5,812,794,405 for the year which began April 1. This compares with $5,738,765,643 in budgetary expenditures voted by Parliament in the last fiscal year. Further outlays undoubtedly will be proposed later for the current year.

The $25,000,000,000 for pay raises is on top of $15,000,000 already voted by Parliament to cover pay increases which Mr. Fleming indicated in his March 31 budget speech.

An official said the new expenditures proposed today should not upset Mr. Fleming's budget forecast of a $12,000,000 surplus for the 1960-61 year. The forecast took account of probable suplementary spending needs during the year.

A finance department spokesman said it was impossible to specify the classes of employees who would receive the $25,000,000 for pay raises. It and the previous $15,000,000 were included in the government's plan when the March 31 budget was prepared. The increases were being spread throughout the civil service, with emphasis on stenographers and clerks.

Today's spending estimates include $10,223,559 in foreign aid and international programs and $1,21,500 in payments under the federal-provincial program of aid to Prairie farmers whose crops were trapped in the fields over the winter by early snows last fall.

Rites Today

DUNCAN—Funeral services were held here today for James Mearns, 84, well known carpenter who died Monday in King's Daughters' Hospital.

He was born at Cowichan Station on the site of what is now Fairbridge School, and lived in this district all his life. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. John Holloway, Edmonton; three nephews, and two nieces.

55 'Divoteers' Furnish Their Own Fun Here

Some 55 furniture manufacturers and their agents from Vancouver and Toronto are being entertained today by Ye Olde Victoria House Furnishing Golf Association.

"We are a friendly association of house furnishers who enjoy a good game of golf with a little fun in between," said William Champion, president of the association.

"The antique title appeals to mainland manufacturers and we always give them a good time when they come over here."

The Ye Olde Victoria House Furnishing Golf Association (its full title) was founded four years ago by Harold Johnson and Alec Baird and has about 130 members.

Members and guests were playing golf all day and will get together at a banquet in the Empress Hotel tonight at 7.30.

He frequently led fishing parties of tourists and businessmen, and was the favorite fishing guide of Lieutenant Governor Frank M. Ross.

He was a graduate of George Jay Elementary School, Royal Oak Junior High School and Mount Newton High School. He was a member of the Central Saanich Volunteer Fire Brigade, joining one and a half years ago.

He is survived by the widow, Dorothy Anne; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Creed; two brothers, John Hugh and Francis Eric, and one sister, Claudia Elizabeth.

an RCMP official said. "But his fate is a mystery."

One of the two seat belts in the Seabee wreckage has been missing since Sunday, giving rise to rumors that several Indians who visited the area Saturday may have picked it up and the camera and then ditched it.

An RCMP officer said one of the loggers in the first search parties took the belt as a souveneir without realizing its importance as evidence. It was to be recovered later today.

NAVY 'COPTER

Meanwhile, a large navy helicopter joined the search today for the first time. It and another were standing by at Patricia Bay airport since the search began awaiting a call from the RCAF rescue co-ordination centre which is supervising the search.

About 190 PPCLI of the original 250 troops sent into the search were withdrawn Tuesday night at the search master's request.

SMALL AREA

"The search has been narrowed down to a relatively small area around Hobiton Lake and only a limited number of men can be usefully employed," an army officer said.

"We are supplying as many men as the rescue co-ordination centre requests for as long as they want them."

Unless further calls are made for men, the bulk of the 1st Battalion will go to Wainwright, Alta., next week for regular summer training as previously scheduled.

Boys Improving After Blast By 'Depth-Charge'

Condition of two 17-year-old Victoria boys severely hurt in a home-made bomb blast Saturday is improving at St. Joseph's Hospital.

David Jefferson, 36 Lotus, is still listed as "serious," a hospital spokesman said, but his "progress is encouraging." He lost his left hand and received a broken leg and extensive burns.

His companion, Steven Bryant, 2821 Irma, is "coming along nicely but he has a serious eye injury and may not be disturbed. His condition is fair," the spokesman said.

Bryant also has abrasions and burns to the body.

Both youths were interested in explosives and had taken their seven-inch waterpipe bomb to the end of a CNR wharf at Ogden Point to depth-bomb fish when the explosive was accidentally ignited.
